SAVE U. S. FROM DICTATOR, G.O.P. KEYNOTER ASKS

Grass Roots Parley Opens in Ohio.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 8—[Special.]—"Restore America's liberties" from New Deal dictatorship was the keynote today of the Republican Crusaders' conference of six central states. Expounding the encroachments of the Rooseveltian era upon democratic government, George H. Bender, permanent chairman and head of the Ohio Federation of Republican Clubs, roused the delegates to enthusiasm with a call to the G. O. P. to save America from going "in the steps of Mussolini, Hitler, or Stalin."

"The Democratic party," cried Keynoter Bender, "has adopted the principles of Fascist Italy, with a capitalist society controled by a centralized state."

Called Roosevelt "Mis-Deal."

"Constitutional government is in danger, economic security is nowhere visible. This is the Roosevelt Mis-Deal

"Ours is the task of today, the reconstruction of American life. Let us join our efforts, confident that our party will smash the Roosevelt economics of despair and replace it with the economics of American constitutional self-respect."

Bursts of applause punctuated these utterances. They rang out again as Bender called on the G. O. P. to gird its loins and put on an aggressive, militant spirit.

Must Hold to Course.

"It is our task to arrange our forces, to strengthen our party, so that we may prevent America from following either the road which leads to Italy or that winding line which ends at Leningrad.

"Constitutional government is endangered as never before. Forces are at work seeking to discredit, to sabotage, and eventually to destroy the fundamental premises of American governmental life. If the people of this land wish to trade the Stars and Stripes for the Black Shirts of Rome or the Red Shirts of the Kremlin, this conference has no meaning. But we cannot believe that."

Urges Borah Candidacy.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho was named as a possibility for the Presidential nomination at tonight's meeting by Daniel E. Morgan, former city manager of Cleveland, but the reference was struck from the record. The 3,000 delegates and visitors arose and cheered at mention of Borah's name.

The Morgan remarks came somewhat as a surprise, as the sponsors of the conference had announced it was to be devoid of anything relating to individual candidacies.

Tonight a resolutions committee headed by Thomas J. Barrett, president of the West Virginia Republican league, is at work on a declaration analyzing the New Deal and its acts in subversion of constitutional rights, including the relinquishment by congress of constitutional powers to the executive and the brain trust.

1,200 Attend Opener.

The initial session was attended by about 1,200 and it was announced that more than 3,000 were at the night session, when another keynote speech was made by Charles W. Carroll of Philadelphia.

He sounded a warning that Republican leadership should get back to the people. His address was directed towards matters of party machinery and system. It was against "dictation from the top."

Perpetual office seekers, Mr. Carroll said, were one of the liabilities of the G. O. P. in the efforts at rebuilding.

"In the last year or two," he asserted, "we have lost close elections which we could have won had our ticket not been burdened by 'shop worn and moth eaten candidates.'"

Hits Hand Picked Slates.

Hand picked slates also were spoken of by Mr. Carroll as an incumbrance to party campaigns.

"My advice to all Republican committees," he said, "is hands off the primaries. In many instances, too, the party has dead wood in its leadership. Now is the time to cut out this unsound timber."

Carroll also made suggestions of a social policy which he said the party might adopt next year. These include a plan for employment of young people after leaving school and college, old age pensions and social security for unemployed, elimination of sweatshops, child labor and strikes.

State Senator Earl W. Munshaw of Grand Rapids, Mich., called the ses-

BULLETIN.

Glasgow, Mont., July 9 (Tuesday).—(AP)—Undersherif Charles H. Reed, who returned from the mushroom town of Wheeler early today, reported that tornadic storms there last night had caused two deaths and the injury of about 100 persons, who were being cared for in Fort Peck hospital. The storms occurred in the vicinity of the Fort Peck dam project. Wheeler is one of several villages that sprang up to house project workmen, and has a population of about 2,000. Reed branded as erroneous a report that twenty-four were killed.

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Floods from Sunday's unrelenting downpour swept through five upstate New York counties, including the famous Finger lakes district, today. A toll of thirty-seven persons dead, eight missing, with damage to buildings and bridges, roads, highways, and crops believed to exceed $10,000,000, was counted tonight as aid for the stricken areas was mobilized.

Several thousand persons were driven from their homes in inundated lowlands as swollen creeks, rivers, and lakes spilled their overflow into the streets of towns like Binghamton and Hornell, into state highways and country roads. The homeless fled to high ground, waiting for the recession o' waters which filled lower stories and undermined foundations.

Looting Is Reported.

Hearing reports of looting of homes at Hornell and Painted Post, Adjt. Gen. Walter G. Robinson tonight ordered Company L, 108th infantry of the National Guard for guard duty in the flooded areas, Company K at Hornell has been mobilized.

Four dams collapsed, scores of bridges were swept away by the racing currents and washouts were reported on the Syracuse and Utica divisions of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad. Buses and automobiles by the scores and a few trains were marooned. Gas, electric, telephone, and telegraph services were suspended over a wide area.

Several of the victims drowned when they were trapped in their homes. Others died when their cottages were swept into maddened streams, against which strong swimmers were powerless. Large buildings gave way as the floodwaters, still rising from rains of cloudburst proportions, swept by them. Eight inches of rain fell at Delhi and more cloudbursts were feared.

Steuben County Hit Hardest.

Steuben county bore the brunt of the floods, which caused the most damage in the southern tier of upstate counties. There the waters of the Tioughnioga and Chenango rivers covered a wide area in the worst flood since 1865. The other counties worst affected were Monroe, Tompkins, Delaware, and Seneca in the central and south central sections of the state.

Gov. Herbert Lehmann directed the conservation department, state police, National Guard and the highway division to give aid in the stricken areas. All state agencies were ordered to remain on duty. From Washington all Red Cross chapters in the counties were mobilized and three Red Cross field workers were dispatched to operate from Steuben county.

Dozen Towns Damaged.

More than a dozen municipalities were paralyzed or severely stricken. Conditions in the localities affected follow:

BINGHAMTON—Eighteen are dead or missing in the Tioughnioga and Chenango valleys. Four dams, twenty bridges and railroad lines were washed out and all main trunk lines of the southern tier are impassable. Several houses were carried down the Chenango river and buildings along Front street, Binghamton, were being undermined rapidly. Towns inundated included Whitney Point, Chenango Forks, Lisle, Marathon, Greene, Newark Valley, Richford, Port Crane and Walton. Chlorinization of water supplies was planned as fears for sanitation control arose.

HORNELL—One drowned, at least 100 homeless and damage exceeding $1,000,000 wreaked by floods. Large sections of the city still are under water. Five bridges were swept away. The Erie railroad has been out of operation since a late hour Sunday night, with all yards covered by débris

Three Young Holdup Killers Die in Chair

Chester, Ill., July 9 [Tuesday].—Tight-lipped but without a trace of bitterness, three East St. Louis youths died early today in the Menard prison electric chair for the murder of a 66 year old street car conductor in a holdup.

John Krul, 21, the first to die, bid his wife and 2 year old child good-by three hours earlier and was pronounced dead at 12:14 a. m. Edward Balling, 19, the youngest of the trio, needed assistance in reaching he chair. He died at 12:23 a. m. with a prayer on his lips.

Makes Long Speech.

Van Buren Dedmon, 25, leader of the group, and whose gunfire took the life of W. C. Moss in an attempted holdup, made a long speech before dying nine minutes later.

Balling was the only one to break discernibly. His mother failed to reach the prison in time to bid him good-by. His statement was inaudible at times.

"I want mother to know I went happy," he said. "Thank you—everybody—the warden and all——"

Asks All to Forgive Him.

Krul's prepared speech was delivered with precision.

"If I have ever done anything to anybody in this world I wish that they would forgive me now," he said. "I'll appreciate it. That's all. God forgive me, good-by."

Dedmon, still suffering from a leg wound in the shooting fray with Moss, limped into the death chamber. He, too, delivered a somewhat lengthy speech.

"God be merciful to me," he ended.

Earlier Gov. Henry Horner, acting on a unanimous recommendation of the state pardon board, had denied the three youths executive clemency.

The board yesterday afternoon heard arguments by the prisoners' attorneys, who asserted the three did not have a fair trial.

Prosecutor Opposes Mercy.

State's Attorney L. P. Zerweck and Special Prosecutor James A. Farman represented the state before the pardon board. Opposing clemency, Zerweck declared the trial had been fair and that the guilt of the prisoners was unquestioned. He characterized the killing a "cold blooded, calculated murder."

Gov. Horner on June 28 granted a ten day stay of execution to give the condemned men time to prepare last minute appeals.

'A LIAR AND FAKER,' HUEY DUBS PRESIDENT; OFFERS TO PROVE IT

New Orleans, La., July 8.—(AP)—United States Senator Huey P. Long in a speech here tonight called President Roosevelt a "liar and a faker" and defied "them" to "indict me for that."

Senator Long made the statement during the course of a review of the latest special session of the Louisiana legislature at which he directed enactment of 25 laws designed to tighten his grip on the state government and strip his political enemies of patronage.

Discussing a resolution adopted by the legislature calling on congress to replace the recently enacted old age pension bill with a measure drafted by Senator Long, the Louisiana "dictator" said:

"Let me tell you about this Roosevelt pension plan. Under it there are 280,000 persons in Louisiana who would qualify, and Louisiana would get about a million dollars, which would mean that the state's old age pensioners would get $3.60 a year or a little less than one cent a day.

"That's what Franklin Delano Roosevelt sends you down here.

"Franklin Roosevelt is a liar and a faker. Now let them indict me for that and I'll prove him a liar."

"That pension plan is a fake," Long continued. "Mr. Franklin Delano Roosevelt has never done anything but fake on things that ever did the people any good."

"Don't think these senators, Presidents, and congressmen are too big. I'm as big as President Roosevelt. Why, he's copying the share-the-wealth speeches now that I was writing when I was 14 years old. So he's just now getting as smart as I was when I was in knee breeches."

HUNGARIAN HAS SURGEONS SLICE OFF 93 POUNDS

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 8. — A drastic method for reducing weight was put into practice by a Budapest surgical beauty clinic in the case of a poultry dealer weighing 379 pounds, it was revealed today.

In an operation lasting three and one half hours, ninety-three pounds of superfluous fat were removed. Many incisions were made in different parts of the body, and after the fat was cut out the seams were drawn together and stitched.

The man is reported to be making good progress toward recovery.

Weird Plight of Brothers Is Crash Sequel

If Louis Silverman, 24 years old, and his brother Abraham, 23 years old, could decide which one of them had been using the family car last night the chances are neither of them would be in jail.

The automobile, in the meantime, was paying attention to neither of them, but was being untangled from a weird quadruple accident over at Homan avenue and Roosevelt road.

The story of the automobile, which undeniably belonged to the Silverman family, really comes first. The vehicle, with somebody or another inside, was going north on Homan avenue, when, at Roosevelt road, it struck the machine of Raymond Wolowiec, 5062 West 29th street, Cicero.

Two Other Cars Smashed.

Wolowiec's machine overturned into the side of a car driven by Louis Bass, 1536 South Trumbull avenue. Bass' car was knocked sideways into the eastbound trafic lane and smashed into the automobile of Louis Slotnick, 1846 South Central Park avenue.

While every one was trying to decide just what had happened two men were seen to get out of the Silverman machine and head rapidly for other parts of the city.

It was only a few minutes before Louis Silverman, who lives at 3420 West 12th place, came into the Fillmore street station and told Sergt. Sam Peterson that his car had been stolen when he left it parked for a short time.

The sergeant explained that the machine was all tangled up in an accident, and about that time Abraham, who lives at 3254 West 16th street, came in with a story that the machine had been stolen from him.

One Swats a Policeman.

"I had that car tonight and it was stolen from me," announced Louis with determination.

"Wrong," put in Abraham. "I was driving that automobile and it was stolen from me."

The argument waxed loud and long. Policemen tried to interfere. Louis Silverman smote one of them lustily, and his wife, who had acompanied him, leaped with true wifely fidelity on the back of the same officer.

It took a little while to get the Silverman family sorted out, but when this was accomplished Louis and Abraham were lodged in separate cells.

"Stay there," advised the ruffled Sergt. Peterson, "until you can decide who had that car."

Expect Council to Restore 50% of City Pay Cut

A restoration of one-half of the pay cuts now being imposed on the 27,000 employés of the city, the library board, and the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium was in prospect last night as the finance committee of the city council began work on its supplemental budget to be adopted by Sept. 1. It also appeared likely that the council will appropriate for the addition of between 800 and 1,000 patrolmen to the present police force of 6,250 by Jan. 1.

At present the police and firemen lose 52 days' pay a year under the city's economy program, and the other employes lose 78 days.

The proposed pay restoration will cost $1,420,000 for the remaining six months of this year, it is estimated. Funds are made available under the city's $36,000,000 pegged levy which makes an increase of $4,564,000 in the corporate [operating] fund over the amount contemplated in the January budget.

Entire Amount Available.

It was learned yesterday that the council would have the full $4,564,000 amount as an available surplus in its supplemental budget building when City Controler Robert B. Upham, after a conference with Mayor Kelly, advised that the city should estimate no more than 10 per cent for the loss and costs of tax collections, instead of 15 per cent estimated when the pegging bill was sent to Springfield.

This saving of 5 per cent will total $1,800,000, Mr. Upham pointed out, and is made possible because improving tax collections make the wider safety margin unnecessary.

In addition to restoring pay to city employes in general, the council must appropriate $1,071,000 to restore the deducted salaries of all Municipal court employes for the full four year period, under court mandates. This leaves $2,073,000 available for the addition of police and other departmental needs.

Both in Supplemental Budget.

Mayor Kelly, who has led the drive for pay restoration and additional police, said last night that both projects would be cared for in the supplemental budget. He declined to estimate the amount of pay to be restored or the number of police to be added, however.

Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the finance committee and a council leader in the pay drive, said that the 50 per cent pay restoration and the addition of police are getting "strong consideration." He pointed out that Mayor Kelly's economy program had strengthened city finances sufficiently to make such moves appear feasible.

"At the meeting of the finance committee tomorrow I'll ask that we hold committee sessions daily through the week and that a special council meeting be held July 17 to push the pay restoration and police programs through," Ald. Arvey said.

BABY'S HOWLING STOPPED—AT A COST OF $125!

Mrs. Andrew Hexdall of Morris was carrying her baby along a Joliet street yesterday when the child began crying. To distract the baby's attention, Mrs. Hexdall gave it her handkerchief. The crying stopped. Half an hour later Mrs. Hexdall discovered the baby had unknotted one end of the handkerchief, allowing her $125 diamond ring to drop out.

TAX RICH PLAN GIVEN TO HOUSE BY MORGENTHAU

Estimates 118 to 901 Millions Revenue.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—As a step in the direction of footing the bill for the New Deal, Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury, today advocated enactment of President Roosevelt's program for the redistribution of wealth.

With the twenty-five members of the house ways and means committee ranged above him on their throne, flashlights popping and movie cameras grinding, the young finance minister of the Roosevelt administration appeared as the first witness at the public hearings on the President's plan. Republican members of the committee attacked the Roosevelt tax policies during the questioning of Morgenthau.

Declares Worst Is Over.

The worst of the depression is over, Morgenthau said, and the time has come to boost taxes on the rich and the big corporations in order to obtain revenue sufficient to reduce treasury borrowing substantially and eventually to balance the budget.

With the treasury in the red 14½ billion dollars in the last 5 years, a deficit of 3½ billions in the fiscal year just closed, and a prospective deficit of 4½ billions in the current fiscal year Morgenthau submitted estimates of the probable yield from wealth taxes ranging from 118 to 901½ millions. His estimates follow:

Class of Tax.	Minimum Annual Yield.	Maximum Annual Yield.
Inheritances and gifts	$ 7,000,000	$728,000,000
Big incomes.......	5,000,000	32,500,000
Corporation incomes	67,000,000	102,000,000
Elimination of exemptions on dividends to corporations	39,000,000	39,000,000
Totals	$118,000,000	$901,500,000

Disclaims Offering Program.

Secretary Morgenthau said he was not proposing any tax schedules, merely giving the results of treasury experts' analyses as requested.

From the White House there came during the day the information that the President expects congress to confine the legislation to the scope he outlined:

Taxation of inheritance and gifts.

Higher surtaxes on million dollar incomes and graduated income taxes on corporations.

There is strong sentiment in congress, however, for broadening the base of the income tax so as to reach millions of persons not now paying.

Puts Business Plan First.

The President has said his wealth taxing program is primarily designed to bring about a "better social order." Morgenthau, however, treated the social consequences as subordinate to the fiscal purpose.

"It has to be recognized," Morgenthau explained, "that taxation in any form has many collateral effects throughout our whole economic and social life, and that, since taxes cannot be levied without these collateral results and since they must be levied, there is a national duty to avoid tax laws which produce undesirable social consequences and a like duty to correct evils produced by existing tax legislation as they become apparent.

"The sources of taxation proposed by the President in his message to the congress of June 19, 1935, can be made to yield substantial additions to the receipts of the federal government. This is shown in our estimates of revenue, based upon the schedules of rates submitted by your subcommittee to the treasury for calculation of probable yield. These proposed taxes rest on the principle of ability to pay.

"They were devised to draw on accumulations of wealth and income which, for the most part, have been derived from nation-wide activities. In consequence, their enactment should constitute an important step forward in reshaping our tax structure along sounder and fairer lines.

Adequacy First Tax Rule.

"The treasury's first concern is with the adequacy of the national revenue. There are times of emergency when the treasury must finance expenditures in excess of income by borrowings which increase the public debt. But the national welfare demands that, when such an emergency has passed, sufficient income be raised both to meet current expenditures and to make substantial reductions in the debt.

"The time has come to move in this direction. It would, of course, be unwise to impose tax burdens which would retard recovery."

Veiled Warning on Bonus.

The treasury secretary took occasion to utter a veiled warning against the earmarking of the revenue from the new taxes for the financing of the immediate cash payment of the veterans' bonus or for other purposes not already included in the President's budget. Mr. Roosevelt had no sooner launched his tax-the-rich scheme than the bonus leaders announced they would revive the bonus bill, possibly as a rider on the tax bill. Morgenthau declared:

"The course which I feel sure will appeal to all of you as the only sound procedure is that the revenue derived from these new taxes shall be regarded as very definitly earmarked for reducing future borrowing and paying off the public debt. We should set aside the proceeds of these new taxes and safeguard them as carefully as was the stabilization fund.

Cites Gold Revaluation.

"Some months ago in discussing monetary matters, I spoke of the increment on gold resulting from revaluation as having been placed in a special drawer of the treasury's cash register, since it was being kept separate from other funds and was not to be used for ordinary expenditures. Silver seigniorage resulting from the silver purchase act is being similarly handled. In closing I should like to repeat that I think it would be in the highest public interest to regard the proceeds of these taxes as occupying a third special drawer in the treasury, available only to reduce our borrowings and later reduce the national debt."

Republicans Cite Deficit.

Morgenthau had barely finished his assertion that the time had arrived for reduction of the public debt when Republican members of the committee began sharpshooting at him.

"It should be apparent that these proposed taxes would have no substantial effect upon the huge debt rolled up," observed Representative Thomas A. Jenkins [Rep., O.].

"Yes," chimed in Representative Harold Knutson [Rep., Minn.], "let's get off the merry-go-round and head in a definite direction. We're hoping for a definite policy."

Knutson addressed himself directly to Morgenthau.

"Is your primary purpose to redistribute wealth or to raise additional revenue?" he asked the secretary.

Disclaims Attack on Wealth.

Blinking in the glare of the lights used by movie cameramen, Morgenthau replied:

"My sole purpose here is to present to the committee estimates of revenue on the new tax rates schedules submitted to the treasury.

"Your eighteen schedules, relating to inheritance and gift taxes, would produce yields ranging from about 7 to 728 millions. The six schedules, relating to increased bracket rates on large individual incomes, would produce revenue yields from 5 to 32½ millions. Your three schedules relating to graduated corporation income tax would produce revenue yields from about 67 to 102 millions. Your suggestion relating to methods of partially removing the present total tax exemption of dividends received by corporations would produce revenue approximating 39 millions."

Representative Knutson was not through.

Asks About Budget Balancing.

"What I'm afraid of," he remarked, "is that this will be more money for the government to spend. What is being done to balance the budget?"

"We have just finished the fiscal year with the deficit considerably under the estimate," Morgenthau answered. "We have a good start."

"What was the deficit?" Knutson demanded.

"Exclusive of the sinking fund, three billions."

"That's about $3 for every minute since the dawn of the Christian era," commented Knutson. "I don't think that's deserving of much credit."

Representative Roy O. Woodruff [Rep., Pa.] asked if the secretary could supply the committee with figures "showing how much money should be raised to get this country on the road to solvency."

Ready to Meet Demands.

"We'll always give the committee what information it demands," Morgenthau replied. "But I believe that the decision as to how much should be raised will have to be made by congress."

Even the Democrats on the committee joined in the general smiling which greeted assertions by Chairman Doughton and Representative Fred M. Vinson [Dem., Ky.] that the President had paid the committee a compliment by not specifying the exact provisions of the tax program he wanted passed.

"For the first time in the history of this country the President relies on this committee to decide how much revenue should be raised," Vinson said. And Doughton echoed him, remarking solemnly: "The whole house doesn't want congress labeled a 'rubber stamp.'"

500 PICKET ALL ROADS INTO TOWN IN LABOR FIGHT

Garnerville, N. Y., July 8.—[Special.]—Every road leading into this village is picketed tonight by outposts of an army of more than 500 local residents. They have announced they will prevent union workers from New York City from entering the Hirsam knit sportswear factory located in the Haverstraw industrial terminal. Pickets also have been placed at all near-by railroad stations and bus stops.

Should union workers arrive, a general alarm is to be given and the 142 discharged local employés of the Hirsam company, together with about 350 relatives and sympathizers, plan to assemble, no matter what the hour of the day or night.

Samuel Hirsch, president of the company, explained the trouble had followed a decision by Supreme Court Justice Aron Steuer forbidding him to employ non-union workers. When Hirsch received the court order he discharged 142 local workers. As a result, the local employés have announced they will not join a union and will not permit union workers in the area.

It is contended the terminal was started last fall to relieve the situation in Haverstraw, where hundreds were out of work after the closing of the brick yards. Postmaster General James A. Farley, a native of this section, commented favorably on the plan, saying it was in line with President Roosevelt's unemployment relief program.

DETAILS OF PROPOSED NEW U. S. TAXES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—The following estimates of taxes and revenues, based on various proposals for increasing income and inheritance taxes, were made public today by the ways and means committee of the house of representatives. Estimates were made by the treasury department and the following tables represent the mildest and most extreme proposals for increased income or inheritance taxation:

Table One.

This table is based on the assumption that individual income tax increases are confined to incomes over one million dollars as suggested by the President. The estimated yield is $5,100,000:

Surtax bracket in thousands of dollars—	Combined normal and surtax pct.	Total tax in dollars.	Pct. of tax to total taxable income.
1,000- 1,500....	64	893,000	59.53
1,500- 2,000....	67	1,228,000	61.40
2,000- 3,000....	70	1,928,000	64.27
3,000- 5,000....	74	3,408,000	68.16
5,000-10,000....	79	7,358,000	73.58

Table Two.

This table represents the most drastic proposal for increasing income taxes, starting the increases on incomes of $100,000. These rates are estimated to increase revenues by $32,600,000:

Surtax bracket in thousands of dollars—	Combined normal and surtax pct.	Total tax in dollars.	Pct. of tax to total taxable income.
100- 150....	60	62,000	41.33
150- 200....	61	92,500	46.25
200- 250....	62	123,500	49.40
250- 300....	63	155,000	51.67
300- 350....	64	187,000	53.43
350- 400....	66	220,000	55.00
400- 500....	68	288,000	57.60
500- 750....	71	465,500	62.07
750- 1,000....	74	650,500	65.05
1,000- 2,000....	77	1,420,500	71.03
2,000- 3,000....	80	2,220,500	74.02
3,000- 4,000....	83	3,050,500	76.26
4,000- 5,000....	86	3,910,500	78.21
5,000- 7,500....	89	6,135,500	81.81
7,500-10,000....	92	8,435,500	84.36

Table Three-A.

This table represents the mildest proposal for inheritance taxation, starting at 4 per cent of everything over $200,000 and running up to 75 per cent of everything over 10 millions. It is estimated to yield 5 million dollars in revenue:

Bracket in thousands of dollars—	Rate in pct.	Tax in dollars.	Pct. of tax to inheritance.
Up to 300..	No tax	....	......
300- 500....	4	8,000	1.60
500- 750....	7	25,500	3.40
750- 1,000....	10	50,500	5.05
1,000- 2,000....	20	250,500	12.53
2,000- 3,000....	30	550,500	18.35
3,000- 4,000....	40	950,500	23.76
4,000- 5,000....	50	1,450,500	29.01
5,000- 7,000....	60	2,650,500	37.86
7,000-10,000....	70	4,750,500	47.51

Table Three-B.

This table shows a schedule of gift taxes which, it is proposed, would accompany the inheritance taxes in table three-A. The gifts tax is estimated to yield $2,300,000, making the combined yield of the two taxes $7,300,000.

Bracket in thousands of dollars—	Rate in pct.	Tax in dollars.	Pct. of tax to gift.
Up to 300..	No tax	....	......
300- 500....	3	6,000	1.20
500- 750....	5	18,500	2.47
750- 1,000....	7	36,000	3.60
1,000- 2,000....	15	186,000	9.30
2,000- 3,000....	23	416,000	13.87
3,000- 4,000....	30	716,000	17.90
4,000- 5,000....	38	1,096,000	21.92
5,000- 7,000....	45	1,996,000	28.51
7,000-10,000....	53	3,586,000	35.86
Over 10,000....	60	....	......

Table Four.

This table shows the most drastic proposal for inheritance taxation. It contemplates forcing an heir to include his inheritance as part of his ordinary income and then applying to this combined income and inheritance the proposed increased income taxes showed in table two above. Estimates are that it would yield 728 million dollars in revenue:

Table Five.

This table shows the mildest of the proposed new taxes on corporation incomes. It is estimated to yield $66,900,000 in additional revenues:

Income bracket in thousands of dollars—	Rate per cent.	Total tax in dollars.	Pct. of tax to total taxable income.
Up to 2....	10	200	10.00
2- 5....	11	530	10.60
5- 15....	12	1,730	11.53
15- 40....	13	4,980	12.45
40- 100....	14	13,380	13.38
100- 300....	15	43,380	14.46
300- 1,000....	16	155,380	15.54
1,000-20,000....	17	3,385,380	16.93

Table Six.

This table shows the most drastic proposal for increased corporation income taxes. Having the same limits as the table above, it steps up the increases much more rapidly. Estimates are that it would yield $102,200,000 in additional revenues:

Income bracket in thousands of dollars—	Rate per cent.	Total tax in dollars.	Pct. of tax to total taxable income.
Up to 2....	10	200	10.00
2- 15....	13½	1,955	13.03

HOUSE APPROVES UTILITY CONTROL BILL LOBBY QUIZ

Brain Trusters and Power Men Summoned.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—The house late today set the stage for an investigation of lobbying in connection with the utility control bill. Almost unanimously the members approved a resolution giving the rules committee full powers to investigate charges that congress had been threatened and intimidated by both a White House lobby and a power company lobby.

The inquiry will be begun tomorrow morning. The first witness will be Representative George Brewster, former Republican governor of Maine, who electrified the house last week with his charge that Thomas G. Corcoran, young brain truster and one of the authors of the utility bill, threatened to stop construction work on the big Passamaquoddy dam project in Maine if Brewster defied the President on the "death sentence" clause in the legislation.

Brain Truster to Testify.

Brewster will be followed by Corcoran, who has issued a somewhat vague denial of the charges. Then will follow a host of witnesses who will be questioned about the hundreds of rumors and reports of lobbying which have filled the air in Washington in the last few weeks.

The new resolution today superseded a resolution approved last week immediately following the Brewster charges. The rules committee was empowered to subpena witnesses, demand any papers or documents, and to punish for contempt any disobedience of its orders. A $50,000 appropriation for expenses was referred to the committee on accounts.

Chairman John J. O'Connor, [Dem., N. Y.] ran into unexpected opposition when he proposed the resolution late this afternoon. Representative Tom Blanton [Dem., Texas] caused a delay by demanding a quorum call when his protests against the resolution were about to be voted down.

"Let's Adjourn, Go Home."

"I never knew an investigation to do any good," declared Blanton. "And I've seen millions of dollars spent on them. Our nerves are all frazzled here. Let's adjourn and go home and give the people a chance to recover from congress."

There was much applause, but O'Connor pointed out that the lobby investigation was desired by both parties and the program already had been mapped out. It was a big subject, he declared, because the scope of the inquiry will include all evidence of influence being applied to congressmen at this session from any quarter whatsoever.

"This isn't only a question of the veracity of Brewster or Corcoran," he pointed out. "Many members have stated on the floor that the galleries and lobbies were filled with lobbyists. They will have a chance to come forward and support those charges with evidence."

No Crime in Threat.

"What'll happen to Corcoran if you find he made a threat to Brewster?" demanded Blanton.

"O, there are penal statutes for such things," responded O'Connor.

"It's no crime to make a threat," retorted Blanton. "I've seen and heard thousands persons, government employés, and others threaten congress."

O'Connor asked for a vote on his resolution. Blanton demanded a quorum call. The hour was after 5 o'clock and only about 75 members were present. The call was started and the congressmen began trickling in, complaining at this halt to their plans for the evening. Finally 260 members were counted.

The arguments then were renewed. Representative Earl C. Michener [Rep., Mich.], looking significantly at Representative John E. Rankin [Dem., Miss.], said he hoped that all members who had been making various charges of lobbying by the power trust would be asked to prove their charges. O'Connor assured Michener that such congressmen would be called.

The resolution was finally put to a vote and only Blanton and one or two others cast a negative vote.

Meanwhile, the senate prepared for a showdown tomorrow on the utility bill passed by the house. It will vote at noon on a motion by Senator William H. Dieterich [Dem., Illinois] to concur in the house amendments to the bill which so displeased President Roosevelt.

Tells About Conferences.

Today's fireworks on the lobbying quiz were touched off by Representative Rankin with additional charges of wire tapping by utility lobbyists and the assertion that a number of congressmen engaged in nightly conferences with power trust lobbyists at the Mayflower hotel.

Rankin named no names although he hinted broadly that he expected no real results from any investigation of lobbying activities conducted by the house rules committee of which O'Connor is chairman.

Not only his wires had been tapped during the recent house revolt on the utility bill, Rankin declared. He asserted that other members had made the same report to him. He airily waved away the assertion by the local telephone company that wire tapping was an impossible feat because of the maze of wires on Capitol hill.

Suspects Private Wire.

"I don't know who did it," said Rankin, "but I do know that my telephone wire was tapped by some one for several days. The offices of other members of congress make the same report and one newspaper man informed me that when he talked to congressman he could hear clicking as if some one were lifting a receiver.

"In my opinion, if the senate will investigate thoroughly, they will find a private telephone wire running into the headquarters of the power trust lobby in the Mayflower hotel.

"It is my further opinion that practically every message that went from members of congress who opposed the power interests was eavesdropped by some one and it is not at all improbable that they eavesdropped the messages between Capitol hill and the White House."

There should be no difficulty in getting information about the activities of the "power trust lobby," Rankin said.

"I am reliably informed that certain members of congress who are on the military affairs committee and who are fighting the administration on the TVA bill met with these lobbyists night after night," he asserted. "My God, what are we coming to?"

Every senator and representative should be summoned before the investigating committee, Rankin asserted, and forced to disclose if he owned any utility stock, "whether he has been in secret conference with these lobbyists; and above all whether he as a lawyer is on the pay roll."

The lobbying inquiry overshadowed the beginning of general debate on the amendments to the Tennessee Valley authority act. Predictions of another house revolt against President Roosevelt on this bit of "must legislation" are general. The Democratic majority will attempt to remodel the bill reported by the military affairs committee. The features most obnoxious to the President are those forcing TVA expenditures to be audited by Controler General McCarl and the limiting of land purchases.

A vote on the TVA amendments is expected late Wednesday or Thursday.

Roosevelt Plans Milwaukee Speech if Congress Adjourns

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—A cross country jaunt to the Pacific coast with all its possibilities of wayside speechmaking is planned by President Roosevelt after congress adjourns.

The tentative schedule, long contemplated, lists only one set address—a talk to the national convention of Young Democrats at Milwaukee on Aug. 23. But the tour will offer Mr. Roosevelt an opportunity to discuss his administration and future plans as 1936 campaign time draws near.

The chief executive has a way of speaking extemporaneously at most stops along his route when traveling.

Hinges on Adjournment.

All plans were said to hinge on the adjournment of congress. The White House believes Mr. Roosevelt will stand by until the session is concluded.

The Pacific coast goal of the President is the California-Pacific International exposition at San Diego, Cal. On the way it is probable he will stop at the Boulder canyon dam on the Colorado river.

Coincidentally, Postmaster General Farley, the Democratic national chairman, is crossing the country this summer and will sail for a vacation cruise to Honolulu with Mrs. Farley.

Farley expects to leave Sunday. He will stop in Columbus, O., at the Elks' convention and then proceed to the San Diego exposition, sailing from Los Angeles. On his return Farley plans to make a talk at San Francisco and then come directly to Washington.

Many Political Possibilities.

Both trips are filled with political possibilities, but administration aids said today that one of the principal objectives was a vacation for both the President and Mr. Farley before the strenuous days of 1936 campaigning.

Once on the Pacific coast it is considered likely that Mr. Roosevelt, who is fond of the sea, will board a ship for a cruise, possibly returning to the east coast through the Panama canal.

Whether he will go to his Hyde Park, N. Y., home before starting west is expected to depend upon when congress adjourns.

Prepare for President.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 8.—(AP)—Interest in the second national convention of Young Democratic clubs here Aug. 23 and 24 increased today with announcement at Washington that President Roosevelt probably would be here on the first day.

Thomas A. Byrne, co-chairman of the arrangements committee, said that the Milwaukee auditorium, which seats 8,000 has been engaged for the President's address.

The President's son, James, will be here for the duration of the convention, Byrne added. He stated that Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion, also will attend.

GOVERNOR SIGNS MINIMUM WAGE LAW EXTENSION

Gov. Horner in Springfield yesterday signed the bill approved by the legislature extending the minimum wage law for women and children employed in industry. No changes are made in the present law, but its provisions became permanent.

Another bill which became law by the governor's pen yesterday permits local option on propositions to limit the sale of beer and wine of not more than 4 per cent alcoholic strength. Liquor could be sold in packages, for consumption off the premises, in communities adopting the new local option. The bill was sponsored by Representative Frank A. McCarthy [Rep., Elgin].

The governor also signed the bill extending the principles of absentee voting to registrations. If a qualified elector knows that he will be out of the city on registration day this law permits him to put his name on the poll books in advance of registration day.

Norse Blame 'Heat Stroke' for Death Sweep on Fish

HOENEFOS, Norway, July 8.—(AP)—The strange case of the thousands of dead perch found floating on Randsfjord was attributed today to heat stroke. Experts found there was no poison or pollution in the lake and that none of the other usual causes of death to fish was responsible.

Steals $1.18 from Church Poor Box; Gets Six Months

Bernard J. Aubry, 35 years old, 1546 East 67th street, was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell yesterday for stealing $1.18 from the poor box of the Normal Methodist Episcopal church, [illegible] South Union avenue. Aubry was arrested in the church Sunday night.

KERNER GIVES OPINION ON HANDBOOK BILL TO HORNER; WITHHOLDS IT

Attorney General Otto Kerner returned the Chicago racing handbook bill to Gov. Horner yesterday with his opinion on its constitutionality. He declined to make the opinion public.

"I haven't seen it," was Gov. Horner's reply to inquiries on the subject. "It may be here; but I haven't come to it."

Well informed attorneys predict that the Kerner opinion will not be a flat ruling on the question of constitutionality but a discussion of the matter including some constitutional point or points that might be raised in an attack upon such a law.

SELF-INFLICTED WOUND FATAL.

John Windle, 82 years old, 2339 South St. Louis avenue, died in St. Anthony's hospital yesterday of a bullet wound in his right temple, self-inflicted at home during a fit of despondency because of ill health.

BRYAN'S FORMER SON-IN-LAW GETS TERM IN PRISON

Los Angeles, Cal., July 8.—(AP)—Federal Judge George Cosgrave today ordered Richard L. Hargreaves, former son-in-law of the late William Jennings Bryan, committed to McNeil Island penitentiary to serve a three year sentence for misapplication of funds.

Hargreaves was convicted of misapplication and of making false statements to the controler of currency about the condition of the First National bank of Beverly Hills, now defunct, of which he was president.

Judge Cosgrave denied Hargreaves' plea for probation, which was backed by many prominent persons including Will Hays, motion picture czar; Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, United States ambassador to Denmark; Mayor C. W. Bryan of Lincoln, Neb.; Gov. Cochran of Nebraska, and others.

CHURCH TRIBUNAL DROPS BUSWELL 'REBELLION' CASE

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. J. Oliver Buswell Jr., president of Wheaton college, won a victory yesterday in his trial on charges of rebelling against Presbyterian church authority when the judicial commission of the Chicago Presbytery abruptly dismissed the hearing.

However, it was specified that the dismissal came, not on the merits of the charges against Dr. Buswell, but because the charges had been improperly brought against him. The commission made it clear that its action does not preclude the possibility that the case may be reinstated either by the Chicago or by the general presbytery.

Day of Sensations.

The commission's action climaxed a day of sensations, during which Dr. Buswell turned on the commission selected to hear the charges against him, and challenged the right of two of the members to sit in judgment on him.

His attacks virtually turned the tables and made the two commission members defendants instead of himself. After secret deliberations, however, the commission ruled that the challenged members should remain.

Dr. Buswell then leveled his attack against the indictment itself, declaring it was not in accordance with Presbyterian church law, and his stand was upheld. The dismissal followed.

Specific Charges Required.

Dr. Edward E. Hastings, moderator of the hearing, explained that church rules provide that such indictments must contain all specific charges against the defendant, with evidence to uphold them.

The charges submitted against Dr. Buswell were merely general.

Dr. Buswell's attacks on the commission began almost immdiately after the hearing had opened at the Fourth Presbyterian church, and the first object of his challenges was Henry P. Chandler, Chicago lawyer and former president of the Union League club.

In challenging his right to sit, Dr. Buswell pointed to Mr. Chandler's alleged "marked sympathy" and collaboration "with persons and organizations that are definitly communistic or socialistic in their positions, tendencies and actions."

Charges Red Tendencies.

"Mr. Chandler's frequent coöperation with persons and movements of this kind are an indication of a direction in his thinking and sympathies" the Buswell challenge went on, "which is decidedly un-Presbyterian as well as un-American. It is clear, therefore, that he is not qualified to sit on this judicial commission."

The Rev. Dr. Frederick L. Selden, pastor of the Ravenswood Presbyterian church, was the second member of the judicial commission challenged. Objections against the Ravenswood pastor's seat on the ecclesiastical bench were based on doctrinal grounds with Dr. Buswell contending that the real issue in the trial was between modernism and fundamentalism. Dr. Selden, Dr. Buswell complained, as a signer of the 1924 Auburn confession, is a modernist and therefore as a member of the trial court Dr. Selden would be prejudicial to fundamentalist interests in the case.

Court Is Judge and Jury.

Under the Presbyterian constitution a trial court consists of a commission of 7 elected by presbytery. It has combined functions of judge and jury, and in connection with challenges against its own memberships which may be brought by a defendant, acting as sort of grand jury, may call witnesses for or against one or more of its own members.

The Buswell judicial commission, in addition to Dr. Hastings and the two challenged members, included the Rev. Robert C. Young of Maywood, P. M. McNabb, the Rev. William W. Iliff of Beverly Hills, and Walter L. Wenger.

Dr. Buswell was being tried on the specific charge of refusing to obey the demand of the 1934 general assembly of the Presbyterian church to withdraw his membership from the Independent Presbyterian board of foreign missions. The mandate of the assembly was that all ministers and officers of the Presbyterian church withdraw memberships from the outlawed board. Its founder, Dr. J. Gresham Machen of Philadelphia, recently was convicted of rebellion in a New Jersey church court with sentence of suspension from the ministry pending appeals to higher church courts.

Dr. Buswell contended that the issue involved is the fundamentalist-modernist controversy which arose more than a decade ago with the modernist preaching of Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, a Baptist, in a New York Presbyterian church. The controversy raged throughout the church until the St. Paul, Minn., general assembly in 1929, when the fundamentalists, under the leadership of Dr. Machen, then of the faculty of Princeton Theological seminary, endeavored to purge that seminary of modernist leadership. Dr. Machen was decisively defeated, withdrew from the Princeton seminary and founded the independent Westminster seminary at Philadelphia.

Fight to Rule Missions.

The fundamentalist issue again arose prior to the 1933 general assembly when Dr. Machen, citing writings of Pearl S. Buck, a former Presbyterian missionary in China whose "Good Earth" received widespread literary acclaim, declared the regular Presbyterian board of foreign missions had embraced modernism and that missionaries had departed from the traditional Bible faith of the church.

Dr. Machen and his followers sought control of the missions board in 1933 but again were defeated. The independent Presbyterian foreign missions board was then incorporated and funds for its support were solicited in competition with the regular Presbyterian board.

Last year at Cleveland the general assembly, determined to stamp out the independent board, and by an overwhelming vote demanded that ministers and officers of the outlawed board face the alternatives of resigning from that board or facing disciplinary action.

Ceremony Tomorrow

Lake week, devoted to programs commemorating 75 years of progress in lake travel, opened in Chicago yesterday. At 10 a. m. steamships plying in and out of the city gave the inaugural salute with blasts from their whistles.

Maude Key Sheldon, a descendant of Francis Scott Key, composer of "The Star Spangled Banner," is reigning as "Miss Lake Week." Tomorrow she is to preside over a ceremony at the Lorado Taft Fountain of the Great Lakes, south of the Art institute in Grant park. Waters from the five Great Lakes, brought here by steamships, will be poured into the fountain.

On Thursday a style show of summer clothes for lake cruises will be held on board the Seeandbee at Navy pier. The week will culminate on Saturday with a race between the life boat crews of the steamships off Grant park.

Steamship companies estimate that they will carry more than 500,000 passengers on lake cruises this summer. The vessels are to be open for public inspection off Navy pier all week.

THOS. CUSACK JR. DROWNED WHEN CANOE IS UPSET

The body of Thomas Cusack Jr., 37 years old, president of the Cusack Realty company with offices at 1 North La Salle street and in River Forest and Winnetka, who was drowned Sunday afternoon when his canoe upset in Lake Tomahawk, north of Rhinelander, Wis., was returned here yesterday. He lived at 1351 Keystone avenue, River Forest.

Mr. Cusack was on a week-end outing with Oliver Williams, 250 Franklin road, Glencoe, an insurance man, and their sons, Thomas Cusack III. and Oliver Williams Jr., both 10 years old. The two men had paddled out into the lake to retrieve a beach ball which had floated out into deep water and the canoe upset when one of the men reached over the side to get the ball. Mr. Cusack was unable to cling to the overturned craft and he sank.

Mr. Cusack is survived by his wife, Mrs. Claire Hock Cusack, who is ill at the home of her parents at 543 North Oak Park avenue, and five children, Thomas III., Claire, 7 years old; Joseph Albert, 5; Jean Helen, 3; and John William, 2 weeks.

JOB APPLICANTS CHEATED IN NEW TYPE OF RACKET

A new type of racket, with the unemployed as victims, was revealed yesterday by George J. Crawley, president of the Illinois employment board, a federation of employment agency heads.

According to Mr. Crawley, fraudulent operators wait outside employment agencies and question the applicants as they leave.

"Get anything in there?" the applicant is asked.

Upon receiving a negative reply the swindler learns the type of job the applicant seeks, and exclaims that he knows a friend who has just the job. It happens, though, that the applicant must make a small investment, for uniform, for union dues, or some such prerequisite. The victim pays his money and that is the last he sees of his "benefactor."

"It's a particularly vicious racket," Crawley said, "in that it victimizes the needy, who in their agitation are easily duped. We try to combat it by shooing loafers away from our agencies, but the parasites are continuing to operate."

ROCKEFELLER, 96, HAS QUIET DAY AT LAKEWOOD

Doctor Tells of Singing; Reporters Barred.

Lakewood, N. J., July 8.—[Special.]—Secluded behind the high iron fence of his estate on Ocean avenue, John D. Rockefeller passed his 96th birthday today with no evidence to the outside world that the occasion was being marked by a formal celebration of any kind.

For the first time in weeks, the huge gates at the main entrance were closed and locked against the importunities of newspaper men, to still and motion picture cameramen.

For a long interval this morning, their vehicles remained drawn up in wistful, but futile array just outside the grounds on the Lakewood-Point Pleasant highway, while polite but firm refusals of admission for them continued to come via telephone to the gatekeeper.

Late in the afternoon Ward Madison, secretary to the patriarch and philanthropist, confirmed also by telephone the fact that there would be no statement, no comments, no news of any kind from the white frame mansion set deep in the 525 acre property.

Just as warily, John Yordi, Swiss valet and constant companion of Mr. Rockefeller, admitted that his master had had "a very happy day" in response to an inquiry from a friend.

Rockefeller Well, Happy.

Chief elements in the anniversary's observance, however, and contributing factor to the Rockefeller good spirits, were the excellent health of the celebrant; the bland summer weather, with sun and shadow chasing alternately across the sky, and above all else, the presence of immediate members of his family who spent the day with him.

These included his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., his daughter, Mrs. E. Parmelee Prentice, and her daughter, Miss Mary Adeline Prentice of Williamstown, Mass. There also were a couple of guests, old friends of the family, whose names were as effectively shielded as were the activities of the house party during the day.

Confirmation of the comparatively robust health of the oil magnate was given by his personal physician, Dr. Vanderhoef Disbrow, who declared that his patient has been highly pleased recently with his report on a thorough examination, in which he "couldn't find a thing wrong." Mr. Rockefeller's ambition to attain the century mark has been frequently expressed in past interviews.

Motorist Flees Accident Scene; Sentenced to Cell

Found guilty of leaving the scene of an automobile accident at Division street and Sacramento boulevard on May 14, Dr. Joseph G. Berg, 37 years old, 7018 Clyde avenue, a dentist, was sentenced to 10 days in the Bridewell by Judge Edward S. Scheffler in the South State street court yesterday. Dr. Berg was given 30 days to file a bill of exceptions. In the accident, Miss Anna Levin, 30 years old, 2719 Crystal street, a pedestrian, was injured. The dentist was traced through a broken automobile door handle found on the scene. He insisted that he was unaware his car had struck Miss Levin.

TWO TRIALS SET FOR AUTOIST; ONE A DEATH CASE

Ernest Schneider, 39, of 1432 North La Salle street, successfully hurdled the obstacle of having to appear yesterday in two courts at the same time. He went first to the Criminal court of Judge Grover C. Niemeyer, where he was ordered to trial July 15 on a charge of manslaughter that grew out of an automobile accident. Then going before Judge Edward S. Scheffler in the South State Street court, he demanded that he be tried by a jury for bumping into a policeman's car Saturday night when driving an automobile while allegedly drunk. Judge Scheffler set the case for July 11 in the Jury court. Schneider, head of the Snyder Products company, manufacturers of medical goods at 1434 North Wells street, was found guilty on the manslaughter charge on June 1, 1934, after a car driven by him had struck and killed two men, but the Supreme court granted him a new trial.

DEPUTY KILLED AS MOTORCYCLE STRIKES AUTO

Meyer Siegel, 45 years old, 1553 South Kolin avenue, a deputy sherif attached to the county highway police station at Willow Springs, was killed yesterday afternoon when the motorcycle he was driving crashed into the rear of an automobile at 34th street and South Park avenue.

Siegel was riding behind an automobile driven by Morris Norian, 3800 Lake Shore drive, when Norian suddenly swerved his car to avoid striking a taxicab that had stopped near the center of the street. The motorcycle then struck Norian's car.

Police questioned Claude Wesley, colored, 708 ast 50th place, driver of the cab, who explained he was quarreling with the occupant of his cab at the time of the accident. He was not held.

Siegel's death and four others increased the 1935 trafic toll for Cook county to 478. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 378 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 8,133 had been injured. The other victims yesterday:

Harry Post, 59 years old, 1828 Washington boulevard. Died in the County hospital of injuries incurred two months ago when struck by an automobile near his home.

Mrs. Blanche Nejman, 50 years old, 928 North California avenue. Died last night in the Illinois Central hospital of injuries incurred Sunday when an automobile driven by Mrs. Stella H. Zablock, 40 years old, of the same address struck a lamp post on the outer drive at 48th street.

Anton Cichlar, 53 years old, 8943 South Ada street. Died in Auburn Park hospital from injuries received on July 5 when he lost control of his car as he was lighting a cigaret at 83d street and Western avenue and crashed into a post.

Mrs. Blanche Nejam, 49 years old, 928 North California avenue. Died early today in Ilinois Central hospital of injuries she suffered last Sunday evening when her daughter, Mrs. Stella Cablock, with whom she was riding, lost control of her automobile and struck a light post at 48th street and the Outer drive.

BORAH HITS MOVE TO PICK SUPREME COURT CANDIDATE

Low Political Strategy, He Calls Proposal.

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—A strong denunciation of those who talk of choosing a Republican presidential candidate from the membership of the United States Supreme court was made today by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho]. The statement was issued in the form of a letter to a New York newspaper.

Justices Harlan F. Stone and Owen J. Roberts have been mentioned frequently in this connection.

"Those who have any proper conception of the true function of the Supreme court in our framework of government, or those who have regard for the high place it must hold at all times in the hearts and minds of the American people—if it is to perform with effect that function—will deeply regret the talk about going to the membership of that tribunal for a presidential candidate," the letter said.

"Low Political Strategy."

"And those who have any appreciation whatever of the delicate but inevitable and stupendous task which awaits the court in dealing with the problems which of necessity must come before it in one of the most onerous and difficult periods of its existence will look with contempt upon the low political strategy which would seek to rebuild party fortunes by any such sinister maneuvers.

"The names of two members of the Supreme court have been particularly mentioned. They undoubtedly have been mentioned because of recent opinions, which opinions happen to coincide with what the fertile brains of the political strategists think will make for party advantage.

"We can pass over the chagrin and humiliation which must come to a judge when singled out for political advancement because of the solemn discharge of his duty of a justice of the Supreme court.

Suggests Reward for Decision.

"But there is something more involved than this. It is not only for a suggestion of political recompense for deciding the question in a particular way, but it is a subtle suggestion to all members of the court that in giving opinions on constitutional law they should keep in mind not only the law but also the reward which awaits those who—while interpreting the constitution—also interpret popular sentiment.

"It is not only indispensable to the worth and dignity of the court that it is, in fact, free from party bias, but second only in importance is that the people shall believe it to be free from party bias.

"After the civil war there came proposals for reform. The court was to be made amenable to political control. It was proposed that its membership be changed; that it be denied power to pass upon the constitutionality of the acts of congress; that no statute could be held unconstitutional by less than two-thirds of the justices, and finally that particular statutes were to be exempt from consideration by the court.

Opinions Now Bulwarks.

"The opinions of the Supreme court written in those days are now regarded as the bulwarks of American liberty.

"The point is that in every great crisis of our history realization comes to us of how plain is our duty to keep the courts as free from party politics as it is humanly possible.

"There are many different ways to draw the court into politics. One is to regard it as a source for political candidates.

"The political party which would make an issue of constitutional government and at the same time seek the court for political leadership would reveal either gross indifference to what constitutes constitutional government or a willingness to sacrifice its most vital principle for party advantage."

ONLY 27 DELEGATES ATTEND FARM-LABOR OMAHA CONVENTION

Omaha, Neb., July 8.—(AP)—Roy M. Harrop of Council Bluffs, Ia., tonight reëlected himself chairman of the "National Farmer-Labor party's" national committee on the eve of the opening of a four day convention he called here. He said 25 persons participated in the election.

In a bid for support from Farmer-Laborites in Minnesota, Harrop chose M. E. Mulvihill of Rochester, Minn., as first vice chairman of the "national committee."

Harrop tonight said 27 delegates had arrived for the convention, which opens here at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

"Gen." Jacob S. Coxey of Massilon, O., leader of "Coxey's army" in 1894, who is scheduled to speak, had not arrived tonight.

Harrop said his convention probably would nominate Senator Huey Long of Louisiana for the presidency on his "share-the-wealth" platform.

REPORT MEDICAL CARE IS NEEDED IN MANY HOMES

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—The children's bureau, surveying selected areas of five cities, today reported lack of medical treatment the "most disturbing feature about the whole question of health."

Social service workers of the bureau studied 259 households, in relief and nonrelief categories, in Atlanta, Memphis, Racine, Terre Haute, and Washington, D. C. The report said:

"In 43 per cent of the families medical treatment appeared to be needed at the time of the survey, but was not being received, and in 30 per cent of the cases it was because the family could not afford private care," was the report made today by Miss Katharine F. Lenroot, bureau chief.

SAVE U. S. FROM DICTATOR, G. O. P. KEYNOTER ASKS

2d Grass Roots Parley Opens in Ohio.

sion to order as temporary chairman, and an address of welcome was made by A. H. Fiebach, welfare director, on behalf of Harry L. Davis, Republican mayor of Cleveland.

A message of approbation of the conference and its purposes was read from Henry P. Fletcher, Republican national chairman. Among outside observers was Jacob D. Allen of Chicago, who was secretary of the Grass Roots conference at Springfield. the inspiration for the Cleveland meeting. Pennsylvania, next to Ohio, has the largest delegation in the hall, more than 900.

By a motion offered by Mrs. George Rogers of Jackson, Mich., Kentucky, West Virginia, and Tennessee are each to have three votes on the resolutions committee, and Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania five votes each. It was emphasized that the conference is predominantly an assemblage of the rank and file, ordinary folks in the Republican party.

Bender Squelches Rumor.

Chairman Bender, whose speech was taken as the real keynote, took occasion to stop a rumor.

"In Washington," he said, "some detractors of this conference say it is in the interests of Herbert Hoover. This is nonsense. I doubt if Hoover will run."

Bender at the outset dwelt upon regimentation under the New Deal.

"This convention," he said, "should mark the opportunity to clear away the foggy, obscuring political atmosphere which spreads from Washington.

More Than Partisan Duty.

"Today it is more than a mere partisan duty for Republicans to rebuild and revive our party. It is a patriotic challenge. As a force in public affairs, truth compels us to admit that the Republican party no longer exists in Washington. Our land is in serious danger.

"The New Deal condemns itself as the straw of every wind that blows. To gather a vote in the southwest it pays lip service to the policies of Huey Long. To embrace the great northwest it adopts Father Coughlin. To conciliate the chamber of commerce it will drop a hopeless legal test. Everywhere the party in power brands itself the political opportunist, guided always by the desire to perpetuate itself and its camp followers.

"We Republicans must not depart from the rock of constitutional government."

The abdication of congress and its transformation into a rubber stamp for the administration was described by Bender as having turned the constitution into a "no man's land, a hodge-podge."

"We have the dismal spectacle," Bender said as the delegates cheered, "of a spineless congress completely dominated by a fumbling, thwarted, inconsistent, and grandiose executive. Our long eared Democratic friends have been thundering in defense of their shameful abdication of legislative prerogatives that our governmental system has broken down. That is not true. The Democratic party alone has sought to break it down.

"The last line of our defense to a complete destruction of our constitutional organization is the Supreme court. When the smoke and fog which are synonymous with official Washington clear away in the victory of our Republican party the only courageous and consistent part in this bleak period of American history will be the record of the Supreme court. To that body men and women should yield a thankful prayer."

Experimenting Assailed.

Alphabetical experiments of the new deal were taken up by Bender.

"With congress completely abdicating," he said, "the executive has run rampant. Wild-eyed schemes from boondoggling to leaf raking, every device conceivable to a frantic and disorganized executive, have been trotted out.

"Absurdity after absurdity has been rammed down our throats until we are sick with burocratic diphtheria. Panaceas for our ills, CWA, PWA, FERA, and now WPA, have followed each other in bewildering and maddening succession.

"Stalin in despotic Russia was never so fertile in his alphabetical abbreviations as Roosevelt in free America. All that we have yet to see to make a mockery of free life in our nation is an American Ogpu. Let no one be deceived. There is no great gulf between burocracy and tyranny.

Rights of Life Challenged.

"Today we are challenged in our right to plant our crops, to manage our business, to safe guard the economic security of our children as we see fit. We cannot invest as we will, we cannot even challenge the government's right to abrogate its contracts. Liberty is clearly on the wane."

Keynoter Bender took up unemployment and the dole.

"The man on the street is looking for a job," he said. "Millions still want work. Self-respecting men and women resent the government dole which has become the Democratic weapon of patronage and votes.

"Only a marked revival of business will take the federal government out of the administration of relief. Despite this, every step taken by the administration has been a blow at that necessary revival of business. If recovery comes, it must come in spite of Franklin Roosevelt."

Some Planks Suggested.

Some suggestions of what the Republican party should offer in its next national platform were made by Bender.

"Offer America plans for recovery in keeping with the principles of the constitution," he said. "Restore the gold standard.

"Abolish the fear of hordes of inspectors by destroying the mushroom crop of burocrats.

"We shall withdraw the unfair socialistic experimentation of the Tennessee valley and seek to protect farm interests by stimulating markets. We shall labor to balance the federal budget. Constitutional government must be preserved. We will rededicate ourselves to the principles of sound government, sound economics, sound social progress."

Pennsylvania Al Smith Democrats may seek to defeat the renomination of President Roosevelt next year, M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman of Pennsylvania, said in an address at tonight's banquet.

"In Pennsylvania," he said, "we now have a pale pink imitation of the national administration in Washington which has junked everything the Democrats stood for. It pushed the Democratic party off the deep end to such an extent that prominent Democrats are in a movement to defeat Roosevelt delegates to next year's national convention."

Ohio "Still Republican."

Ohio is still at heart a Republican state, the delegates were told by Attorney General John W. Bricker, who is to be a candidate for governor next year.

"The people of Ohio," he said, "won't trust their money to the Democratic party, so we have a Republican state treasurer. We've got a Republican attorney general because the Democrats have no respect for law and don't know the constitution exists."

SEN. SCHALL'S ATTACK ON ROOSEVELT SUFFERS DEMOCRATIC EDITING

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—A reference by Senator Schall [Rep., Minn.] to President Roosevelt as "this megalomaniac President" was stricken from the Congressional Record today by senate leaders.

Democratic leaders angrily protested to Senator McNary, Republican leader, and threatened to have the speech expunged from the record in its entirety. McNary finally agreed to change the language so that it would read "the President" instead.

Schall asserted in the speech that "if any President of the United States preceding this one had done or attempted to do what this administration has accomplished he would have been impeached."

Warn Real Estate Owners to Pay Taxes by July 19

Property owners who still owe 1933 real estate taxes were warned by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday that they have only until noon on July 19 to file objections to sales for their taxes. After the deadline, judgments will be entered for taxes owing in cases where no protest has been made. George Hagenauer, chief auditor for the county treasurer, said that 757,155 real estate owners owe $41,538,155 for 1933 taxes. He announced that the sales are expected to start on July 22.

BRITAIN TO MAKE ANOTHER EFFORT TO PREVENT WAR

Italo-Ethiopian Dispute Is Aired in Commons.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 8.—Regardless of French peevishness over Great Britain's rapprochement with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and the near quarrel with Premier Mussolini, the British government is again trying to work out some means of preventing war between Italy and Ethiopia.

Joseph Avenol, secretary general of the league of nations, arrived in London today on one of his usual mid-council visits. This time he was on more serious business than to exchange the time of day and drink a cup of tea with the new British foreign secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare.

He will go into a conference with Hoare and Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league of nations affairs tomorrow, and try to find some way to satisfy Mussolini in his quarrel with the African kingdom and save the face of the league at the same time.

Hoare admitted, under a fire of questions from the opposition in the house of commons, that he does not know the conditions on which Italy would agree to a settlement with Ethiopia. He also reiterated that responsibility for preventing war rests on nations collectively and not on one nation.

The foreign secretary asserted he could not announce Britain's position on the conflict until Thursday, when the house expects a statement of the government's program.

No New Suggestions Made.

The government has not broached new suggestions to Mussolini since he turned down Capt. Eden's offer of a seaport for Ethiopia in exchange for Ethiopian concessions to Italy. But it was learned that Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador in Rome, has been in contact with Fulvio Suvich, the Italian undersecretary for foreign affairs.

Britain has not followed the lead of the United States in advising its nationals to withdraw from Ethiopia, but has made preparations to remove them in army planes. British subjects center around Addis Ababa, from which evacuation would be comparatively easy, it was stated. Most of the Americans, however, are scattered through the highlands.

One interesting suggestion on how to avert the threatened conflict in Africa was contained in a letter to the Times today by Sir Edward Grigg.

Points to Another Article.

Grigg, who was formerly governor of Kenya colony bordering on Ethiopia and who gained his first experience as an aid of Lord Milner in South Africa, suggests that Articles X and XVI are not all the articles of the league covenant. He draws attention to Article XIX which provides for reconsideration of treaties which become inapplicable and for consideration of international conditions which endanger the peace of the world.

[Article X guarantees all member nations against aggression and violation of their territorial integrity. Article XVI deals with sanctions against nations which resort to war, disregarding their pledges under the league.]

Starting from this point he asks: Why not demote Ethiopia from a position of full member of the league and turn her over as a mandated territory to Italy? This, he said, would give Mussolini control of the nation in reality, while the league would be responsible for seeing that the Ethiopians were properly treated by their new masters.

It is interesting in this connection that when Ethiopia was admitted to league membership, Britain voiced its opposition on the ground that the nation was not civilized enough. Nevertheless, England was persuaded by Italy and France that Ethiopia was fit for membership.

Italy Sees Path Clear.

ROME, July 8.—(AP)—Italy believed tonight a path from Rome to Addis Ababa was clear.

Official circles said there was scarcely a possibility of English intervention; there is no doubt of France's friendly neutrality; and the United States has just declared its neutrality.

Germany is now friendly, they said, and Russia will be friendly because of France. The only foreign nation England may possibly persuade to her point of view was believed here to be Japan, which has growing commercial interests in Ethiopia, but Japan apparently has her hands full with the Chinese and Manchukuoan situations.

There remained only the league of nations, of which Benito Mussolini has no fear. Before that assembly Italy does not intend to remain on the defensive, but will take the offensive with charges that Ethiopia violated the conditions under which she was permitted to enter and should be reduced to the rank of a mandate.

If the league should attempt to condemn Italy, official circles disclosed, Il Duce would not have the slightest hesitation about leaving Geneva.

The departure of troops for the Italian colonies bordering upon Ethiopia, Eritrea, and Italian Somaliland was speeded up. Some 2,000 longshoremen were sent to Massaua, Eritrea, to hasten the unloading of troop transports.

May Not Get Red Cross.

LONDON, July 8.—(AP)—The merciful ministrations of the Red Cross may be withheld from Ethiopia in case of war with Italy because Emperor Haile Selassie has so far been unable to give his word that his soldiers will not mutilate captives, according to Field Director T. A. Lambie of the Ethiopian Mission service.

Dr. Lambie explained that the emperor could not "sincerely" pledge his word in this regard because of the almost uncontrollable ferocity of some Ethiopian frontier tribes. The mission director is trying to organize in London an ambulance corps for Ethiopia.

Hungarians Eager to Fight.

BUDAPEST, July 8.—(AP)—The number of Hungarians offering themselves as volunteers for military service against Ethiopia is growing daily. So far, 3,600 men between the ages of seventeen and sixty-eight had appeared before officers of the independent front-fighters party asking information, officials said.

Four recent graduates of Wheaton college are engaged in missionary work in Ethiopia, it was learned yesterday from friends in Chicago. They are Lyndon Hess and his wife, the former Ruth DeVelde; Malcom Forsberg, and Donald Davies.

Hess, a former track star, and Davies are graduates of the class of 1931. Mrs. Hess and Forsberg were graduated a year later. The Hesses have a son, Robert, 1 year old, who is with them at an interdenominational mission in Addis Ababa.

Dr. Robert H. Hockman, youthful head of the American Mission hospital just outside of Addis Ababa, who is the organizer of a Red Cross unit in Ethiopia, is the son of W. H. Hockman, 415 East Madison street, Wheaton. Dr. Hockman is a graduate of Northwestern university medical school.

PARAFFIN TEST POINTS TO MAN AS GIRL SLAYER

Indianapolis, Ind., July 8.—[Special.]—Chemical tests for gun powder particles in paraffin put on the hands of Glen Kinder, 26, of Bedford caused police to urge tonight that he be held for the killing of Frances Prince, 15. She died at the Bedford hospital last night after an auto ride with him, George Hale, 25, and Loretta Johnson, 15. The latter three are held for further questioning.

When taken to the hospital, Miss Prince was suffering from a bullet wound in the right temple and a skull fracture. The police at Bedford have been unable to find the revolver from which the bullet was fired. They have been told that the four went for an auto ride yesterday afternoon and attended a baseball game. Then they drove to an abandoned stone quarry.

Miss Johnson said that while the two men were away from the auto, Miss Prince shot herself. The police have recommended that Miss Johnson be given the paraffin test. Search of the place where the auto was parked revealed a pair of brass knuckles. Both Kinder and Hale are said to have been arrested several times. The former served time at a penal farm. The three suspects were returned to Bedford tonight.

CO-ED VANISHES, BUT IS HUNTING JOB, KIN BELIEVE

Miss Ann Sibley, 21 years old, 5123 University avenue, daughter of Joseph C. Sibley Sr., Chicago lawyer, has been missing for five days since she left Antioch college at Yellow Springs, O., it was learned last night.

Joseph C. Sibley Jr., brother of the girl, declared, however, that the family harbored no fears for her safety. He said a message had been received indicating that Ann had decided to secure a job and earn her own living. Nevertheless, it was learned that police had been asked to seek the girl in Xenia and Springfield, O., as well as other towns near Yellow Springs.

Springfield Jeweler Shot to Death from Ambush

Springfield, Ill., July 8.—(AP)—Jacob Wexler, a jeweler and pawnbroker, was killed late tonight when gunmen ambushed him a block from his home and riddled his body with shotgun slugs and .45 caliber bullets. Witnesses to the slaying said that as Wexler approached his home two cars swung across to the left side of the street and the occupants without warning poured a heavy volley into the pedestrian.

MUSSOLINI WAR STIRS FEARS OF WORLD BANKERS

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

BASEL, Switzerland, July 8.—Europe's principal central bankers take a serious view of the effects of Premier Mussolini's Ethiopian policy on the rest of the world politically and especially economically and monetarily. Their informal exchanges of news and views while here today for the monthly meeting of the board of the Bank for International Settlements left no doubt of this.

One gets the distinct impression that the bankers do not see how Italy can finance an Ethiopian war and that they await with misgivings the repercussion on other currencies and economies of the effects of the monetary and commercial strain they forsee sooner or later if Mussolini continues his aggressive policy in East Africa.

Italian Bankers Silent.

The Italian members of the board, Dr. Vincenzo Azzolini and Prof. Alberto Beneduce, were very reserved and left Basel early, apparently without giving their colleagues any information as to how Italy would finance her adventure in Ethiopia. They seemed especially secretive regarding the total of the foreign stock and bond holdings recently mobilized in Italy—a point the other bankers would especially like to know.

"This Ethiopian problem," said one banker, "is bad from every point of view. Even if Italy should succeed in conquering Ethiopia it would take a long time, and even then how can she turn any of her conquests into cash quickly enough to meet the bill?"

Another banker said that the only dark cloud at present was the Mussolini policy. He said it alone was capable of wrecking everything, because it undermined currency and markets and trust in any kind of law and order.

Points to Drastic Measures.

A third banker pointed out that a few months ago Italy's monetary straits had been so dire that she had established a strict system of controling imports similar to Germany's, yet now she was importing war supplies from everywhere.

Italy, he said, already has taken such extraordinary measures as mobilizing private citizens' holdings of foreign stocks and bonds and withdrawing all silver coin. Such measures usually are necessary only toward the end of a war.

"If Mussolini has to do this before the war begins," he asked "what will he do afterward?"

The fact that one country—the Netherlands—already has become sufficiently doubtful of Italy's ability to pay for her imports that she has established a clearing arrangement with Italy to insure payment seems to have made a strong impression on the bankers here. This is particularly true because the clearing arrangements with Germany have been found to work so badly that they are now up for review and alteration in France, Belgium and other countries and the system would not easily be extended to Italy.

See Britain in Bad Spot.

A fourth banker stressed that war against Ethiopia after months of careful and deliberate preparations would be "a much more cynical" violation of the convenant of the league of nations and the Kellogg pact outlawing war than the Japanese conquest of Manchuria.

The general view is that Great Britain especially has thrust herself into a difficult position because of her attempts to induce Mussolini to drop his adventure and France's apparent tacit approval of the Italian policy.

There seems to be a general disposition among bankers to believe that Mussolini's policy is "mad," but that nothing strong enough to deter him will be done by any one and that his policy will end in disaster for Italy and a shaking of the Fascist régime.

Fear Other Wars in Europe.

Whether he wins or loses, the bankers agree, the effects of war with Ethiopia will be bad for business by breeding other wars in Europe, whether by wrecking the world's peace machinery or weakening the Italian government, or both.

The only comment heard on the "hands off" policy of the United States was to the effect that that country could succeed in keeping out of this war, but "meanwhile, can it keep out of the accompanying depression?"

CROWD GUARDS CEMETERY SO IT CAN'T SPREAD

Twenty-five policemen, firemen, and volunteers stood guard last night on the southern boundary of Evergreen cemetery in Evergreen Park to prevent extension of the burial grounds. But officials of the Evergreen Cemetery association, which owns the grounds, said that the pickets were wasting their time as no expansion was contemplated.

The cemetery now extends from 87th street to 91st street, and from Kedzie avenue to the Grand Trunk railway tracks. The area menaced according to Mayor William T. Conrad of Evergreen Park, who was one of the pickets, comprises a triangle south of 91st street and between Kedzie avenue and the railroad.

On July 1 the suburb passed an ordinance prohibiting construction of any more cemeteries or extensions within its limits. The ordinance must be posted ten days before it becomes effective, and the pickets plan to remain until the deadline is passed at midnight tomorrow night.

"We have two cemeteries in Evergreen Park," Mayor Conrad said, "and that's two too many."

Miss K. M. Johnson, secretary of the cemetery association, said that the triangular plot of ground recently acquired by the association was to be used for a shrub nursery.

Italy Ready to Bolt Quiz on Conflict with Ethiopia

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SCHEVENINGEN, The Netherlands, July 8.—Whether conciliation and arbitration continues to be employed as a method of settling the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia, depends on an answer expected here tomorrow from Premier Mussolini.

On Rome's response to the questions submitted today by Italian arbiters on the conciliation commission hangs the outcome of the proceedings. The four arbiters will meet in the morning to decide on whether to proceed with arbitration efforts, adjourn, or abandon the proceedings.

Italians Ready to Leave.

The Italians are preparing to leave indicating that a negative answer is expected. They said they would be out of the country by Thursday.

The Fascists in Rome are irate at not having been able to put a better face on their case against Ethiopia in the judicial examination of it. Premier Mussolini, it is known, would prefer to have the arbitration efforts discontinued rather than to see his arguments upset.

On the other hand, a vigorous effort is being made to revive attempts at arbitration in the hope that this commission may be kept alive until an actual declaration of war. The proceedings were interrupted last Thursday while Gaston Jeze, the French legal expert for Ethiopia, was pleading the African kingdom's case. He was forced to discontinue his argument because of the Italians' refusal to permit him to raise the question of the boundaries between Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland.

Says Ualual is in Ethiopia.

Jeze said the basis of the whole dispute lay on whether the Ethiopians were on their own territory when the clash at Ualual occurred and whether Ualual belongs to Italy or Ethiopia. He maintained that under the treaty of 1908 it is the property of Ethiopia.

Count Aldrovandi, an Italian arbiter, objected. He said the question of boundaries could not be discussed and the hearing was suspended.

It is being charged that Italy is deliberately trying to obstruct the arbitration procedure. Some observers claim that whatever is the outcome of the hearing and whatever are the findings of the commission, the Italian determination to declare war, as evidenced by Premier Mussolini's speech Saturday, will be the same.

Hope for a Decision.

However, hope was expressed that the decision of the commission, however platonic, could be pronounced. If it is in favor of the Italians it might mollify Mussolini to the extent of inducing him to accept a compromise. If the decision is against Italy it is hoped the ruling might rally world opinion to the extent of giving pause to Il Duce before he actually begins hostilities.

POLICEMAN SEES ROBBERY; SLAYS ESCAPING BANDIT

Last night he walked past a Western Union telegraph office at 124 East 22d street, on his beat, and saw a man, wearing dark glasses and a handkerchief mask, holding up the employés. Mikell waited until the man started walking toward the door, still carrying a large six shooter of the frontier single action type.

Then, fifteen feet from his man, Mikell fired four quick shots through the glass door. One struck the robber in the head and the other three pierced his heart. In his pockets Mikell found $39, the loot from the robbery.

The robber had forced John Melchior, 821 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, the night manager, into a rear room while he held up L. W. Strand, 308 South La Salle street, night clerk, and William J. Reed, 4249 Newcastle avenue, an express wagon driver.

Mikell will receive a $500 reward, an agent of the telegraph company said.

Two years ago Policeman Mikell shot and killed Edward Helrigel, 33 years old, paroled convict, who drew a gun when the policeman sought to question him.

At the bureau of identification the slain robber was identified by his finger prints as John Roberts, 23 years old. His record showed he was on parole from Pontiac reformatory, to which he was sentenced in 1931 on nine charges of robbery.

MAY ALTER TAX TOKEN SHAPE TO MEET U. S. LAW

The attitude of the United States treasury department toward issuance by the state of Illinois of three per cent sales tax tokens is expected to be made known to United States Attorney Igoe by the end of the week, according to Washington dispatches yesterday.

State Director of Finance Ames advised Mr. Igoe that an emissary sent to Washington reported no objections by either the secret service or the department of justice. Some questions were raised by the treasury department, however, as to the shape of the tokens, which are slightly smaller than dimes, and the department may inform Mr. Igoe that the tokens would comply with the law if they were perforated, somewhat in the manner of street car checks.

Or it may be decided that the tokens should be cast in a different shape, so as to remove any similarity to coins. An oblong form might be decided upon. Mr. Ames said that he had no definite information and assumed that Prosecutor Igoe would be informed of the Washington decision.

STUDY DROPPING STATE ST. LAND CONDEMNATION

Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton is to submit tomorrow an opinion on whether they city would be liable for damages if it dropped pending assessment and condemnation proceedings against State street property. At a special meeting, the local transportation committee of the city council will recieve the opinion, which it requested yesterday.

On July 1, 1931, a referendum authorized a subway and widening project for State street. Assessment and condemnation suits began promptly, but were not pushed. Next Friday, they are to come up before Superior Judge James J. Kelly.

"Property values have declined since the proceedings were started," said Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] yesterday, "and if the city paid condemnation costs estimated in 1931 it would lose nearly $6,000,000 on the basis of present values."

BOY PLEADS GUILTY TO SLAYING FATHER; INVOLVES MOTHER

Marshfield, Mo., July 8.—(AP)—Lloyd Robinson, 18 year old farm youth, pleaded guilty today to the "torch murder" of his father, Robert Robinson, 50, about which he is composing a ballad.

Arraignment of the youth's mother, Mrs. Mary Robinson, 49, and their family physician, Dr. W. F. Schlicht, 55, whom Robinson implicated in a confession, was postponed until tomorrow.

Sentence was deferred until after the two others, who were jointly indicted, have entered pleas.

In a confession Robinson asserted his mother and the physician planned the slaying to collect $10,000 life insurance including double indemnity for accidental death. He said he crushed his father's skull with a horseshoe rasp and his mother helped him carry the body to an automobile which he set afire with kerosene to simulate an accident.

Officers said Mrs. Robinson had corroborated her son's statements but refused to sign a confession. Dr. Schlicht, a former state food and drug inspector, vigorously denied any part in the crime.

GAMBLING CASINO AT MONTE CARLO BORROWS TO LIVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTO CARLO, Monaco, July 8.—The once prosperous Casino where dukes and duchesses, scions of the best families and multi-millionaires gayly gambled, and which is now patronized mainly by English trippers and American tourists, today borrowed some money in the hope of saving itself from perishing.

The board of directors voted to borrow $3,660,000 from an American-Dutch-English syndicate. The loan, in the form of bonds, is convertible in eighteen months into shares.

The decision was preceded by a desperate attempt to get the Casino out of the hole by means of economy. The Monaco national council yesterday proposed drastic economy measures. Dr. Henry Settimo, who was presiding, declared: "The Casino management has greatly damaged company interests and also the principality. The projected loan will simply be a continuation of the same policy, tangling up the financial situation."

Louis Aureglia, Monaco's mayor, said: "The Casino company owes the principality $1,330,000, and therefore we cannot allow them to contract more debts because we will not get ours."

WOMAN CHARGES LAWYER HIT HER; SUES FOR $100,000

Suit for $100,000 damages, charging assault and battery, was filed in the Circuit court yesterday by Mrs. Florence Johnston, 40 years old, 9114 North La Crosse street, Niles Center, against Edward H. Cohen of Evanston, a member of the suburb's police force, who is on leave of absence to take up the practice of law.

Mrs. Johnston is the defendant in a $25,000 slander suit brought by Haig O. Cartozian, Evanston rug cleaner, who alleges that she defamed him in connection with some business dealings in September, 1934. Cohen is Cartozian's attorney.

In her bill, drawn by Fred A. Garlepy, Mrs. Johnston charges that Attorney Cohen struck her on the head while she was in a telephone booth in the county building on June 24. She had gone to court that day on a motion to strike out the slander complaint pending before Circuit Judge Daniel H. Trude. No action was taken on the motion and she was telephoning her husband to that effect when the attorney invaded the booth and hit her, she alleges.

JAP ARMY MAKES NORTH CHINA SAFE FOR FUTURE WARS

Buffer at Rear in Case of Russian Clash.

TIENTSIN, China, July 8.—(AP)—The collapse of the few remaining obstacles to Japanese dominance in north China is alleviating the fears of Japanese militarists that north China may be a source of serious trouble in case of a Russo-Japanese war.

If the Chinese government submits to demands of the Japanese army, all anti-Japanese influences in north China will be eliminated and the Manchukuo frontier will be insulated against the remainder of China by a broad strip of territory governed by pro-Japanese officials and linked closely to Manchukuo by economic ties.

In Chinese Inner Mongolia, too, the influence of the Japanese army is reaching out. Japanese agents are keeping in close touch with the Mongol princes to make certain that they will maintain the "proper attitude" toward the neighboring state.

Docile Frontier Is Vital.

Military observers point out that if and when the Japanese come to blows with the powerful Red army the maintenance of peace along the Manchukuo-China frontier will become a matter of vital importance.

In the eyes of the Japanese, anti-Japanese activities in north China are a violation of the spirit of the Tangku truce, the military agreement under which the Chinese agreed to create a demilitarized zone in north China as the price for the withdrawal of the Japanese army outside the great wall.

The Japanese are pressing for the opening of aerial service between Manchukuo and China. The militarists have announced that if China is slow in complying with their demands, the Japanese army may be compelled to take steps to include Tientsin and Peiping in the demilitarized zone. Some believe that the Japanese might carry their advance to the Yellow river, 200 miles to the south.

Mongolia Sends Apology.

ULAN BATOR, Outer Mongolia, July 8.—(AP)—The Mongolian government today sent a note to the Manchukuan foreign office offering a full apology if it is found that Mongolians were at fault in the arrest last June 23 of a Japanese officer and a soldier of the Japanese army in Manchukuo. Mongolians claimed the two had fired on a Mongolian border patrol.

The note made no reference to the demands made by Manchukuo and the Japanese army for the right to establish a corps of observers in Mongolia, a major point of dispute between the countries.

Renaissance Purples

Midsummer's most modern accent for white

Italian art, the Paris keynote for forthcoming fashions, inspired these stained glass purples, richly glowing and reminiscent of the romantic renaissance. Modern millinery genius created the stunning velvet styles in berets, off-the-face models, turbans and brims. There's utter flattery in the wide range of tones, breath-takingly vivid or softly mellow. And it's the season's most colorful note to set off frosty white to perfection.

HITLER TO BUILD 28 U-BOATS AND 2 BATTLESHIPS

First Submarine Placed in Commission.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 8.—Germany's first submarine was placed in commission on June 29 and two others have been launched, it was disclosed in an official statement tonight on new naval construction following the establishment of the Anglo-German naval agreement. Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's 1935 program for his new fleet embraces two capital ships, two cruisers, sixteen destroyers, and twenty-eight submarines.

Their keels already have been laid, or will be laid during the current year. Some of the destroyers' keels were laid down in 1934.

26,000 Ton Battleships.

Each capital ship—battleships—will be of 26,000 tons. The cruisers will be 10,000 ton craft. The destroyers are of 1,625 tons each.

The submarines are divided into three classes—twenty are of 250 tons each, six are of 500 tons each, and two of 750 tons each.

The number of guns carried by the vessels was not revealed. However, it was announced that the capital ships are being armed with 11 inch guns [28 centimeters or, actually, 11.0236 inches], the cruisers with 8 inch guns [20 centimeters or, actually, 7.874 inches] and the destroyers with 5 inch guns [12.7 centimeters or, actually, 4.99999 inches].

Plans already have been prepared for more battleships, the keels of which will be laid down in 1936 "in accordance with the principle of qualitative equality."

Plans also have been completed for construction of an aircraft carrier. Work on the vessel will begin in 1936.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 8.—The details of the German naval program, which were announced in Berlin tonight, already had been communicated to Great Britain, France, and other Washington treaty powers. Meanwhile, British naval expansion is necessitated, it is claimed, because of big foreign building programs and the expiration of the Washington treaty next year. Naval expansion now is being studied from every angle.

Important changes are expected to result. But in no circumstances, according to Hector Mywater, naval correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, will Britain enter naval competition with the United States.

Writing for Tuesday's issue of the paper, Bywater declares that however large is the building program which the United States may adopt when the treaty lapses, it will evoke no reply from England.

Stresses Close Accord.

Only if the American program led other nations to expand their fleets proportionately would Britain be compelled to maintain the balance by extra building, the correspondent says. Stressing the close accord of the Anglo-American naval policies, he states that on the British side the growing strength of the United States fleet in the Pacific causes no uneasiness, and, in fact, is considered a safeguard against war.

On the other hand, the United States, it is said, fully recognizes that adequate British naval strength in the eastern Atlantic and European waters is an essential factor to the maintenance of peace.

When the Washington and London treaties expire, Bywater states, Britain in due course will build ten more cruisers than were agreed upon at the London conference in 1930. Further, unless a future naval agreement effects a drastic cut in submarines and light surface vessels, Britain intends to develop its anti-submarine forces.

GERMAN POLICE ARREST PRIEST; SMUGGLED CASH

KREFELD, Germany, July 8.—(AP)—Another Catholic priest was added today to the ranks of some 50 nuns and monks awaiting trial on charges of smuggling money. The priest was arrested on the Netherlands border.

20 Belgians Arrested.

BERLIN, July 8.—(AP)—Border police, taking rigorous measures to prevent the smuggling of money out of Germany, arrested 20 Belgian tourists today at Trier. They confiscated the Belgians' excursion bus and reported that a search had revealed tin cans containing 5,000 marks [about $2,000] hidden in the gas tank. Those arrested were held to await trial.

Two Priests Jailed.

DRESDEN, Germany, July 8.—(AP)—Two Catholic priests, Fathers Schwartz and Kenter, were arrested today for the alleged dissemination of "subversive literature." Kenter was accused of distributing among his followers materials sent him by a former official of the Socialist party.

Oldest Is 83

Five generations of one family gathered last night for a reunion in the home of Mrs. Etta Sinks, 3539 5th avenue. The visit of William Brunson, 83 years old, of Nashville, Tenn., patriarch of the family, to his daughter, Mrs. Sinks, was the occasion of the celebration. The three other generations were Mrs. Sinks' daughter, Mrs. Lillian Harris, the latter's son, Charles Harris, 3130 West 42d place, and Harris' son, Charles Jr. All told, Brunson has 147 living descendants.

and water. Stranded motorists were rescued in boats. Federal transient relief officials are caring for the refugee homeless.

Rainfall 8.2 Inches.

DELHI—After an 8.2 inch rainfall, the valley of the west branch of the Delaware river was devastated. The crop loss was estimated at more than $1,000,000, with total damage at $2,000,000. Steeles brook overflowed into Clinton street, principal thoroughfare of the county seat, destroying every light frame building on the highway.

BATH—This community of 5,000 persons and surrounding parts of Steuben county paralyzed. Heavy loss of live stock and crops and thousands of acres of farm land washed away. Gas and electricity suspended, water and food shortage threaten. Food brought to 1,650 inmates of National Soldiers' home by boats.

CATSKILL—Bridge at Tannersville washed away. Clover road of Rip Van Winkle trail blocked by earth and bowlders. Tons of rock and dirt carried in an avalanche down Kaatterskill clove to Palenville. Five rescued from tree refuge at Woodstock.

Business District Gone.

DRYDEN—Several residents missing; village under 6½ feet of water. The business section was swept away by an avalanche of water, breaking through the village dam.

UTICA—The barge canal was closed from Herkimer eastward, with the water level 4½ feet above normal in the lower Mohawk valley. Hinckley and Delta reservoirs filled to overflowing.

ITHACA—Twelve are dead, several of whom were carried away by the flood waters, and many unaccounted for. The bridge at Myers collapsed, killing four.

TRUMANSBURG—More than a dozen buildings in the business section crashed and the débris was swept into Cayuga lake. Population of 1,700 evacuated.

Three Drown in Lake.

WATKINS GLEN — 140 families homeless, three persons drowned when a cottage was swept into Seneca lake.

Flood Reaches Pennsylvania.

Towanda, Pa., July 8.—(AP)—Flood waters from the violent week-end storms in New York state bore down on this section tonight with the Susquehanna river rising sixteen feet in a few hours and sending campers and cottagers scurrying to the hills.

Frank and James Burkhart, Donald Earle, and George Sergeant Jr., of Sayre, camping on an island near Athens, were marooned as rapidly rising water carried away their boat. They climbed trees and their cries for help finally attracted attention. Firemen are planning an attempt to rescue them tonight.

It was learned that a boy drowned and two people are missing as the result of their home being washed away by Yorkshire creek along the Lisle-Richford road in Tioga county, N. Y.

IT SEEMS THAT CLYDE IS JUST A BORN ESCAPER

Sergt. Edward Galvin of the detective bureau learned last night why a prisoner he and his squad arrested Saturday night at Polk and State streets made three desperate efforts to escape. A police bullet stopped him on his third attempt.

Sergt. Clarence H. Tebodo of the Hammond, Ind., police came to the detective bureau last evening seeking information about a Clyde Lamb who escaped from the Indiana penitentiary at Michigan City on April 11 while serving a 25 year term for robbery. Tebodo took a look at Galvin's prisoner, who had given his name as James Wilson. Tebodo identified him as Lamb.

Lamb admitted escaping in 1934 from a prison at Nashville, Tenn., and exhibited four bullet wounds encountered in brushes with the law in Tennessee, Indiana, and Illinois.

TOTAL AT WORK HITS ALL-TIME HIGH IN BRITAIN

2 Million Idle Is Low Mark for 14 Years.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 8.—On the eve of the unemployment debate in parliament, with the Labor opposition prepared to stage a slashing attack on the government, the ministry of labor tonight issued statistics showing more persons were working in Great Britain last month than at any time since the figures were first recorded 14 years ago.

The total of unemployed had dropped to the lowest for five years, on June 24 numbering 2,000,110. This was 44,642 less than the month before, and 92,476 fewer than at the same time last year.

Highest Number at Work.

On the same date there were 10,361,000 persons employed, which was stated to be the highest total of all time. The figure represents an increase of 27,000 over the previous month and 188,000 over the year before.

Most of the principal national industries shared the improvement, the chief exception being coal production. The summer slack period resulted in a temporary increase of 37,200 unemployed miners, seasonal increases in the number of idle persons in tailoring and motor vehicle and boot and shoe manufacturing.

In addition it was announced tonight that 2,000 families of unemployed persons will be settled on land within the next two years under schemes now planned by Malcolm Stewart, commissioner for the distressed areas in England and Wales.

Trained for Year on Land.

By arrangement with the unemployed assistance board, men will draw unemployment allowances for the first year, during which they will be trained in their new occupation by cultivating and preparing the land on which they will subsequently live.

In the face of improving conditions there is no doubt the Labor censure motion will be overwhelmingly defeated in the house of commons tomorrow night.

BRITAIN TO BUILD STEEL FORTS ON EASTERN COAST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 8.—The British government has decided to fortify strongly the east coast bases of Humber, Harwich, The Wash, Immingham, Leith, and Rosyth, both in Scotland.

New heavy 21 inch guns, the pride of the British artillery, will be mounted at these forts. The fortifications themselves will be razed to the ground. Instead of earth and reinforced concrete defenses, a chain of steel forts will be built. Immingham, moreover, will be developed as one of the chief submarine and destroyer bases.

BISHOP STRIVES TO BE RICHELIEU OF PHILIPPINES

Rebel Priest Runs for President.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, July 8.—Bishop Gregorio Aglipay, supreme head of the church he founded during the Philippine revolution against Spain, is capitalizing the deep seated Filipino hatred of the politics meddling Spanish friars and seeks to go Richelieu one better. Instead of wielding political power under the guise of his bishop's robe, he is anxious to govern the Philippines from Malacañang palace as president of the commonwealth. He recently announced that he is a candidate for that position.

Bishop Aglipay, like the other candidates, Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo and President Quezon of the senate, is one of the most glamorous figures in contemporary Philippine history. He has long been regarded a sort of a political boss in certain sections of the country, making and unmaking senators, representatives and provincial governors.

Stronger Than Aguinaldo.

He is a picturesque combination of priest, rebel in both the religious and political sense, and politician. Although he is not likely to win the election, he is regarded a stronger candidate than Aguinaldo.

Aglipay was educated for the Catholic priesthood and was ordained about 1875 when Spain was still the undisputed sovereign in the islands. Under Spain the Filipinos had very little to say religiously, politically and socially.

The revolution against Spain was truly a revolution in the social, political and religious sense. Aglipay headed its religious phase, while Aguinaldo was in command of its political and social sectors. At the start, he enlisted under Aguinaldo, but, paradoxically, the reform Aglipay achieved—the movement he led—has been more lastingly successful than any Aguinaldo can boast of.

Wore Colonel's Uniform.

The revolution found Aglipay in the ranks of the rebels. Instead of his habit, he wore a colonel's uniform. When Aguinaldo founded his "Malolos Republic" shortly after the arrival of the American forces, Aglipay also founded the "Philippine Independent church." And as Aguinaldo elected himself "president," Aglipay proclaimed himself "bishop."

He adopted every Catholic rite and every Catholic dogma. He placed himself in charge of the various religious orders and lifted the vow of celibacy among his priests.

One of the favorite theories of Bishop Aglipay is embodied in the following remark he made recently:

"In the Catholic Bible, it is said that when a blind soldier pierced Jesus Christ with his weapon, Jesus' blood spurted out sprinkling and curing his blind eye. But Jesus Christ had been dead for more than 24 hours, there could have been no live blood in his body at all!"

Despite many difficulties, Aglipay has kept his organization intact. In some sections of the country, especially in the northern Luzon provinces of which he is a native, his followers have a plurality over the followers of other religions.

According in political observers, neither Aglipay nor Aguinaldo has a chance of winning the election. Quezon, it is conceded, will be elected overwhelmingly.

HUNTING PIRATES FOR LOOTING OF GAMBLING SHIP

Long Beach, Cal., July 8.—[Special.]—The United States coast guard tonight was investigating the unusual case of piracy on the high seas, involving the luxurious gambling barge Monte Carlo, anchored eight miles off shore.

Five pirates, wearing black silk stockings over their heads, had swarmed up the side of the big steel barge about 4 a. m., chained the crew and escaped with about $32,000 in cash and jewelry. About $10,000 was in jewelry, left as security by patrons. The remainder was in cash, according to Ed Turner, owner of the boat.

Arrive in Fishing Boat.

The pirates came alongside in a fishing boat under cover of a heavy fog. That water logged small boat was found with a hole shot in it. The pirates, it seemed, left it to board a speedboat for their getaway.

The last patrons of the gambling boat had left for home at 3 a. m. Only the "mop up" crew of bartenders and janitors was at work; other attendants were asleep.

The boarding crew of pirates carried revolvers, rifles and sawedoff shotguns. They also had chains. With those they bound thirteen men on the gambling boat. As the raid was a surprise, there was almost no resistance.

"We won't hurt you if you remain quiet," the pirates' leader told J. M. Keller, cashier, who was at work with his wife, a bookkeeper, in the steel-walled counting room. Mrs. Keller was forced to lie on the floor. Her husband stood with raised hands while the safe was looted.

Coast Guards Called.

After the pirates fled the U. S. coast guard was summoned, since the case of piracy at sea is under federal law. The Long Beach police were asked to post guards at all likely landing piers.

The Monte Carlo, a former ocean liner about 400 feet long, is anchored far enough at sea to be outside the authority of Long Beach and California laws against gambling.

SWOLLEN RIVER RUNS UPHILL AND CLIMBS OVER DAM

Binghamton, N. Y., July 8.—(AP)—Binghamtonians who looked at the Susquehanna river today rubbed their eyes—and then looked again.

For the Susquehanna, normally placid stream that behaves itself and runs downhill as all good rivers should, was running uphill. And not only that, it was running backward over a dam.

There was reason for the phenomenon. So swollen was the boiling, débris-chocked Chenango river at its confluence with the Susquehanna here, that the Susquehanna's broad channel was unable to cope with the load, and the Susquehanna literally was pushed backward, up over Rockbottom dam, for more than a mile up its valley.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

JUDGE NORMOYLE CHOSEN HEAD OF CRIMINAL COURT

Judge Denis J. Normoyle was elected chief justice of the Criminal court at a meeting of the Circuit court judges in the county building yesterday. Judges of the Circuit and Superior courts fill this post in alternate years. The Circuit judges in their meeting also chose Judge Walter J. LaBuy chief justice of their court to succeed Judge Joseph Burke.

Judge Normoyle will succeed Judge Denis E. Sullivan as chief justice of the Criminal court. On Aug. 1 Sullivan, who was elected to the chief justiceship by the Superior court judges, will enter the Appellate court, to which he was recently appointed by the Illinois Supreme court.

Judge Sullivan has assigned Judge Cornelius J. Harrington to act as chief justice of the Criminal court from Aug. 1 until Judge Normoyle is sworn in on Sept. 2, the start of the new court year. It will be Judge Normoyle's second term as chief justice, he having been elected in 1929.

Judge Normoyle a Democrat.

The chief justice elect is a Democrat. He has served in the Circuit court since 1927, and for the last year has been hearing tax receivership cases. He is credited with accelerating collections of delinquent taxes from income producing properties.

In a statement issued upon learning of his election, Judge Normoyle pledged himself to "keep up the good work carried on by my predecessor, Judge Sullivan."

"In recent months," Judge Normoyle said, "much progress has been made in bringing the Criminal court docket up to date, thus promoting speedier trial of pending cases. With the aid of the other Criminal court judges I shall endeavor to keep the calendar, now in the most 'solvent' condition in the court's history, as clear as it is humanly possible to keep it."

Feinberg a Republican.

The names of both Judge Harrington and Judge Michael Feinberg had previously been mentioned in the deliberations over the choice of a new Criminal court head.

It was reported that opposition to Judge Feinberg hinged largely on the fact that he is a Republican, while the personnel of both the Circuit and Superior courts is overwhelmingly Democratic. The main objection to Judge Harrington's choice was his comparative youth and brief service, it was reported. He has served in the Circuit court since last year.

NINE SLUGGING SUSPECTS DUCK IN AND DUCK OUT

While four squads of state's attorney's police were seeking them, nine business agents of the Chicago Building Trades council appeared in the state's attorney's office yesterday for questioning in connection with a Berwyn slugging. After waiting a few minutes, the union men departed, announcing they will return today.

The nine were sought in connection with the slugging on June 27 of Joseph Lid, 55 years old, 6529 West 29th street, Berwyn. Lid was beaten for protesting against the invasion of his home by twelve men who chased away two plasterers and a carpenter working on the home, on the ground that one plasterer is a year behind in his union dues.

Last week Attorney William D. Wollesen promised to produce the union business agents on Monday. When the men had failed to appear two hours after the appointed time yesterday, Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty assigned the police squads to hunt them, then departed.

One of those who appeared yesterday was Henry J. Mock of the carpenter's union, said to have been identified as one of Lid's assailants.

WILSON SWORN AS JUSTICE OF SUPREME COURT

Judge Francis S. Wilson, formerly of the Cook County Circuit court, yesterday took the oath of office as a justice of the Illinois Supreme court, to fill the vacancy caused last fall by the death of Justice Frederic R. De Young. The brief ceremony was performed in the chambers of the Illinois Appellate court at 30 North Michigan avenue, where Judge Wilson had sat for several years. Justice Warren H. Orr of the Supreme court administered the oath. Justice Wilson was elected to the high court on July 1.

ROBS AUTOISTS AND STORE.

After taking $35 from Clarence McGill and James Taylor as they were putting their car into the garage at the rear of their home at 8129 South Michigan avenue, two robbers yesterday morning obtained $45 when they entered a drug store at 1327 East 79th street.

ENDS OWN LIFE

DR. W. E. SEALOCK.

Omaha, Neb., July 8.—[Special.]—The sudden death last night of Dr. W. E. Sealock, dismissed Omaha Municipal university president, today was termed suicide by poison. Coroner's Investigator M. D. Jaap, who announced that finding, said no inquest would be held.

Paul L. Martin, who resigned as a regent of the university because of Dr. Sealock's ouster, disclosed that the former president ended his life within three hours after he learned a last attempt to obtain his reinstatement had failed. Dr. Sealock was dismissed two weeks ago for unstated reasons.

While Dr. Sealock died before the eyes of his wife and daughter, a request from his friends was on a mail train to Washington asking the American Association of University Professors to investigate his unexplained dismissal by the university board of regents.

The discharge followed rejection by the regents as unfounded Sealock's charge that a "spy system" existed on the campus. It was said the regents resented his defense of "academic freedom."

SIX SAVED WHEN FLAMING YACHT SINKS OFF N. Y.

Northport, N. Y., July 8.—[Special.]—Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Calderone of Westbury, with four guests and Capt. John Hamilton, narrowly escaped death this morning when their 80 foot yacht Lorelei, a two-masted auxiliary sloop, burst into flames and sank in Long Island sound.

Coast guardsmen effected a record time rescue when they sped to the scene in a new power surfboat.

The Calderone party included Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Jones of New York City, R. R. Morgan of New London, Conn.; A. S. Hutchinson of Oyster Bay, and Miss Elsie Alherding of Hempstead.

Robbers Shoot Druggist Reaching for Revolver

Gabriel Benosius, 45 years old, was shot four times yesterday by two robbers who invaded his drug store at 2612 West 71st street. The gunmen opened fire when Benosius reached for a revolver. They took $60 from the cash register and fled.

ORDERS ARREST OF SEVENTY FOR ELECTION FRAUD

Jarecki Acts on Evidence Against Polls Officials.

Writs for the arrest of 70 polls officials accused of election fraud were issued by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday. Bonds for each defendant were fixed at $2,500. The acts of fraud alleged were committed at the primary election of April 10, 1934, the general election of Nov. 6, 1934, and the city election of last April 2.

The names of the accused polls judges and clerks were suppressed by Judge Jarecki pending service of the writs. The defendants are cited to show why they should not be held in contempt of court because of irregularities discovered in their tabulations of the votes in their precincts.

Basis of Contempt Action.

Since election officials serve as agents of the county court, offenses they commit in performance of their duties are regarded as direct acts of contempt.

The complaints on which the writs were based were presented by Attorneys Charles E. Lounsbury and Thomas J. Johnson Jr. They were appointed special prosecutors for the Cook county board of election commissioners, following disclosures made by representatives of the Citizens' association, the Women's Civic council, and others interested in clean elections.

Those named in the writs include all the judges and clerks in 14 precincts where irregularities in the vote count were indicated. These precincts are scattered throughout the city, it was indicated.

Polls Watchers Give Evidence.

Evidence against the defendants, Attorney Johnson said, was obtained largely through statements made to the interested civic groups and the special prosecutors by watchers at the polls. In some instances, he said, fraud was indicated by the fact that votes recorded for certain candidates exceeded the total registered vote for the precinct polling place.

Johnson said that the complaints against the polls officials were prepared several days ago, but action was delayed because of the absence from the city of John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the board of election commissioners, whose signature was required on each complaint.

Valuable Legal Papers Stolen from Sbarbaro

John A. Sbarbaro, former Municipal court judge, who is now a master in chancery in the Circuit court, reported to the police yesterday that thieves had stolen two suitcases from his automobile, parked in front of his office at 10 South La Salle street, on Sunday. One of the suitcases contained several valuable legal papers relating to matters pending before Mr. Sbarbaro. He appealed to the thieves to return them.

GILL'S $3,000,000 BOND APPROVED BY COUNTY BOARD

Only Four Sweitzer Sureties on List.

The county board yesterday approved a $3,000,000 bond underwritten by eighteen surety companies for County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill. This bond supplants a personal one for the same amount provided by four friends of Mr. Gill when he took office June 7, following the ouster of Robert M. Sweitzer by the board.

Only four of the companies signing Gill's bond are on the list of 18 which underwrote Sweitzer's. The board was informed that although Sweitzer's bond was only in effect for six months—from last December to June—the county will be billed for $15,000, the cost of the bond for a year.

Four Supply First Bond.

Gill's friends who supplied the personal bond without charge are Philip K. Wrigley and James C. Cox, vice president of the Wrigley company, who signed for $1,000,000 each; and John P. Harding, restaurant owner, and Martin J. McNally, a real estate man, who signed for $500,000 each.

Assistant State's Attorney William J. Touhy told the county board that if Sweitzer should be successful in regaining his office through pending quo warranto proceedings against Gill, Sweitzer's old bond will hold good. Chief Justice Joseph Burke of the Circuit court yesterday continued the quo warranto case to this morning because of a judges' meeting during the afternoon.

Seek Funds in Closed Banks.

The board instructed the state's attorney's office to take steps to recover $1,133,391 in claims against eleven closed banks for county funds deposited in them. Of these claims about $798,958 has been put into judgment through suits started by the late County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough.

Assistant State's Attorney Touhy told the board that the state Supreme court in one recent ruling held that such public deposits do not constitute preferred claims. He said, however, that steps would be taken to recover the money from surety companies on the ground that they are liable for the losses on the $3,000,000 bond for McDonough. It was further revealed that recovery action will involve the estate of Mr. McDonough.

Recently surety companies obtained passage of legislation freeing them of future liability for public funds lost through the closing of banks.

ARMY FLYERS FACE RIGID NEW PROGRAM OF DUTY EACH YEAR

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staf, today set up a special board to supervise rigorous flying tests for army air corps officers. His action recalled the order issued by President Theodore Roosevelt which sent army officers galloping horseback over the countryside to prove their fitness and weed out the physically unqualified.

The tests to be given will make each flying officer qualify with a minimum of 100 hours in the air each year.

That 100 hours must include:

Thirty-five hours of aerial navigation, including one flight of at least 500 miles with two intermediate landings; 10 hours instrument flying, including a minimum of five hours blind flying; 10 hours night flying, including a night navigation flight of two hours; five hours of formation flying.

All pilots unable to meet the requirements are expected to be transferred to non-flying duty or to some other branch of the army.

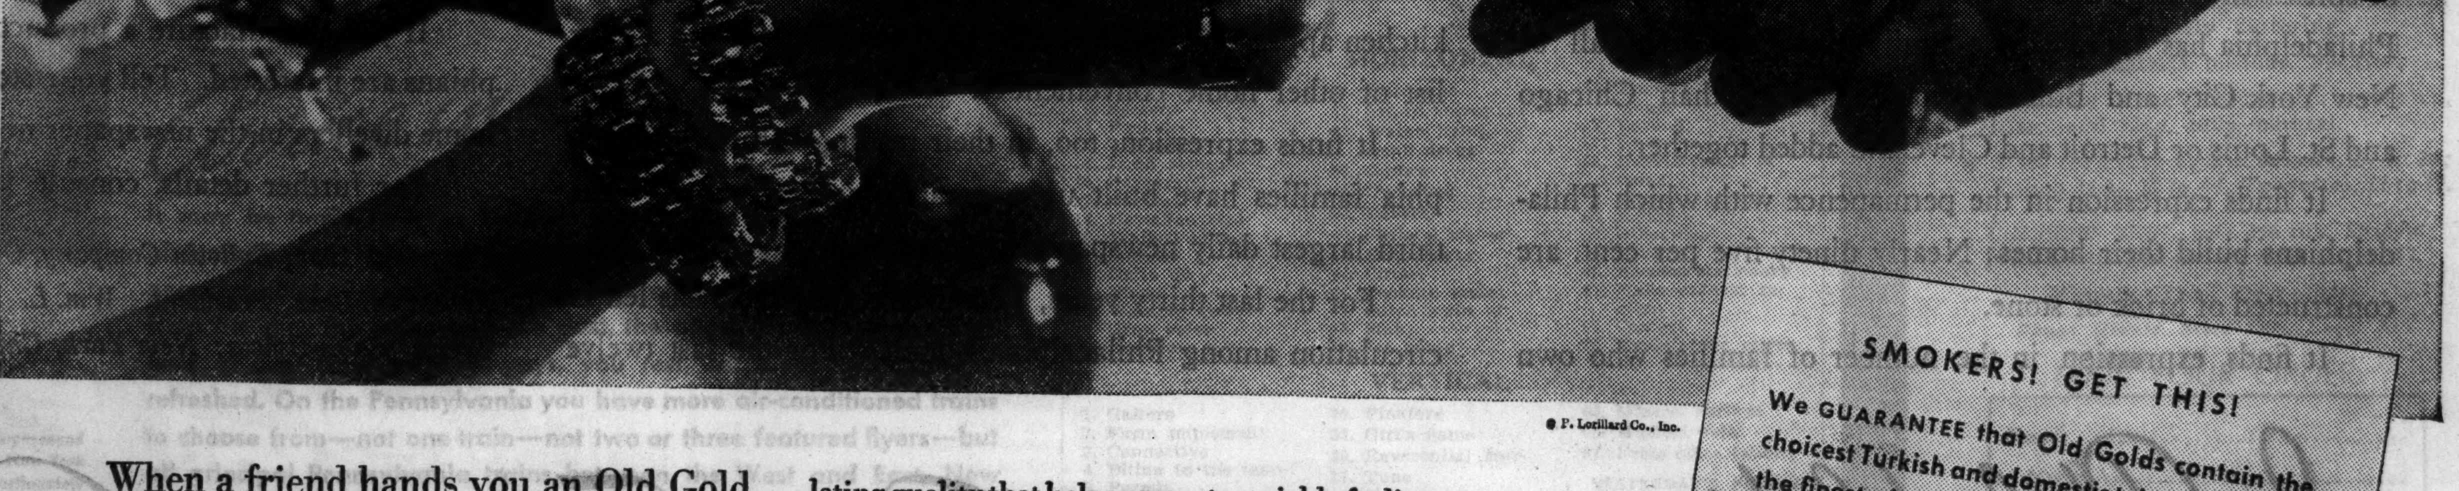
"Have a Young Idea!"

Stimulating ... but never irritating



© P. Lorillard Co., Inc.

When a friend hands you an Old Gold cigarette with the smiling command: "Have a young idea!" don't think he's speaking wholly in jest.

He believes, and so do we, that there's a refreshing charm about an Old Gold. A certain stimulating quality that helps promote amiable feelings.

We don't say an Old Gold will make an optimist of a pessimist. But we do say there's a genial "pick-me-up" in this sunny-smooth cigarette. The gentle stimulant that Nature gives to her choicest and mildest tobacco.

SMOKERS! GET THIS!

We GUARANTEE that Old Golds contain the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos grown; the finest obtainable at any price. Only such fine old tobaccos can give that natural aroma and fragrance of Old Gold cigarettes.

heritage

There is an imperishable quality about the home instinct in Philadelphia. It has continued through the generations—a heritage from sturdy founders who braved hardships in a new land and hewed homes out of a wilderness.

It finds expression in many ways: In an independence of spirit which demands the privacy of an individual home. Philadelphia has more single-family dwellings than all of New York City and Buffalo combined, more than Chicago and St. Louis or Detroit and Cleveland added together.

It finds expression in the permanence with which Philadelphians build their homes: Nearly ninety-five per cent. are constructed of brick or stone.

It finds expression in the number of families who own their homes: More than fifty per cent. at the 1930 United States Census.

It finds expression in the buying habits of the people; in their keen interest in any product which adds to the comfort of living; in their quick adoption of modern refrigeration, modern heating plants, improved laundry facilities, up-to-date kitchen appliances, improved bathroom equipment and a long list of other home conveniences.

It finds expression, too, in their reading habits: Philadelphia families have built up a great home newspaper — the third largest daily newspaper in America.

For the last thirty years, The Evening Bulletin has led in circulation among Philadelphia homes. For the last twelve years it has averaged more than half a million net paid daily. 1934 average—511,647. (1933—504,822). Two and one-half times the circulation of any other Philadelphia evening newspaper and more than the morning newspapers combined.

Numerically, that circulation represents nearly every home in Philadelphia and surrounding suburbs. But more important . . . It represents reading interest in those homes, for The Bulletin obtains no readers by premiums, circulation contests or other artificial methods.

For the past three years—1932, 1933, and 1934—The Philadelphia Bulletin has carried more national advertising than any other six-day newspaper in America.

If you manufacture a product for the home, Philadelphians are interested. Tell your story to this great group of home dwellers in the newspaper nearly everybody reads.

MAYOR PREDICTS STREET REPAIRING JOBS FOR 29,000

Work Will Start Before Snow Flies, He Says.

Mayor Kelly declared yesterday that 29,000 heads of relief families will be put to work "before the snow flies" on Chicago's proposed $31,000,000 street improvement project which is awaiting approval at Washington. Meanwhile Robert J. Dunham, Illinois works progress administrator, conducted an all-day "school" for his five newly appointed district directors.

"We will get the $31,000,000," Mayor Kelly said. "I expect to see the work of resurfacing 400 miles of city streets and grading 100 miles of unimproved streets get under way before the snow flies.

City to Supply $1,000,000.

"I have talked to Mr. Dunham and he has every confidence that $31,000,000 will be used to put 29,000 men to work under the President's four billion dollar program. Mr. Dunham informed me that the city will have to furnish $1,000,000 for supervisory labor. I know now that I can get this money, so nothing stands in the way of the street project."

Ralph Burke, deputy state administrator of PWA, following Mr. Dunham's informatory session for the district directors, said that the street and boulevard repair program of the city and the Chicago park district is being broken down into at least 50 projects.

"This is being done," he explained, "at the suggestion of the treasury department to make possible more efficient administration and closer supervision. The projects have not yet been presented for approval to an allotment board."

Burke said a survey of work relief projects now in operation under the Illinois Emergency Relief commission is expected to show that most of them are worthy of being continued by PWA.

IERC Canning Starts July 15.

In the principal "help yourself" program of the IERC—subsistence gardening—it was announced yesterday that canning of surplus produce will start July 15 in counties south of Springfield. Peas and beans will comprise most of the material for the early canning operations, although relief families in many southern counties will also can cherries, blackberries, and apples at this time.

Private orchard owners in many localities, it was said, are giving relief clients the job of picking their crops on a share basis. In this way the clients get a supply of fruit for immediate use and for canning.

Clients take their produce to IERC canning centers and assist in its preparation, surrendering one of every five cans of the product to the commission for use of the facilities. The IERC's share is then distributed among shelters, transient centers, and families on direct relief who are not able to have gardens.

Identify Body of Girl Found on Lake Shore

The body of a young woman clad in a bathing suit, which was washed ashore from the lake at the foot of North Shore avenue early yesterday, was identified last night as that of Miss Myrtle Flanagan, 27 years old, 6540 Glenwood avenue. Her brother-in-law, Frank Holzfeind, 1340 North Shore avenue, who made the identification, told the police that Miss Flanagan had gone to the lake for an early morning swim.

LAKE CO. HOMES PROJECT LOST IN SEA OF RED TAPE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—Lake county's subsistence homestead project is dead as a "homestead" development, but what will happen to the 30 families who entrusted their future to the New Deal venture is still befogged by brain trust red tape, inquiry disclosed today.

Dropping of the Lake county, Ill., project as a subsistence homestead undertaking was recommended in a report submitted to Rexford Guy Tugwell, head brain truster, after he became chief of rural resettlement and took over all "back to the land" movements of the New Deal, it was learned.

Leads to Closing Order.

This report led to Tugwell's curt order sent to George F. Gonsalves, Evanston, manager of the project, on Saturday telling him to close his office, fire his staf, and report to Washington at once.

Fate of the Lake county project has now been placed in the hands of Dr. Carl Taylor, a sub-brain truster who has charge of Tugwell's new rural resettlement experiment. The project is no longer classed as a subsistence homestead undertaking. Robert K. Straus, homestead chief, apparently regarding the Lake county abandonment as a hot potato, was plainly relieved to be able to announce today that he had nothing to do with it.

Dr. Taylor reputedly is studying the Lake county project to determine whether the brain trust thinks it worthy of reviving as a "rural resettlement" project instead of a "homestead" venture, but what this change of titles, if it is made, will mean to the 30 families whose futures are at stake the New Dealers cannot say.

Homes One Moot Point.

So new is the Tugwell organization that none of its parts knew quite what they are to do. Officials were entirely unable to say what "rural resettlement" could do for the Lake county families. Whether homes will be built for them as was originally planned no one would predict.

Two weeks may elapse before Dr. Taylor can say whether he will take the project under his wing, his aids say. He conferred today with Mr. Gonsalves.

Ceremony at Dinner

Mayor Kelly was decorated last night as Commendatore of the Crown of Italy by Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul general in Chicago, at a dinner given by Italian-American business men at the Congress hotel. The honor was bestowed by the Italian government for the mayor's "kind treatment of Italian guests to the city." Mayor Kelly was also made a member of the honorary committee in charge of events for observance of Italian day on Sept. 14 at the Navy pier.

12 WOMEN BLIND AFTER THEY USE ANTI-FAT DRUG

San Francisco, Cal., July 8.—(AP)—Twelve San Francisco bay region women who have been taking dinitrophenol, the newly developed anti-fat drug, have been stricken with temporary blindness in recent months, it was disclosed here today by Dr. Loren Chandler, dean of the Stanford university medical school.

Dr. Chandler and Dr. Walter W. Boardman, who reported the cases to the Journal of the American Medical Association, declared it has not been determined whether the blindness, which resulted from cataracts forming over the eyes, was caused by the drug.

Clinical investigations are being conducted by the school in an effort to learn whether the blindness resulted from the drug or from malnutrition, unbalanced diet, or other factors.

Dr. Chandler estimated probably one million persons, including 100,000 American women, are using the reducing drug at present.

Dr. Chandler said school authorities advise against use of the drug "for the present."

The use of dinitrophenol as a means of reducing has grown rapidly during the last four years. It acts as a stimulant to metabolism, it was explained, literally "burning up" excess fat.

Widow's Son Found Dead, Apparently Poison Suicide

The body of Robert Hubacker, 24 years old, was found yesterday in the garage at 1266 Elmwood avenue, Deerfield, where he had lived with his mother, Mrs. Alma Hubacker, a widow. Police said the young man apparently took poison, but an autopsy will be performed.

UTILITIES MOVE TO PUT SALE TAX UPON CONSUMER

Petitions to Commerce Commission Drawn.

Large public utilities operating in Illinois will petition the state commerce commission in the near future for authority to pass the 3 per cent sales tax on to their customers. Among the petitioners will be the Commonwealth Edison, Illinois Bell Telephone, Public Service, and Western Union Telegraph companies.

This was learned yesterday at the commerce commission's offices where members of the staf have been studying the status of the various utilities to determine whether or not they should be permitted to pass the tax on. The legislature, at its last session, increased the tax from 2 to 3 per cent and expanded its scope to include utilities.

Asks How to Collect Tax.

Last week Chairman Benjamin F. Lindheimer announced the tax must be absorbed by a utility company unless it can convince the commission that its financial standing would be jeopardized. Issuance of the statement was prompted by queries from some of the utilities as to what method they might use to collect the tax from consumers.

The Western Union company asked if it might not add the amount of the tax to the cost of telegrams with points of origin and address within Illinois.

The Commonwealth Edison, suggested to the commission the form that it might use in adding the tax to its electricity bills.

The Illinois Bell Telephone company informally submitted financial figures as evidence it could not absorb the tax without impairing its financial structure.

Estimate Tax At 7 Million.

It was estimated that the tax on all of the gas, electric, telephone, water, and related utility businesses in Illinois would amount to about $7,000,000 yearly. The tax on the Illinois Bell Telephone company alone would be $2,000,000, and on the Edison company $1,750,000.

Irving Rooks, attorney for the commission, said that all of the utilities have been instructed on the procedure they must follow in petitioning to pass the tax on to customers. After the ability or inability of a company to absorb the tax has been determined by the commission, an order granting or denying the petition will be entered. Where a company is allowed to charge the tax against custor rs, the suggested form may be ordered printed on each bill.

"The gross and net amounts appearing on this bill have been increased by a sum equal to 3 per cent on all items subject to tax under the public utility tax act passed by the Illinois general assembly, effective July 1, 1935, to be used solely for unemployment relief."

ADMIRAL DOWNES WILL BE HONORED AT FORT SHERIDAN

Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station and the Ninth naval district, will be honored at 3 o'clock this afternoon with a formal review by the entire garrison of Fort Sheridan under command of Brig. Gen. Dana T. Merrill. The army is giving the review as a neighborly gesture in connection with the reopening of the naval training station on July 1. It had been closed for two years.

When Admiral Downes arrives at the main gate of the army post, artillery will fire a thirteen gun salute. He and his staf will be escorted to the reviewing stand by the first battalion of the 2d infantry, commanded by Maj. G. D. Hufford. Other troops participating in the review will be the 1st squadron of the 14th cavalry and the 61st coast artillery regiment. A total of 900 men will participate.

The public has been invited to witness the review. Parking space has been provided.

RICH U. S. TOBACCO EXECUTIVE, 50, WEDS HIS SECRETARY, 39

LONDON, July 8.—(AP)—A business office romance resulted in the marriage today of George Washington Hill, "million dollar a year" American Tobacco executive, and his secretary, Mary Barnes. The 50 year old president of the American Tobacco company and Miss Barnes, 39, were wed in the Caxton Hall register office with nine relatives and friends in attendance.

After the brief ceremony Hill gave his bride an affectionate kiss as they passed Buckingham palace in a taxicab en route to a downtown hotel. The guests followed in other taxis to a champagne party at the hotel.

The tobacco magnate wore a dark blue suit with brown shoes, a black bow tie and carried a stick. His bride wore a blue dress of plain material and a navy blue hat. She carried a large spray of white orchids. For fees and the license the "million dollar a year" executive paid out £2 14 shillings 7 pence, or about $13.25.

Among those attending the wedding were Hill's brother-in-law, Maurice Boyer, director of the Bank of France, and Mrs. Boyer, Hill's sister [Katherine]; the bride's brother, Robert Barnes, and Hill's daughter by his first marriage, Miss Gertrude Hill.

DENIES PLEA OF POLICEMAN FOR GUARD VACATION

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Schmuck today denied an application by Frank C. Smith, a trafic policeman, to compel Police Commissioner Valentine to grant him 16 days' leave of absence with pay because he is a captain in the state militia's field artillery and has been ordered to attend maneuvers.

The application was opposed by the commissioner on the ground that some sixty other policemen are members of federal or state military organizations and to grant this application might cause all the others to apply for leave.

MAN FALLS DEAD AS RIOTERS BEAT SHERIF AT SALE

Farmers Stop Foreclosure on Cattle in Wisconsin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Barron, Wis., July 8.—[Special.]—One spectator suffered a fatal heart attack, the sherif, a deputy and another bystander were severely beaten, and many others incurred less serious hurts this afternoon during a riot at a sherif's sale of cattle to satisfy a $450 mortgage.

Members of the Farm Holiday association from Barron and Polk counties, who precipitated the battle, succeeded in stopping the sale. Immediately following the restoration of some order the sherif deputized the Barron county fire department to maintain peace in the city seething with partisan feeling.

Watches from His Porch.

R. K. Irwin, 70, fell dead of heart attack as he watched from his back porch while 40 or 50 Farm Holiday members fought with Sherif Otto I. Anderson, deputies and others at the sales pavilion nearby.

Sherif Anderson had just prepared to get under way with the sale of eight head of live stock belonging to Andrew Horning, Vance Creek farmer, when he was rushed by the Farm Holiday members. The sherif knocked one man down before he was downed himself and subjected to a severe kicking and beating. He was rescued by three of his deputies and other friends in the crowd.

Deputy Sherif Alvah Klumpner was taken to the city hospital here, kicked and bruised. Carl Warwick, a bystander, was set upon as he argued with a woman objector to the sale. He was rescued by his son, Edward Warwick, a school teacher, only after a severe beating.

No Arrests Are Made.

No serious injury to any of the Farm Holiday members was reported, although many persons, both sale and anti-sale sympathizers, suffered bruises, scratches and torn clothing.

No arrests had been made tonight, but an investigation was under way preliminary to the service of warants on rioters for attacking and resisting an officer.

The mortgagor to settle whose claims the sale was to have been held is the Polk County Professional bureau, a collection agency.

'POISON HIGHBALL' SLAYER OF DOCTOR WINS FULL PARDON

Jackson, Miss., July 8.—(AP)—The office of Gov. Sennett Conner today announced the executive had signed a full pardon for Dr. Sara Ruth Dean, Greenwood physician convicted of the "poison highball" slaying of Dr. John Preston Kennedy of Greenwood.

Dr. Dean, under life sentence, was convicted a year ago on charges of giving Dr. Kennedy, her former clinical associate, a drink of poisoned whisky at a farewell tryst.

The state Supreme court recently by a 3 to 3 tie decision upheld the sentence, and it was then that she appealed to the governor for a pardon.

CRUSHED BY OWN TRACTOR.

Galesburg, Ill., July 8.—[Special.]—Laurel W. Clark, 35, was killed on a farm near Maquon today when he was crushed beneath his tractor. He was driving the machine up the steep side of a creek when it fell over backward.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

A FREE MAN'S PROPERTY.

English property rights were extinguished by William after the conquest when the country was placed under that great planned society, feudalism, a neat plan, embracing everything and every one in its minute comprehension. The rights were not fully regained and made complete until they were embodied in the protections of the American constitution.

People must have thought a great deal of these property rights and held them dear. They struggled some seven hundred years to get them back after the planned society had taken them away. English rights before the conquest were not complete by any means, but certain men could dispose of their land by deed or by devise, whereas under feudalism no man could hold except of the king.

The spirit of medievalism was unity under the church, one church, one state, one law, all under the church. England, being insular, escaped from the empire. William, bringing feudalism across the channel from the continent, desired every one under him to be his man, but he himself desired to be nobody's man. Feudalism permitted use but not ownership of property. Every one who used land used it in return for certain services unless he were of so low an order that he used none for his own purposes and worked as commanded for his lord. The services were diversified from the military duties of the principal lords and their subordinates to the duties of the man who worked in his lord's fields certain days of the week. Some services were largely nominal. One man, we'll say, held under condition of furnishing three arrows when the king hunted in Dartmoor.

The human instinct is for ownership. Desire for it began to break through the feudal walls. Services, after all, were not as satisfactory as rent. The king could do more with money than he could with stipulated periods of military service or work. Gradually a substitution of money payments for services occurred. Then the church invented lawyers, or, like Topsy, they grew, and lawyers invented devices and means of doing something which by weaseling through a rule seemed not to break it. Gradually men acquired the right to alienate their holdings by deed which acknowledged that they had somehow acquired a fee in the land, but they couldn't dispose of land by will. It grew customary that an heir succeeded his ancestor by descent, but only God could make an heir. The property then did not escheat. These privileges and rights encroached more and more upon the simple feudal doctrin of holding.

When the holder died, however, and his heir succeeded, the lord did something which we may now find familiar, the like of a growing modern practice. The lord entered the inherited estate and took what was called heriot. He took the best animal or the best jewels. He took the best of whatever had been left to the heir. Death was the occasion for the despoiling of the heir. It was regarded as compensation and not as robbery, but nevertheless the incident of death was the occasion for profit to the lord, who now, in this particular and this time, is the government.

The lawyers and their devices after a while made it possible for a man in effect to devise his land. They invented the doctrin of trusts and uses. A man willed the use of his land and presently it was about the same thing as leaving it by will, because possession of the land became attached to the use of it. When this practice had notoriously become too incongruous to be overlooked, the necessity of giving it legal sanction produced the statute of wills in the time of Henry VIII.

Then there were a number of ingenious devices to free the land from its inherited burdens and obligations. Ways were invented by which a fiction of purchase could be attached to land descending to an heir so that when he got it he got it shorn of all the conditions which had descended with it and would have descended upon him. If he got it by one of these fictitious purchases it was his in the freest ownership and possession that could be. Still there were entailed estates which descended by primogeniture to the eldest son.

This meager account is enough, possibly, to show how the desire for ownership patiently endured, struggled, and succeeded against the suppression of it. The progress went step by step with the unsuppressable desire for personal liberty. Ownership and liberty had the same cradle. It was natural that when the freest government men had known was created under the American constitution there was granted under it the freest ownership. Seven hundred years had been required to unchain the principle that property is liberty and that liberty is life.

To destroy this principle and substitute another for it had needed only a few years in the life of William. The contrast may be edifying. It is self-evident that the free possession and use of property is possible only when the people control their government, when the government cannot deprive them of their property by taxation or confiscation. Representative democracy, through which the people say what government may take and what it may not, is the political device by which security is given to possessions by which man lives, without which he dies. If representative democracy should turn its power against itself it will create another form of society which may not be called feudalism, but in it each man will hold what he has not by right but by permission.

A BILL TO CREATE A TYRANNY.

The senate is about to vote on the amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment act which have been requested by Secretary Wallace.

The amendments are intended, in the first place, to spare the AAA from the fate which the NRA met at the hands of the Supreme court. The changes under this head are chiefly verbal. They do not call for any modification of the essential nature of the AAA. They do not alter the underlying theory of AAA and they do not seriously interfere with the power of the burocracy in Washington to boss the individual farmer and soak the housewives of the nation.

On the contrary, as Mr. Henning showed the other day, the amendments actually go further than does the existing act in giving the politicians autocratic power over the nation's food and clothing supply. For example, under the act as it now stands, the secretary of agriculture has to call it a day once the price of a given crop has reached the theoretical parity set forth in the law. Under the amendments he can continue to boss the farmers who grow this crop and can continue his price-boosting measures at the expense of consumers, regardless of the movement of prices. All he has to do is make a formal finding, based on such evidence as he may care to listen to, that the outlook for the next year is discouraging and requires additional measures of restriction.

The welfare of the farmers is the merest pretext. The AAA amendments are concerned only incidentally with farmers. The primary purpose of this legislation is to promote a revolutionary change in the government of the United States. The individual citizen is to be deprived of his liberty and the authority of the job holders in Washington is to be correspondingly enhanced. The attempt to achieve this objective directly through NRA failed but the New Dealers have not altered their determination. They are resolved to create a tyranny in this country and they are hoping that the widespread sympathy for farmers will give them an entering wedge.

A control of the processors of farm commodities can be extended to a control of their advertising, and once that is accomplished the freedom of the press is imperiled. On the one hand the revenue of free newspapers is threatened, and without revenue newspapers must die. On the other hand, the right of certain American citizens to use the press has been curtailed and a precedent for gagging has been established.

It is to accomplish such ends that the AAA amendments have been introduced. The New Dealers hope that their new agricultural act will be approved by congress and the courts. If it is, they will have re-defined interstate commerce to suit their ends. They will have modified the American theory of the right of a citizen to a fair trial radically. A departmental hearing with only limited appeal to the courts will be substituted for a full hearing. And so on.

Let there be no mistake about it. The AAA bill is a bill to create a tyranny.

SUGGESTED TO BAILIF HORAN.

Bailif Al Horan of the Municipal court is the victim of too much coincidence. While his driver is in court trying to account for a shooting affair, the driver being the shooter, and answering charges of assault, a deputy loses a tough prisoner who has just been sentenced in court. Coincidences of this nature suggest that the bailif is careless in the selection and discipline of his help, a fault he'd better remedy before he and his force have more to explain than they can explain.

Editorial of the Day

[Spokane Spokesman-Review.]

Senator Borah, who has joined hands with Senator Huey Long of Louisiana to "smoke out" the President and force action at this session, says it is "absurd" to call the proposal either a "share the wealth" or "soak the rich" program. He thinks it is "sound economically" and "in morals," and that it would be "more conducive to recovery" than "reckless voting of bonds" to pass on the cost to future generations.

Has it occurred to Senator Borah that that will depend on the uses to which the administration may apply the added billions that are to be had from heavier taxation? True, the President said in his recent message that he would "earmark" the large sums to be derived from heavier taxes and apply them to reduction of the public debt. But what assurance can the country have that he would hold to that promise?

Certainly assurance will not be found in a comparison of his past professions with the acts of his administration. As governor of New York, as candidate for the presidency, as avowed supporter of the Democratic national platform of 1932, and in campaign speeches that year he professed principles and made pledges that do not square with the record of his administration.

The dangerous idea has been implanted in the minds of millions on relief that they are entitled to it, and indeed have been cheated out of what should be coming to them from the government. How are they to be pushed off the relief rolls when the Upton Sinclairs, the Dr. Townsends, the Huey Longs, and the President are whooping up that idea?

The high danger of the program Senator Borah says he is for is that later, under pressing demands for more relief and more forced spending from the federal treasury, the President would forget all about "earmarking" the additional funds for retirement of the debt as he has forgotten so many past pledges.

"G-MEN WILL SHORT WAVE Broadcast Country-Wide in War on Crime."—Headline. Yes, and so after you've told the family you've got to go back to the office for a conference with the boss and the high pressure sales force the radio will squawk out: "Watch for three bandits in low green car with Iowa license number. This desperate gang have just held up ten people and shot three." Or else the short wave broadcast will say: "Dangerous gunmen lurking at corner of Bruce and Spruce. If they take your money and sock you in the jaw send word to Washington as soon as you get out of the hospital." After which you'll probably say: "Well, I don't think it's a very important conference anyhow, and the boss said for me not to come if I didn't feel well. And to tell the truth I think I'm going to be sick. Anyhow, my feet are awful cold. Think I'll go to bed."

AND WISE PEOPLE, especially eminent statesmen, sneer at the very idea of a third party. But is it so silly? The Republican party (you remember the Republican party, don't you?) was once a third party and it suddenly rose to be a mighty influential one, ruling this country for a great many years. Wonder what's become of that party, anyhow?

QUERIES IN THE MIDDLE OF THE YEAR.

Now comes July; the year is half-way done.
The Spring is gone—the Summer on its way;
A year half over that seems but begun,
And we sit helpless who would bid it stay.
Where go the days that pass us one by one?
Where go the full spent sweet or tragic hours?
Are they but ended when their time is run,
More wholly lost than withered autumn flowers?
Since flowers that bloom, and scent the air, and die,
Leave fallen petals in some garden place,
And days, despite the signs we mark them by,
Are gone without one outward proving trace?
Or have the golden days, since time began,
Been stored away that they may live again?

DOWN IN ST. LOUIS the first protest has been made against the ladies drinking in saloons. They call 'em bar flies and say they only buy one drink and then mootch the rest of their lickers from the men customers. How rude! But the gals brought it on themselves. They won the everlasting dislike of the barkeeps who are their severest critics by going up to the bar and ordering a Manhattan or a Martini and then telling the bartender what to put in it. In the old days when only men lined up against the bar did you ever hear of a man telling Andy Monihan or Frank over at Stillson's or Little Johnnie Dugan around at the Sherman how to make a cocktail? They'd have been carried out on a shutter. If the girls would only observe some of the ethics of the art of polite drinking they wouldn't have got into all this trouble.

Life is a brevity burdened too much
By visions our dreams have essayed.
Let us return to the wind's cool touch,
To quiet things that have stayed.

All of the sturdy illusion we hold

To beguile us here below.

Ingeniously this trap was formed
With craft of our own hands,
The while our chilly hearts were warmed
By shadows on the sands.

Now let us leave, and not return,
But in some alien way
Backtrack to what we did not learn
And find content today.

SURGERY IN LUNG TUBERCULOSIS.

IT appears that no region of the body is sacred to the surgeon. He regards no structure or organ as extraterritorial. The brain and spinal cord have long since been invaded and even the heart has yielded to the skill of those who "operate."

Before discussing the applications of surgery to tuberculosis we should recall that when tubercle bacilli grow in lung tissues they form tubercles or nodules which may coalesce, that is, clump together. Unless growth is arrested—and this occurs in most cases—these nodules containing active bacilli may break into a bronchus [a tube carrying air to the lung cells]. As a result the individual coughs up large quantities of mucus mixed with bacteria. If the resistance is high the disease may be arrested by nature's method of cure—namely, surrounding the diseased area with a firm capsule of cells [scar tissue] impregnated with lime. If, however, resistance is low the disease may continue to progress, destroying more and more lung tissue.

Unfortunately, there is no specific treatment for tuberculosis, although vaccines of various types have been suggested and new forms are being tried. It is not possible, for example, to kill tubercle bacilli as we can destroy the organisms of syphilis with arsenic compounds, or the parasites of malaria with quinine. Treatment, therefore, resolves itself into building the patient's resistance and placing the lung at rest. Healing can occur only when the inflamed area is not irritated by movement.

Important progress has been made through the use of artificial pneumothorax [introducing air between the two pleural layers], which process must be repeated from time to time as the air in the pleural cavity absorbs slowly and thus permits the lung to expand.

Another method of placing the lung at rest is by cutting or crushing the phrenic nerve on one side, thus paralyzing one-half of the diaphragm—the huge muscle which separates the chest from the abdominal cavity. This can be done by a simple operation that leaves a scarcely noticeable scar. Crushing the nerve results in a temporary paralysis which is maintained for approximately three months. Cutting the nerve is usually followed by complete paralysis. The latter is often the best plan in cases in which adhesions between the two layers of the pleura will not permit collapse of the lung when air is introduced.

When paralysis of the diaphragm was first introduced a few years ago it was hailed as the great panacea. It was found, however, that it was dangerous to employ this method of treatment should cavities be present in the upper portion of the lungs. The procedure is now regarded as important but not in itself curative.

Because of the difficulty in securing collapse of the lung—and hence rest—in old, unhealed cases, the suggestion was offered about forty years ago that sections of several ribs might be removed, thus permitting the chest wall to retract or cave in. It was thought that this would bring about contraction of the lung regardless of adhesions. The operation [called thorocoplasty], when tried, proved a real success and has been followed by excellent results in numerous cases. The patient is often fitted with a brace so that pressure can be maintained on the caved-in chest, thus preventing future expansion. Some deformity of the chest wall results, but this should not be considered when other curative methods have proved unavailing.

The number of cases of tuberculosis requiring surgical intervention is not high—possibly not over 1 per cent—when one considers the sum total of infected individuals. Nevertheless, experts in tuberculosis recognize that surgery has added its bit to the percentage of recoveries. Naturally, only skilled surgeons should attempt lung operations. Bed rest, good food, and expert management remain our chief mainstays in the great majority of cases.

INFECTION PROBABLE.

D. writes: Last year my husband was bothered with chills and fever. This left him very weak. He found that after he took things easier at the office he was much better. Do you think overwork could have caused this condition?

REPLY.

Fatigue alone cannot cause chills and fever. There must have been some infection.

UNEXPECTED CURE.

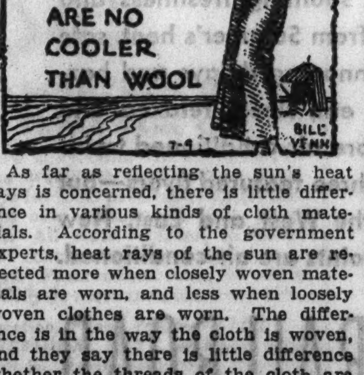
D. I. writes: My brother's face was covered with sores and no medicine seemed to help. Recently he went bathing in a chlorinated pool and the chlorine in the water cleared the face completely.

REPLY.

Chlorinated water is an excellent antiseptic—one of the best. The condition was probably acne, and chlorine destroyed the infecting organisms.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.



As far as reflecting the sun's heat rays is concerned, there is little difference in various kinds of cloth materials. According to the government experts, heat rays of the sun are reflected more when closely woven materials are worn, and less when loosely woven clothes are worn. The difference is in the way the cloth is woven, and they say there is little difference whether the threads of the cloth are silk, cotton, or wool. The supposed advantages of wool for keeping the body warm in winter are a matter of air spaces in the cloth, and relate to holding in the body heat so it will not be dissipated.

DECORUM.

Chicago, July 5.—At the close of the American Legion's Fourth of July celebration at Soldiers' field I was inexpressibly shocked to see large numbers of people [many men with hats on] actually leaving the stadium during the singing of the national anthem instead of standing at attention, as they certainly should do. If American audiences are really as ignorant as all this, why does not the announcer or presiding officer at public meetings instruct them in the rudiments of respect to "The Star-Spangled Banner"?

Also I am sure it was an offense to many people to see a grotesque figure with duck feet, huge pink plaster arms and legs, a foolish painted face, a red wig, a crown and a fan, parading about the field before the program and between the numbers. The event was an important one—namely: the commemoration of our great Independence day—and surely the American Legion showed very poor taste in allowing this silly clowning to detract from the dignity of the occasion.

A third suggestion I have to make is that venders of candy, ice cream, soft drinks, etc., should not be permitted to advertise their wares during the progress of the different numbers on the program, especially music. DOROTHY PIETERS.

A SLOGAN.

La Crosse, Wis., July 2.—It seems a self-evident fact that no country, state, or municipality in which more than one-half the citizens are living off the rest can long endure or can be worth anything to the politicians or dictators who may wish to govern. As long as there is a going concern the thrifty and producing must be in the majority.

This being so, the only way the tax eaters can survive is to divide the producers and swing the balance. Any time those who are carrying the load combine they must be in the majority. The only danger is that they will not combine soon enough to save the country from bankruptcy. The sooner they do the more chance there is of saving the country and themselves, and this applies to all producers and savers.

This must come sooner or later and I resurrect the old slogan for the coming campaign, "Eventually, why not now?" A. E. BLEEKMAN.

TELEPHONE CHARGES.

Chicago, July 5.—I recently had occasion to transfer my telephone to a tenant who was subleasing part of my office. Without any interruption of service, without moving or changing the equipment in any way, the telephone company wanted $3 to effect the transfer because the tenant was in "a different kind of business." Had he been in the same business [and how foolish this explanation] there would be no charge, I was told. The $3 charge was justified and incurred, so the company said, because of labor involved in changing the company records.

Yet when we decided to make the company really earn this money they sent over a lineman who worked half a day putting in new equipment, changing the number, and completely rewiring the office layout to place the telephone in a different position. For all this latter labor they charged $3.50, or only 50 cents more than for merely changing the records. Likewise, the $3.50 charge also included the "record changing" assessment, which therefore suggests the lineman's time is worth only 50 cents, including cost of new equipment, etc. If this is not correct, then it costs, by the company's own admission, only 50 cents to change the records, or somebody is lying, or gouging, or pretending, or you name it. A little healthy competition would tend to rectify injustices of this sort.

HIS HEART BLEEDS.

Chicago, July 2.—The letter in Tuesday's column signed "A Woman's Voice," apropos the appalling unfairness of the proposed increase in inheritance taxes, is one of the choicest bits of unintentional humor I've ever laid eyes on. How she made my heart bleed for the devoted wives and innocent kiddies who will be made to suffer by this latest New Deal atrocity! How pitiful the plight of those dutiful wives who have helped their husbands scrape together a measly ten or fifteen million dollars, only to see the wolves in Washington snatch up almost all of their hard earned savings, leaving a miserable four or five millions for their unfortunate offspring to barely survive on. AUGUST PHILLIPS.

HOW TO SPEND THE MONEY.

Sussex, Wis., July 3.—Most every one from Hugh Johnson, up or down as you choose, seems to be at a loss just how the five billions should be spent to do some real good. Here is a suggestion that won't be carried out. Start a number of industries to produce the goods which will really raise the American standard of living. Then sell them at a price at which people can buy them, making up the loss to the industries involved out of the five billion.

I don't believe this idea is any more cockeyed than some of the things that have been done or likely will be done, and it ought to help the economic pumps just as much, if there really is such an animal. As for misapplication of funds, well, there'll probably be plenty of that anyway. ARTHUR T. MEYER.

FARM MORTGAGE.

Chicago, July 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I would appreciate advice concerning the legality of a mortgage held on a farm of which I am part owner, my sister and five brothers sharing the land equally with myself. 2. YANGTZE FLOOD CLAIMS 300 LIVES IN CHINA VILLAGE

Washes Out Five Miles of Kiukiang Railway.

NANCHANG, Kiangsi province, China, July 9.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—A muddy torrent from the Yangtze river, spuming through broken dikes today snuffed out at least 300 lives and did incalculable damage at the village of Tuchiapu, 30 miles north of here, according to meager reports brought in by refugees.

Five miles of the Kiukiang-Nanchang railway was washed out, virtually isolating this provincial capital. The city itself, however, is untouched by the rising waters.

The flood struck with such suddenness that many of its victims were trapped in their mud homes. Others were forced to flee with only the clothes on their backs. Hundreds of buildings collapsed, including the national government's rural service building from which the staf escaped a few moments before the roof fell in.

Missionaries in Danger.

NANKING, July 8.—(AP)—Three separate groups of American missionaries were reported in grave danger tonight as the Yangtze river swept over the dikes protecting Shasi, an important port in southern Hupeh province.

The missionaries are representatives of the Swedish Evangelical Mission Covenant, with headquarters at 1005 Belmont avenue, Chicago; the American Episcopol church mission, with headquarters at New York, and the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, with headquarters at St. Louis.

Governmental reports stated that millions of persons are affected by the Yangtze flood and property damage will reach a staggering figure. Official advices stated that 13 counties of Hunan province and 10 of Kiangsi are completely flooded. Information from other sections was incomplete because of the destruction of wire communications.

Below River Level.

Grave fear was expressed for the 200,000 population of Shasi, as the city lies below the level of the river's normal height. Fragmentary reports stated that panic reigned in the city as old and young fled the avalanche of angry waters.

Flood danger extended toward Kiukiang as dikes holding the waters of the northern end of Poyang lake burst. The lake waters are crashing over the region toward the Yangtze, retarding the river's flow, but widening the affected area. Poyang lake, next to Tungting lake in Hunan province, is the largest lake in China.

Interrupted communications have for 24 hours concealed the fate of Changteh which was inundated by waters of the Yuan river yesterday. Early reports stated that fire broke out in portions of the city not submerged The 12 American missionaries at Changteh were reported safe.

WOMAN WORKER AT SHASI.

The Rev. Peter Matson, senior missionary of the Swedish Evangelical Mission Covenant of America, stated that the society has at present only one representative in Shasi, Miss Ophelia Hendrickson of Portland, Ore.

The Rev. Mr. Matson is visiting in Chicago this summer and will return in the fall to his station at Siangyang, far up the Han river from Hankow. He is familiar with Shasi, which he says would be in great danger from a dike break because of its situation below river level.

LINCOLN'S PHOTO WITH PINKERTON GIFT TO SOCIETY

The Chicago Historical society announced yesterday the receipt of a photograph of President Lincoln, Maj. Gen. John A. McClernand of Illinois, and Maj. Allan Pinkerton, chief of the United States secret service during the civil war. It was a gift from Mrs. William J. Chalmers, 1100 North Lake Shore drive, daughter of Pinkerton, who was known during the war as Maj. E. J. Allan.

Maj. Pinkerton uncovered a plot to assassinate the President at Baltimore and devised a plan whereby he and Mr. Lincoln traveled in safety through Baltimore to Washington. Shortly afterward he was made head of the secret service in the Army of the Potomac.

On the day before the battle of Antietam, Sept. 14, 1862, Mr. Lincoln and his friend, Gen. McClernand, went to the secret service tent to call on Maj. Pinkerton. While they were there the official photographer, Alexander Gardner, made the picture.

McClernand, founder and editor of the Shawneetown, Ill., Democrat, was a war Democrat who resigned from congress to raise the "McClernand Brigade" in his home state. He was district judge in the Sangamon district, 1870-'73, and was president of the Democratic national convention which nominated Samuel Tilden in 1876.

Protest Plan for Feeder Buses on Touhy Avenue

Several Rogers Park residents, led by Municipal Judge James M. Padden, appeared before the Illinois Commerce commission yesterday to protest against proposed operation of street car feeder buses on Touhy avenue between Clark street and the lake. Judge Padden declared that the area was well supplied with elevated, street car and motor coach transportation, and that the addition of feeder buses on Touhy avenue would depress property values.

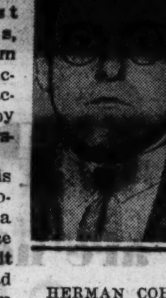
HOLD AMBULANCE CHASER POSING AS A REPORTER

Police Push Campaign to End Practice.

Herman Cohn, 34 years old, 5110 Kenmore avenue, alleged to be an ambulance chaser, was in custody at the Marquette police station last night as police pressed a campaign against such persons, many of whom have gained access to police accident books by posing as newspaper reporters.



HERMAN COHN.

Cohn had in his possession a photostatic copy of a reporter's police pass, which, it was learned, had been stolen from a reporter for an afternoon newspaper. A representative of that newspaper swore out a warant charging Cohn with larceny.

Two Lawyers on String.

Cohn also carried blank contracts, indicating that he had been obtaining clients for two different lawyers in return for a percentage of whatever the lawyer was able to collect in damage suits. He held a check from one lawyer, payable to himself, and dated July 5.

Cohn will be taken to the police showup today, and will be arraigned before Judge C. William Brooks tomorrow on the larceny charge. The police are to charge him with disorderly conduct.

Result of Attorneys' Complaints.

Cohn's arrest came as a result of orders issued on June 28 by Supervising Captain John Stege of the fourth division. These orders, in turn, followed complaints made to Commissioner James P. Allman by reputable lawyers who deplore the unethical practice known as "ambulance chasing."

Capt. Stege declared that for a long time runners in the employ of less scrupulous attorneys had been looking up accident cases on police books on the pretext that they were seeking legitimate news for daily papers. Most of these runners, Capt. Stege says, displayed police cards which they had no right to carry.

All stations have been ordered to keep a close watch for such persons, and Capt. Stege declares that jail cells await all those caught.

Records Suicides 26 Years; Then Takes His Own Life

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Since 1909—for 26 years—Jacob Aneckstein, 51, has been recording suicides in the office of the chief medical examiner. Tonight, his records bore one more notation: "Jacob Anekstein—suicide." His body was found hanging from the bathroom door by his wife.

Mae West Aids Sales

More Mae West costumes are being sold than any others now, 25 leading costume manufacturers and retailers were told yesterday at the opening of the thirteenth annual convention of the National Costumers' association in the Hotel Sherman.

"Mae West and the late Rudolph Valentino did more for the costume business than any other actors," said S. H. Harrelson of Kansas City, president of the association. "She has a wonderful personality, and the 'Diamond Lil' costumes go well in all sizes. Lots of men buy them, too, to impersonate Mae at masquerade balls and private costume parties."

Costumes modeled after those worn by Cleopatra, Mickey Mouse, Daniel Boone, and Kit Carson are other favorites, he said. The convention will continue today and tomorrow.

EXTORTION NOTE DEMANDS BANKER GIVE UP $15,000

Sioux City, Ia., July 8.—(AP)—Receipt by James F. Toy, wealthy banker, of an extortion note demanding payment of $15,000 was revealed tonight following an unsuccessful attempt by federal agents to trap the author of the demand.

Gordon C. Hollar, commissioner of public safety, disclosed that the note arrived Wednesday at the home of the financier, who heads the extensive banking interests of the Toy family in Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota.

Complying with instructions in the note, a dummy package was carried into an alley at 9 p. m. tonight by a federal agent disguised as Toy. Heavily armed police and deputy sherifs were concealed in the neighborhood, near the Simmons Hardware company building, but no one appeared to claim the package.

Hollar said the note threatened Toy that "you will be sorry if you do not pay."

The full contents of the letter were not made public.

Leaves Child to Visit Taverns; Denied Alimony

Because three sisters and a brother of Mrs. Lucille Schwarz, 22 years old, 5916 South Damen avenue, testified that she leaves her 2 year old daughter, Ernestine, at home while she frequents taverns, Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti dismissed yesterday her petition asking temporary alimony and custody of the child. Mrs. Schwarz is suing her husband, Emil, 45, of 2445 Berteau avenue, an electrician, for divorce on grounds of cruelty, and he has a cross bill pending.

Pan-American Applies to Philippines for Air Base

MANILA, P. I., July 8.—(AP)—The Pan-American airways application for a 25 year franchise to establish a base in the Philippines for the proposed California-China airplane line was filed in the legislature today. Legislative circles predicted it would be approved. The bill states the base shall be at or near Manila.

MODERN-CLASSIC WAR STILL ON IN FURNITURE STYLE

3,650 Buyers Arrive as Two Shows Open.

American women will have a large number of styles of furniture to choose from next fall, it was indicated yesterday by the variety of home furnishings shown in the first day of the two furniture shows which opened yesterday, one at the American Furniture mart and the other at the Merchandise Mart. All records for first day attendance were broken as 3,650 buyers registered at the two shows.

"Modern furniture will be stronger than ever," said one leading designer of furniture shown at the American Furniture mart. "Modern furniture is reaching homes of varied incomes, and its adoption into the average American home is a welcome change. It will be simpler in outline and ornamentation. The hardware will be more subdued. It will be more functional, designed for use."

"Classic Honeymoon Is Over."

Another authority among the American Furniture mart exhibitors said "the classic honeymoon in commercial furniture is over, and the average furniture store gradually will work away from it."

Over at the Merchandise mart, where in the morning Mayor Kelly cut a blue ribbon and officially opened the show, both pro and anti-modern enthusiasts were found.

"Early American furniture in maple, along modified lines, is coming back strong," one manufacturer said, showing a brand new "antique" line of more massive and masculine appearing early American furniture, emphasizing comfort in its upholstery. "It lost out for a while because it was too stiff and hard and uncomfortable."

It was not the men in the American home who objected to this lack of comfort, however, but the women, this expert said.

Prefer Comfort to Style.

"Women will buy anything for comfort," he said. "They prefer it to style. That is, unless they're buying modern. Then they buy for style alone. A different type buys modern—the young women, the newly married women, and the wealthy women who can do over a whole home."

"We have brought out lots of modern," said another furniture maker's representative, "but this year we're specializing in regency furniture [1795-1820 and later]. Modern furniture never will really be a necessary part of the American home until that era when our houses are made of steel and glass."

The Merchandise mart reported an opening day registration of 1,220 buyers, almost twice the number who registered on the first day of the January market. The buyers are attending its furniture, floor coverings, lamps and draperies displays.

A total of 2,430 buyers registered at the American Furniture mart, the largest number recorded for a first day in the mart's 11 year history. The best previous year was in 1929.

DIME'S A DIME AND THESE BOYS ARE THOROUGH!

Two robbers who care no more for a measly dime than the average man does for his left eye held up Bernard Duban in his Modern Store Fixture company showroom at 107 South Halsted street last night.

The robbers took $200.38 from Duban and $4 from Joseph Strauss, 4910 North Springfield avenue, a clerk. As one of them was putting Duban's money in his own pocket he dropped a dime. The outlaws began a search for the coin. They made Duban and his clerk get down on their hands and knees, push aside chairs, and roll up rugs. Despite the growing danger of detection they continued the hunt until they found the missing 10 cent piece.

Then, unconcernedly, the robbers walked out the front door, unmindful of a customer who had entered.

PIRANDELLO CANCELS NORMANDIE PASSAGE AT DUCE'S 'REQUEST'

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—When the French liner Normandie docked here tonight there were several Italian and American friends of Luigi Pirandello, Italian dramatist and novelist, who won the Nobel prize in 1934, waiting to greet him.

They were disappointed to learn that he had not sailed from Havre on the ship, owing, it is said, to the indignation of Premier Mussolini, who has insisted that Italians sail on Italian ships. A radio message had been sent from the ship saying that Pirandello was not on board, but it had not been made public.

Pirandello's secretary, Saul C. Collin, was on board with the playwright's baggage. He said he did not know until just before the Normandie left Havre on Wednesday that Signor Pirandello was not sailing.

It was understood that Signor Pirandello was notified by the Italian embassy of Premier Mussolini's displeasure and as a result the dramatist will arrive here on the Italian Liner Conte de Savoia, July 20.

NEW CHEMICAL WONDERS TO BE EXHIBITED HERE

Research Opens Wider Employment Fields.

The development of new industries and of new aids to existing industries through chemical research is graphically shown in "The March of Chemistry" exhibition which will be opened to the public tomorrow. Designed to show the widespread usage of modern chemical products, the exhibit presents a colorful demonstration of business enterprise and productivity despite adverse financial conditions.

The exhibition will be on view on the fourth floor of Marshall Field & Co., and is sponsored by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. of Wilmington, Del.

Two Types of Products.

The new products, the result of scientific research, are classified roughly into two types, those which represent new goods and whose manufacture opens new fields of employment, and those which increase the utility or decrease the cost of existing products.

Among the articles to be exhibited is man made camphor. This obtained from southern pine trees and used in making motion picture film has had the threefold result of creating a new market for southern timber, decreasing manufacturing costs of certain products, and making the United States independent of Japanese camphor. Similarly, "duprene," a chemical substance with the characteristics of rubber, promises to be an aid to domestic industry.

New Paint Already in Use.

A new paint now being used for trains, airplanes, automobiles, and a variety of other products, is another job making invention. Manufactured from tung and soy bean oils, it has given added income to central west farmers and Florida lumbermen. Its use has resulted in drastic cuts in the manufacturing cost of other products—without reducing labor costs.

Other marvels of chemical research include plastic heels for shoes, artificial lether, a cellulose sponge, films that reproduce in natural colors without the use of special lenses, X-ray films that give special depth and clarity for physicians, a foolproof blasting powder, and "cel-lo-glass," a flexible glass spread on fine wire screening that permits the entrance of ultraviolet rays.

VIRGIN ISLANDS JUDGE CHARGES TRIAL THREAT

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—Senate investigators of the Virgin Islands administration of Gov. Paul M. Pearson today heard Federal Judge T. Webber Wilson of the Islands District court level charges of outside intimidation and of "administrative interference" with his work.

Judge Wilson, former member of congress from Mississippi, declared that Morris Ernst, whom he identified as counsel for the Civil Liberties union in New York, had come to his office in St. Thomas and threatened to "put him on the spot" in the press unless he granted a new hearing to a government employé under indictment for the theft of lumber and cement.

Guest of Gov. Pearson.

Senator Tydings [Dem., Md.], chairman of the investigating committee, said the threat, if true, was "tantamount to blackmail." The government employé indicted was Leonard W. MacIntosh.

After Wilson's testimony, Paul C. Yates, discharged administrative assistant to Pearson, took the stand. His eye still was blackened from his fist fight with Robert S. Allen, Washington newspaper man, which preceded the opening of the investigation.

Tells of "Spy System."

Yates told of an "espionage" system employed against political enemies of the administration.

He cited a letter sent to Representative Caroline O'Day [Dem., N. Y.], purportedly by Catholic fathers in the islands, protesting the proposed establishment of the so-called Virgin Island company, a rehabilitation plan organized by Pearson and the interior department.

"When Gov. Pearson showed me that letter," Yates testified, "he told me he had ways and means of getting letters from his enemies. He said the Catholic fathers were among the worst of his enemies in the islands. He led me to believe he had an espionage system which would uncover all base things against him."

At one point in today's testimony a reference to an article in The Nation, of which Dr. Ernest Gruening, chief of the interior department's division of territory and island possessions, was a former editor, caused Gruening to rise in his own defense to deny its authorship.

JIM REED EXPECTS DEMOCRATS TO TOSS OUT NEW DEALERS

James A. Reed, former United States senator from Missouri, said yesterday that he expects the Democratic party to kick out the New Dealers next year.

Passing through Chicago en route to his summer home in Michigan, Reed was asked about a published report that he would campaign for the Republicans next year. He was indignant.

"I expect the Democratic party to come to its senses before that time," he said. "I will not vote for any of these wreckers. If the voters who still have a little sense left and think in American terms join me in that resolve, there will be hope of saving the American structure."

He suggested this as a slogan: "Turn out the enemies of the constitution."

DAICHES WIDOW ANSWERS SUIT OF MRS. O'SHEA

Mrs. Belle T. Daiches, 2842 Lake Shore drive, widow of Eli Daiches, slain advertising executive, formally denied yesterday that Mrs. Lillian O'Shea, who formerly lived with her, had aided materially in the search for her husband's killers.

The denial was made in Mrs. Daiches' answer to a Circuit court suit in which Mrs. O'Shea is seeking $22,500 of the $76,500 paid Mrs. Daiches in settlement of suits against those she accused of her husband's slaying. Irving T. Weitzman, south side bakery owner, is serving a life term in prison for the murder, and Arthur Emblen is serving a term of one to fourteen years for assault to murder.

Mrs. O'Shea contends in her suit that she is entitled to the $22,500 for the help she gave the widow. Mrs. Daiches in her answer retorts that she never asked Mrs. O'Shea for aid, that Mrs. O'Shea acted in friendly interest, and that her aid was "minor and insubstantial" and did not contribute to the capture of the guilty persons.

J. F. Comer, Textile Man of Alabama, Ends Life

Alexander City, Ala., July 8.—J. Fletcher Comer, 59, textile mill operator, ended his life at his home here tonight. He was a brother of Donald Comer, national textile leader, and a son of the late Gov. Braxton Bragg Comer of Alabama. He had been in declining health for some time. The widow, a son, two daughters, three brothers, and five sisters survive.

FATHER JAILED FOR 2 YEARS.

Edward Sajdak, 28 years old, 8326 Muskegon avenue, an ex-convict, was fined $400 and sentenced to two years in the Bridewell by Judge Leon Edelman in the Domestic Relations court yesterday on charges of contributing to the delinquency of his own small daughters.

DOCTORS WARNED TO QUIT $2 A YEAR MEDICAL SERVICE

Physicians' Society Acts Against Rosenberg.

Officials of the Chicago Medical society said yesterday that several physicians had been warned to sever their connections with the Central Emergency Hospital association or they would be dropped by the society as unethical. The hospital association, the medical society declared, is operated by Charles S. Rosenberg, who was paroled from Joliet prison on Nov. 25, 1932, after serving two and a half years of a one year to life sentence for the robbery of Arthur Cutten, wealthy grain speculator.

According to Dr. Thomas P. Foley, president elect of the medical society, the society's objection to physicians affiliated with the hospital association is the solicitation of patients. The association offers medical service for $1 a year for an individual or $3 a year for a family. Members are obtained by canvassing the factories of the west side.

Medical Society Investigates.

A committee of the medical society has investigated complaints about the hospital association. The doctors questioned by the committee said that they had no official connection with Rosenberg's organization but that it sent them patients. The agreed to quit accepting such patients in order to retain their ethical standing, Dr. Foley said. The doctors all said a man named Davis headed the hospital association.

Rosenberg, who uses the name of Charles Davis, has offices in the West Town State Bank building, 1400 Madison street. In an interview with a reporter he said the association has a membership of 35,000.

"We are able to give low cost medical service because of the volume of business we can send to doctors affiliated with us," Rosenberg explained. "A member may go to any one of the physicians listed on the membership card, and he can call on that doctor as often as he wishes during the year at no cost to himself. He will be given ordinary office treatment and advice.

Low Cost Hospitalization.

"We do not promise surgical service nor hospitalization, but if they are needed by a member we arrange for them at a lower cost to him than he could get that service by himself. That is because we are able to make contracts with several hospitals.

"Our business is recruited through personal talks given in factories and shops during the noon hour. We address a group of employés and tell them the benefits of membership in our organization.

"The solicitor gets 35 cents for each member signed up. When a member needs medical attention we pay the doctor $1 a year, no matter how many visits are made to the doctor by the patient. The member can go to see the doctor every day if necessary. The doctors are glad to make this arrangement with us because of the volume of business we send them. We might give a certain doctor a thousand or two thousand patients a year."

Complaints to Business Bureau.

The Better Business bureau said many complaints against the Rosenberg service had been received and investigated. Many of the members of the hospital association said they were charged for what they had been led to believe was to be supplied free. Others said operations had been advised by Rosenberg's doctors and later other doctors had declared that operations were not needed.

The robbery of Mr. Cutten occurred in 1912 in his Downers Grove home. A gang of nine men took $20,000 worth of jewelry, $500 and 25 cases of whisky after locking Cutten in a basement vault, where he nearly died of suffocation. Cutten vowed to catch them all and put them in prison. Charles Rosenberg was the eighth of the gang captured. He went to prison on April 29, 1930. Shortly afterward the ninth one, Rosenberg's brother, Casper, gave himself up, but Cutten did not prosecute him and he was freed.

Bondsman Surrenders Runaway Client He Caught

Theodore Clements, 38 years old, was surrendered in the Domestic Relations court of Judge Leon Edelman yesterday by his bondsman, Harry Volin, who traced Clements to New York after Judge Edelman forfeited Clements' $2,000 bond on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 16 year old girl. Judge Edelman raised Clements' bond to $10,000, entered an order vacating the bond forfeiture, and set July 31 as the trial date.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Rare Crops Do Well

July 8, 1935.

MANY of the rare crops in the test plots at the Wheaton experimental farm are now far enough advanced to give a good indication of their appearance. The workmen have had difficulty keeping the weeds under control, but they have succeeded in getting most of the test rows fairly clean. Large trellises were built last week to support the hop vines, some of which stand nine feet tall and grow four to five inches a day. Accurate data have been kept on the progress of each crop since the date of planting.

Corn on the Wheaton place has been growing rapidly since the warm days of last week. It is exceptionally free from weeds despite the wet weather and the fact that some of it has only been cultivated once. This condition is credited to a seed bed well prepared in advance of planting.

About eight acres of first cutting alfalfa has been practically ruined in the field here, though the men turned the hay over in the windrows, after nearly every rain, in an attempt to dry it out. It is being stacked with the hope that it may have some feeding value left. Most of the leaves are gone and many of the stems are moldy. Practically no bright hay remains in it. The unusually heavy yields of this year's alfalfa crop are adding to the difficulty of curing the hay in the rainy weather.

Approximately 30 acres of the alfalfa has been chopped up and blonw into the hay keeper and the barn loft. Part of this took some hard rains while in the swath and in windrows, but was dried out before being seriously damaged. Chopping the alfalfa with the hay cutter is considered especially beneficial this year, since the rank growth has made the stems large and coarse. Ten acres, yet to be cut, will be baled if the weather permits proper curing.

Canada thistles are not nearly so bad on the Wheaton farm this year as usual. They have been very late in developing, and Carl Henderson, farm manager, thinks they may require only one cutting this season to keep them from going to seed. He normally cuts them three times. Both mowers and scythes were used last week in cutting the thistles.

Most of the oat fields here are heading out, and the indications are favorable for a heavy yield. The rain and wind storm last Friday beat the oats down in several spots.

None of the sheep has shown any signs of trouble from forage poisoning since two Corriedale rams died more than a week ago. It was thought the rams ate the leaves and twigs of wild black cherry trees, which sometimes cause losses among live stock from hydrocyanic acid poisoning.

RADICALS DRIVE TO OUST HEAD OF DOCKMEN

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Longshoremen's delegates from every major port in the United States gathered today for the quadrennial convention of the International Longshoremen's association with President Joseph P. Ryan challenging radical-communist representatives to a catch-as-catch-can floor fight for the leadership.

The sternest and virtually sole challenge to the conservative administration of Ryan was from Harry Bridges, delegate from San Francisco, avowedly out to oust Ryan for his course of action in last year's coast dock strikes. The test of strength is expected tomorrow.

A serious crack in the Pacific coast backing claimed by Bridges appeared, however, when Robert Harding of Tacoma, Wash., Puget Sound delegate, came out for a conservative course. His pronouncement was greeted by prolonged cheering by the convention and an unanimous rising vote of thanks for his address.

LUMBER MILLS REOPENED WITH TROOPS' ARRIVAL

Seattle, Wash., July 8.—(AP)—Mills closed for two months in the northwest lumber strike reopened today under the protection of National Guardsmen and police.

Gov. Clarence D. Martin, in a surprise move, sent the Second battalion of the 161st infantry into the cities of Aberdeen and Hoquiam last night.

Six mills in Aberdeen and Hoquiam augmented their crews after the soldiers arrived. At Tacoma the First battalion guarded the mill district while two more mills resumed activity.

Longview police discovered sixty-eight sticks of dynamite and thirteen percussion caps in two caches. One lot was found in a mill worker's home and the other near the outskirts of town.

Mayor Warns Against Gifts to Fake Party Solicitors

Mayor Kelly yesterday warned the public against contributing funds to persons who are using his name in an undercover campaign for donations ostensibly to take the Democratic party in Cook county "out of the red." "No one is authorized to solicit funds for the Cook county Democrats," the mayor said. "I'm told that a racketeer is telephoning business houses and individuals for funds, saying that they're to be used to make up a deficit from the mayoral election. The public should be warned."

32-PAGE BOOKLET FREE!

Send for free copy of "Things People Won't Talk About," a new 32-page illustrated booklet telling what venereal diseases are, what they do, how they are contracted, how to avoid them, and how they can be cured. Mailed in plain sealed envelope.

DON'T GIVE UP!

Formerly incurable cases of these infections are now being benefited

Modern venereal disease treatment offers new hope to sufferers from paresis, locomotor ataxia, heart disorders and other complications

UP TO a comparatively few years ago, certain venereal disease complications were believed to be virtually incurable. Little or nothing could be done to help men and women afflicted with such tragic consequences as insanity, paralysis, failing sight or heart disease.

But so great have been the strides of medical science that many such cases are now being vastly improved. For instance, modern treatment is restoring to efficiency almost half of all sufferers from paresis or general paralysis of the insane! Locomotor ataxia, too, is being benefited, as also are heart and eye involvements.

No one should despair!

Thus no victim of a venereal disease should despair of relief, no matter how long-standing the case. For regardless of what a sufferer's condition may be, it is entirely possible that something can be done toward returning him or her to usefulness.

Of course, the earlier that treatment for a venereal disease is started, the better are the chances for recovery. If the treatment of syphilis or gonorrhea is begun soon after infection, and continued faithfully, an absolute cure may be confidently expected!

Hence all newly infected persons are urged to come to the Public Health Institute, or to consult a private physician, at the earliest possible moment. For although it is now possible to help even the insane and paralyzed, it is far, far better to escape such consequences by obtaining immediate treatment.

To those with either new or old infections, the Public Health Institute offers medical attention of the most advanced type, in privacy and comfort. Keeping constantly abreast of the latest developments in venereal disease treatment, it is frequently able to benefit patients whose cases have previously been considered hopeless! To date, the Institute has saved more than 220,000 Chicagoans from the disability or premature death so often caused by neglected venereal infections.

Fees are extremely low

A complete examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including blood and all other necessary tests, can be obtained from the Public Health Institute at very low cost. Or you can get a similar examination from any competent private physician.

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute specializes in venereal diseases at fees that are extremely low considering the high standard of the treatment provided. Thus dependable relief from these infections is now within the reach of all, especially since even those temporarily pressed for funds can arrange to be treated.

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those operated for personal gain!

Helen Gahagan Signs Name for Intruder.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 8.—[Special.]—Helen Gahagan had an experience with an autograph hound which she never wants to repeat. She was sitting at the piano in her apartment practicing some songs, with her door a bit ajar for air. Suddenly she looked up as a shadow fell on her. A man was standing beside her. What kept her from fainting she never will know.

The stranger told her not to be alarmed, that he meant no harm. Picking up a piece of sheet music he handed her a pen and asked her to autograph it. Almost automatically she wrote her name and before she could recover enough poise to say a word the stranger was gone with her music.

Bert Lytell has made up his mind to confine his screen future to character parts. But he has plans to go east for one or two stage appearances during the coming season. Lytell looked brown and fit, his muscles hard and his step youthful. "No, I'm not boxing or spending hours a day in some stuffy gymnasium," he said. "My secret is cheap and simple. I just walk." He says he walks five miles every day rain or shine and if he really feels good he'll make it ten miles instead of five. Says he claims to be the runner-up to the pedestrian title among all the actors; George M. Cohan is the walkingest of them all.

On Broadway Kay Linaker, who has just arrived here on a film contract, was famous for her long hair. The first day she visited Warner studio make-up room, Perc Westmore, who is in charge, made her bob it.

Since Merna Kennedy and Busby Berkeley have been calling each other legal names in their disputed separate maintenance suits, Berkeley has taken to dropping in at the night places with Anita Page. . . . George Burns had a golf date with Jack Benny Sunday and had the apartment house clerk wake him at 6 a. m. But George was so sleepy at that unusual hour that he drove to Paramount studio forgetting it was Sunday and that he had a golf date.

Cecil Sylvonia, Chicago girl who went to New York, became a show girl chum of the late Dorothy Dell and came to Hollywood with Dorothy has been placed in charge of charm classes for the young actresses at Paramount studio. Her job is to tutor the girls on how to sit, get up, walk, enter a room, stand, etc. . . .

W. S. Van Dyke, the director, has been promoted. He used to be a captain in the U. S. Marine corps reserve. Last week he was promoted to major. And Maj. Gen. John Russell of the marines, here from Washington, D. C., on other duty, found time to go to Van's home and pin the major insignia on the director.

Male movie dancers have organized as screen dancers for the announced purpose of "maintaining the present scale." George F. Calhoun is head of it.

Boots Mallory [Mrs. Bill Cagney] comes back to the movie big time after a couple years of campaigning in the independent studios as the feminine appeal in the cowboy yarn "Powder Smoke Range" with Hoot Gibson, "Big Boy" Williams, Bob Steele, Tom Tyler, and Sam Hardy.

Andre Kostelanetz, who was musical director for a national radio network and handled Lily Pons' air programs, has come to Radio-R-K-O studio with the French opera star to direct her songs and the music that goes with them. Kostelanetz will work under Max Steiner who is in charge of all the music at that studio and who has been credited with the success of the various Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers and the Irene Dunne musicals.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Murder mystery—staged on a campus.

ACTING: Satisfactory. You'll be keen for Arline Judge as a would-be Sherlockess.

DIRECTION: Not bad.

DIALOG: So-so.

SETS, SCENERY, PHOTOGRAPHY, SOUND, and the REST: Oke.

STORY: WA-AL, as Will Rogers MIGHT say—it ain't such a much. A couple of college boys are murdered and a third almost loses his life before you get a line on the who and why of the business. Suspense is fairly well maintained, though I have a hunch you'll know who isn't the killer, and, along about the middle of the piece make a pretty good guess at who is.

AUDIENCE APPEAL. Some.

See you soon.

Yellow Ties Appear Favorites of Men at Arlington Track

With every color in the rainbow represented in the silks worn by the jockies at Arlington the favorite color for men in the Post and Paddock club is yellow. It comes to full glow in cravats.

Laurance Armour, president of the Post and Paddock club and one of the conservatives in clothes, has a collection of yellow ties varying from pale butter cream to a really dusky, rusty, woodsy brown. John Hertz has them brown with yellow dots and plain honest to goodness yellow.

Albert D. Lasker wears a green tie with yellow dots and a blue shirt and linen suit. Silas Strawn, Vaughn Spalding, Warren Wright, and Charles A. McCulloch are conservative with the golden ties, but Joseph Nash Field, Otto Lehmann, John Hutchins, Ben Stein and Austin Niblack take such haberdashery squarely below the chin.

Buds Welcome Large Number of Tea-Dances

Popular Parties Planned for Early Fall.

BY JUDITH CASS.

LAST season's debutantes and their beaux deplored the fact that there were only one or two tea-dances among the many presentation parties, so the coming season's debs will be happy to hear that at least a half dozen tea-dances already have been planned for this coming fall and winter.

On the afternoon of Sept. 12 Mr. and Mrs. James S. Kemper will present their daughter, Rosemary, to society at a reception combined with dancing at their home on Locust road in Winnetka. If the weather permits, dancing will be on the terrace.

Miss Kemper is the only young member of the Kemper family who will be here this summer. She wants to enjoy the racing this month at the Arlington track and next month she will have the plans for her debut to complete.

After she takes her place in the adult world in early September she is going back to Smith college, where she studied for the first three months of the school year last autumn. At Christmas time unfortunately she had to give up her classes because of illness and the remainder of the winter she spent in Palm Springs, Cal.

The Kempers' younger daughter, Mildred Jean, has left to spend the summer on the Timberline ranch in Arizona. James Scott Kemper Jr., who was graduated from Yale university in June, is sailing tomorrow to spend the summer in Europe. Mrs. Kemper's son, Frank Stout, is attending summer school at Hotchkiss.

Robert S. Lairds to Give Tea-Dance.

Another of the tea-dances this autumn is to be given in Winnetka by Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Laird for their daughter, Mary Lou, who will be one of the coming season's buds. Mr. and Mrs. Laird will give the party on the afternoon of Sept. 7 at the Indian Hill club.

Miss Laird is a graduate of the Baldwin school and spent last year at the Erskine school in Boston. It has not been decided whether she will return east to school this fall.

The 7th of September is the day Mr. and Mrs. Horace White Armstrong have chosen for the debut tea of their younger daughter, Mary. The party will be at their Winnetka home. Miss Armstrong will return today from a house party at Oconomowoc and later in the summer she will go west to the HF Bar ranch with her father and older sister, Jean. Last year she studied at Sarah Lawrence college and it may be that she will go back for her second year this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Shuman are going to provide gayety for the debutante crowd on Christmas afternoon, for they are planning a tea-dance for that time to present their daughter, Evelyn, to their friends. The party will be at the Indian Hill club.

Miss Shuman will return to Northwestern university in the fall for her second year. Before entering Northwestern she was graduated from Miss Madeira's. In another week or two Miss Shuman will leave to spend the remainder of the summer in eastern Canada.

Miss Dorelle Moulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Arthur Moulton of Kenilworth, will make her debut at a tea-dance also. Sept. 6 is the date and the Skokie Country club is the place. Miss Moulton will return to Sarah Lawrence college for her second year late in September.

Ewing-Breasted Engagement Is Told.

An interesting announcement made yesterday was that through which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hull Ewing of Lake Forest made known the engagement of their daughter, Helen Culver, to James Henry Breasted Jr., son of Prof. James Henry Breasted, the University of Chicago's famous Egyptologist. Young Mr. Breasted, who is studying Egyptology at Oxford, England, is at home for his summer holiday and is visiting his fiancée's family. He will return to England in October, and it is probable that he will take his bride with him, for a late summer wedding is being discussed by Miss Ewing and Mr. Breasted.

Miss Ewing was graduated from Dobbs Ferry and then went to Vassar, from which Mr. Breasted's sister, Astrid, just was graduated. After finishing college Miss Ewing and her older sister, Katherine, spent a year at Hull house, built by one of their paternal ancestors, doing volunteer social service work under Miss Edith Nancrede, director of dramatics.

From there Miss Katherine went to Rollins college in Winter Park, Fla., to head the college's drama department, and now she has been invited by Vassar to take charge of its dramatic department while Hattie Flanagan Davis is away on a government commission. Miss Katherine is in Poughkeepsie now, but she will return to Lake Forest for a vacation around Aug. 1.

Miss Helen's fiancé is a Princeton graduate, and before following in the footsteps of his father and his older brother, Charles, executive secretary of the Oriental institute at the University of Chicago, he was in business for a year. He will finish his course in Egyptology in 1937.

THE seemingly merciless cutting sometimes necessary to render an overlong article or story suitable for magazine publication was being discussed by a Chicago author and a Chicago magazine editor.

Manuscripts—Advice—Scotsman.

The prize example, perhaps, was that offered by the editor. He had received a two-part manuscript of 6,000 words from a well known English author. It was entirely too long to use, but after a careful reading it was discovered that the entire first part could be discarded. It wasn't necessary to the story at all if two words were inserted in the second part of the manuscript. Those words were "Easter Sunday." The story was printed with part 1 omitted and the two words supplied.

THE author replied with a tale of a manuscript he had submitted to Collier's magazine. It had been accepted, then the editor wrote him to say it was 2,000 words too long. Would he please cut it? The author's first impulse was toward an indignant refusal. Then he decided to look it over and see what he could do. He took a blue pencil and cut out the words "very" and "these" every time they appeared. He found 1,000 of these two words in the manuscript. Then he took a red pencil and began to delete adjectives. He found he could take out one thousand without undue harm.

THE cruelest publisher, however, was the one who gave succinct advice to a young Chicago poet who came to talk to him about getting his verses published. He had been a little slow in getting enough ready for publication, the poet said, as he had too many irons in the fire. The publisher who had read his verse commented that perhaps the best thing to do was to put the poems where the irons were.

A FRIEND crossing the ocean on an English boat that sailed from Canada writes back that there are many Scotsmen aboard. In the bar one evening a Scotsman named Donaldson told of an Aberdeen man who stood 6 feet 4.

"Six feet four he stood," he repeated. "And that's all he stood."

Airy Lingerie Is Sure Bet to Keep You Cool

New Underlayer Garments Stress Comfort.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Summer lingerie, the cool wisps of material that are practically nothing at all, can be found in the glove silk collections. Not the usual glove silk fabric but thin, airy creations very appropriately called "illusion." The stuff is so thin it can't be photographed, so you will realize how grand and comfortable a few necessary underlayers can be.

Shorts or scanties are shorter and scantier than ever and how they do fit—not a chance of an unsightly wrinkle or bulge under your tightest dress. You'll find two-piece outfits, vest and panties, or the all-togethers of this illusion stuff, nicely trimmed with very narrow lace edgings or strictly tailored.

Most of the new vests are shaped in front and cut with a low back, the panties are cut with the minimum of seams, and fit smoothly around the waistline. They are available in white, which means a lot to more than a few shoppers wearing all-white clothes and sheer cottons of white. Also in tea rose and some models in peach. This illusion stuff is all silk, launders beautifully, and needs no pressing except for the lace edgings.

Supercool nightgowns that are just as thin and air conditioned, fully guaranteed to keep you amazingly comfortable through the most torrid summer night, are also made of this same featherweight illusion, with several trick textures, such as pin point, bridal veil lace pattern, and a small self-brocaded rosebud design. Nice low backlines and interesting necklines are featured. One way to get cool and keep cool is to wear these summer glove pure silk models.

Also, in the same collection, some lisle underlayers for golf and other active sports. Two well cut and exceedingly well fitted pieces in pale flesh are featured in this cool simulated knitted stuff, and it does a good job of absorbing all excess moisture no matter how hot the day or how strenuous the sport.

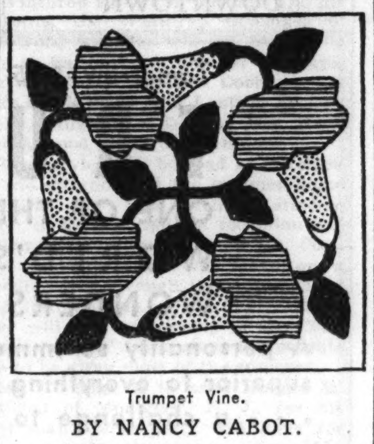
"Trumpet Vine" Quilt Reflects Calm of Namesake



Trumpet Vine.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The trumpet vine is a quaint old fashioned bloom which is synonymous with small white cottages, green shuttered and surrounded with fragrant flowers. The beauty of the "Trumpet Vine" quilt block is as lovely and realistic as the natural flower. In making the block, a small figured material may be combined attractively with two solid color materials.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Good Concert Has Benefit of Extra Features

Max Bendix Band Gives Park Program.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Several things combined at the concert of the Max Bendix band in Grant park last night to give added enjoyment to what was already a first class concert. For one thing, Mary Garden was the guest of Conductor Bendix, called out from her seat to wave in high delight to the audience, expressing her feeling that the series of concerts was wonderful and held in a lovely spot.

For another, Joe Sanders and his orchestra appeared late in the evening to give the audience an extra group of numbers. Summoned at short notice in place of Ted Fio-Rito, who was unable to come, Mr. Sanders promptly made ardent friends with the audience with the "Lullaby of Broadway," "In a Little Gypsy Tearoom," and others from his rhythmic répertoire.

Before that there had been a stirring program by Mr. Bendix and his organization. He has an excellent band, well balanced as to its brass and woodwinds, mellow of tone, and with lots of spirit. Two of his players were women, Margaret Sweeney, harpist, and Lillian Poenisch, clarinetist.

The "Tannhaeuser" Overture, the Dance of the Hours from Ponchielli's "La Gioconda," Bizet's "L'Arlesienne" Suite were among the more extended numbers, but there were popular numbers and marches as well. One of these last, "Parade of Progress," is Mr. Bendix's own, and a first rate one.

Marjorie Livingston, soprano, was the soloist, making a great hit with "One Fine Day" from "Mme. Butterfly," and even a greater one with a group of songs by Mr. Bendix and Anna T. Josefter.

The Chicago Federation of Musicians concert band will play tonight under the direction of Glenn Cliffe Bainum. It is promised that Eddie Duchin will come in some time during the evening and play some piano solos.

Up from the Southern Methodist college of Dallas come the Texas Mustangs, a musical organization now appearing at the Palace theater to the warmly cordial applause of the public. One infers that the descriptive value of the title rests upon the exuberant spirit of their performance. That being the case, they are well named.

The Texas Mustangs are a uniformed brass band about thirty-five strong. It is said of them that they have a varied répertoire to fit varied occasions. Here they depend upon the more recent specimens of popular music, hot and sweet, turned out with lively manner and unfeigned enjoyment.

They are not in the least bored; they indulge in comic fights, interruptions to the routine with whacking newspapers, pails of water, what not, and a sad faced member performs magic with appearing eggs and a disappearing clarinet. It is all good, clean fun, and an entertaining musical act.

Two Leaders of Business Women to Arrive Today

Miss Lena Madesin Phillips of New York, president of the International Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman of Richmond, Va., president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will arrive in Chicago this afternoon and will be the guests today and tomorrow of the Illinois federation at the Congress hotel. They are en route to Seattle for the biennial convention.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Frances Dee, who, in the production of "Becky Sharp," proved an ideal subject for color photography. It's predicted that the arrival of color in films will restore the natural makeup to its own.

Hollywood, Cal., July 8.—[Special.]—You know in movie makeup—for black and white, that is—the makeup artist can do perfectly marvelous things in the way of giving the illusion of improved contour by the skillful blending of dark and light paste. A sag here or a hollow there could be practically erased, at least for photographic purposes, by the judicious use of highlight and shadow.

But when color came along and the shades of brown makeup used for panchromatic film were useless there was something of a new problem. Fortunately the romantic feminine figures in "Becky Sharp," those who earned the most closeups, had young, fresh faces. Miriam Hopkins' need of camouflage is practically nil. Frances Dee is an ideal color subject.

But where camouflage is needed for color there does look as though there might be a difficulty. It appears, though, that the art of rouge blending will prove the solution. With careful blending rouge can serve for a color makeup [which is like a street makeup in most respects] as the dark brown pastes did for the panchromatic for black and white movies.

Our guess is that the perfected makeup for color pictures will be the best influence on personal makeup that ever hit the country. Color film is death on artificiality, or at least is at the moment. Artificial blonde hair looks like the dickens—because the lack of harmony between skin tone and hair tint is revealed in all its lack of glory. The real blonde will be way ahead of the girl who bleached and bleached and bleached.

The makeup that is unnatural can be effective in black and white film, but there are those in these parts who wonder how some of the highly stylized makeups affected by some of the most colorful stars in the colony will pass the test of color. The mask-like face, with high cheek bones and a huge mouth and surprised eyebrows, is sometimes a knockout in black and white, but what will a dead white face, grotesque arched brows, and a bee stung mouth that nature never fashioned look like in color. Pussonally, we don't think we'll see it in color. Women will be looking like pretty creatures again, we'll bet.

Ban Salzburg Recital of Negro Contralto in 'Non-Aryan' Rule

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, July 8.—Because she is a Negro and therefore a "non-Aryan," Marion Anderson, American contralto, will be unable to give the Salzburg song recital she had planned for Aug. 18.

The recital was to have been part of the Salzburg festival and was widely anticipated as one of its interesting features. A projected concert in Graz also was frowned on by city authorities.

Baron Puthon, president of the Salzburg festival committee, said it was not possible for his organization to have Miss Anderson's concert scheduled within the festival program because it had been prepared months ago. He said the concert had not been barred and that he knew no reason for Miss Anderson's complaint.

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Chris Jackson is sent by Bill Benton, new sherif of Monterey county, in early Spanish California, to put an end to the Ortega-Alvado feud, which has resulted in many murders. Pietro Sanchez runs the general store of the Big Sur valley. While calling on him Chris encounters Guido Ortega, Ramon, his dare-devil son, and Ysabel, his beautiful, sad-eyed niece. He falls in love with Ysabel at first sight, and has a quarrel with Ramon and publicly spanks him. Chris outfits himself for a supposed lion hunting trip. He receives a note from Ysabel, hinting of a mysterious danger, begging his aid, and asking him to meet her in a fortnight. Chris camps in a canyon on the northern boundary of the Alvado ranch. He is advised by Rocky, an old Indian hunter, to leave the country. Next day Chris meets Francesca Alvado, flirtatious Spanish beauty. Chris tells her of his encounter with Ramon Ortega. It gains him entrée to the Alvado ranch. Chris is invited to a rodeo to be held there in a week. During the rodeo the warring families hold a traditional three day truce. Ysabel Ortega is facing a forced marriage with her cousin, Ramon. Her uncle refuses to tell her the secret of her birth, as he had promised to do on her 18th birthday. She appeals to Rocky, who promises to delay the priest until after the rodeo. Chris, masquerading as Rocky, comes to the Ortega ranch. He is captured. Ysabel rescues him. He escapes to the Alvado ranch. They become suspicious of him and he is forced to remain with them, an unwilling guest, under threat of his life. José Alvado, in love with Ysabel, ventures to the Ortega ranch and is held a hostage.

INSTALMENT XXVI.

OFF FOR THE RODEO.

"She's a deep one," Maria nodded her head after Ysabel's disappearing figure, and winked over at Nita. "I'll believe that wedding is coming off when I see it! She's just like her mother," she ended in a disgruntled tone.

"How do you mean?" Nita asked.

"Close mouthed; can't get anything out of her," Maria complained, adding viciously: "Thinks she's too good for Ramon, does she? Madre di Dios, but I'd like to see her pride broken!"

With nervous energy she began packing her box of painted wood with studded lether borders, that was to be slung on the pack horse to follow them to the rodeo.

If they were only started, and on their way! What if her uncle should listen to Ramon's advice and change his mind?

As Ysabel took down the ivory crucifix which had belonged to her mother she held it tightly for a moment as she breathed a fervent prayer for protection.

She started to put it in her box, then paused and hung it back over the bed again. She must wait until the last moment for that! If her uncle came into her room and saw it gone he would be suspicious at once.

In spite of her anxiety and suspense, she lingered for a moment over the gay flowered silk dress that had been made in Monterey, especially for the rodeo. A smile lit up her eyes and her cheeks became pink as she smoothed the crisp taffeta, with its pink and blue nosegays on a creamy background. Would Chris see her in that dress? How strange it would be to meet him in normal surroundings! If the rodeo with its volcanic undercurrent of repressed emotions could be called normal!

The breakfast bell broke in on her musings, and deciding suddenly to have breakfast with her uncle so as to prevent further argument between him and Ramon, Ysabel left her packing and ran across the courtyard to the dining sala.

"If I can locate Father Ignatio—you will come back a bride."

Ramon had not yet come in, and Señor Ortega looked up in surprise at Ysabel's flushed cheeks and bright eyes.

"The prospect of the rodeo seems to have cured your headache," he observed. "You understand, of course, that you go as Ramon's fiancée?"

For a moment everything swam before Ysabel's eyes; then, remembering all that hung on her going to the rodeo, she faced her uncle with an inscrutable look that might be taken for almost anything from acceptance to passive resignation.

"As you say, uncle," she murmured, with a vehement inner denial that made her voice tremble in spite of her, "but you know my feelings on that subject."

"And you know mine," he added grimly. "If I can locate Father Ignatio you will come back a bride."

Ysabel made no comment as she bent over her breakfast. The moment for throwing down the gauntlet was not yet!

. . . .

The memory of that ride to the Alvado ranch was always to remain in Ysabel's mind as a curious combination of an experience both intensely vivid and at the same time utterly unreal.

The feeling that she was seeing the Ortega ranch for the last time made her note every detail of the familiar landscape with lingering affection. In spite of the unhappiness she had experienced there it was the only home she knew, and she had always found great solace in its wild beauty.

It was a sparkling day with the air still cool and fresh.

The Señor rode ahead and then came Ysabel on Estar. Some little distance behind them Ramon brought up the rear. The pack train which the vaqueros were bringing was not to start for another half hour or so, and the three riders seemed to have the whole world to themselves.

In spite of the strained atmosphere caused by Ramon's sulky withdrawal and her uncle's uncompromising back as he led the way along the winding trail at a stiff cow trot, Ysabel felt a great sense of elation as she left the ranch house farther and farther behind. Pausing for a moment before she dipped into a canyon that would hide it from view for the last time, she gazed at it with mixed emotions.

Perhaps years from now she would come back some time, when Ramon was safely married to some one else! But in the meantime, what was to happen to her? What did the immediate future hold for her, when she had made this drastic break?

Plunging down after her uncle into the cool depths of the canyon, the mental picture of the hacienda on its lone promontory high above the sea still stayed with her, and, obeying a sudden impulse, she urged Estar up beside her uncle's mount as he paused to drink from the clear stream of water that trickled along the floor of the canyon.

"Once more, uncle, before we arrive at the Alvados, I beg you to tell me my history. Even if you will not give me my mother's jewels which you have promised would be mine when I was 18"—her voice broke before his cold, sarcastic expression— "at least, tell me about her."

For a long moment he gazed at her, then pulled up his horse's head and guided him toward the canyon's steep ascent. "When you are married you will know all that." His words came back to her with a clipped finality that held no hope of a change of heart; but his next words raised a sudden excitement in Ysabel that completely offset the disappointment of his refusal. "As to the jewels," he went on, "I have them with me. It is my intention to have you wear them at the rodeo ball. It shall not be said that an Ortega, after she has passed her eighteenth birthday appeared without fitting jewels."

Ysabel did her best to suppress the gasp of astonishment and excitement that rose to her lips. They had just reached the steepest part of the ascent from the canyon as her uncle made this announcement, and by the time their horses had gained the rim Ysabel had her voice well under control.

"I will like wearing them," she said simply, realizing that it would be just as dangerous to appear too indifferent as to seem overelated. "I have never even seen them."

"They will be yours after you are married to Ramon," her uncle's eyes had a shrewd gleam as he glanced at her to gauge the effect of his words.

Ysabel made no reply, but her mind was busily engaged in turning over the possibilities of this unexpected break.

She must make her escape, then, at the rodeo ball or just after it, while the jewels were still in her possession. Her uncle would hardly ask her to return them before the next morning, and some time in that interval she must get away, beyond his reach.

With the jewels she would at least be secure until she could find her way in the outside world and make some sort of place for herself.

She hated the idea of selling them, but freedom was something even more precious than jewels.

It also changed her whole attitude toward the idea of asking Chris to help her to escape. If she felt she was independent financially it would make all the difference.

"What's the great excitement?"

Ysabel started and glanced up to find Ramon beside her. In her absorption she had not heard him ride up, but now she was suddenly aware of him and of his curious expression as he gazed at her. "You look as you used to when you found a rare shell you wanted," he added.

"Your father has just told me that I am to wear my mother's jewels at the rodeo ball," Ysabel answered.

"He has?" Ramon darted a questioning and disapproving look at his father, who nodded a curt affirmation of Ysabel's statement.

"Have you ever seen them?" Ysabel was too elated by this sudden stroke of luck to resent Ramon's disapproval. After all, why wasn't it better to part on good terms, now that she felt this sudden certainty that they were to part?

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Funny Business

Having Pride in Temper Display Is Foolishness

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She's redheaded, admits she has a terrible temper, and falling in love with a sandy-haired one whose temper is a matter of personal pride, too. Their battles are like Fourth of July celebrations, fireworks all over the place, and every day is the fourth to them, as the girl records their goings on.

She asks if it would be wise for them to marry. He's beginning to express qualms, resolving that it must be pleasant to have a few evenings without a wrangle.

If the fights keep up, the situation probably will iron itself out with loving emotions on both sides all burned out. There won't be any more romance. But why the constant warfare? Just because there's a little more sulphur in the hair follicles is no alibi for blowing off at every little affront, real or fancied. It's a bit unusual for two redheads to swap affectionate phrases in the big way. But having found responsive heart beats under the respective red tops, couldn't a sense of humor, or just plain common sense, even, subscribe a little less inflamability to your meetings?

Just for the reputation of red hair, if for no other good reason, we'd suggest a course of training in temper control. You see, we belong to the carrot tops ourselves, and feel more than a little sensitive about the explosive temper charges. Personally, we feel we are a much abused race, vastly overrated as to temper tantrums. But you and your flaming sweetheart, young woman, simply add fuel to the flames of gossip anent our otherwise trustworthy clan. We don't like to hear you bragging about your temper nor offering your Titian locks as an alibi for a dynamite disposition. Nor your boy friend, either.

However, bragging about tempers seems to be a peculiarity common to more than the flaming haired. Blonde and brunette we've heard offering tantrums as a characteristic as unalterable as their noses or their ears. They just have a temper, and that's the way they are, so you can take it or leave it, is their line. As an argument, it's a flop. You can tame a temper as you can tame unruly locks, just by keeping after it or them. It's no more commendable a vice than meanness, drinking, gambling, or anything else that makes life miserable for those in contact with it.

Offers Golf Bag.

"Dear Miss Brown: I have a woman's golf bag and a set of clubs for which I have no further use. I wonder if some one would care to have them, also a traveling bag, which is rather worn, but still usable. These articles will have to be called for.—Mrs. E. S."

If you'd like to take advantage of this splendid offer, white to Mrs. S. in care of this department. Letters will be forwarded to the donor for selection.

Summer Dieting Slices Off the Excess Pounds

Hot Weather Ideal Time for Reducing.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Girls, if you ever had a time to let your extra weight sluice off you, it is in these hot weather months. If you make up your mind to get rid of ten, fifteen, twenty, or more pounds, I'd certainly urge you to do it right now while the temptation to eat heavy foods and heavily of foods is at its lowest ebb. You can get around now with easily half the food supply that's caused your extra poundage. And you can drink copiously of fluids, which is what your system needs more than anything else.

You know they do say that you can lead a woman to drink water in the summer time, but you can't make her take it in cold weather. Anyway, here's a diet I suggest for you, not only to make you feel more comfortable in the hot weather, but to rid yourself successfully of many pounds:

Start your morning, fifteen minutes before breakfast at least, with a glass of fruit juice. For breakfast take your coffee with one thin slice of rye bread, totaled, just scraped with butter. By a thin slice is meant THIN. A soft boiled egg a couple of mornings a week. Cream in your coffee sparingly is permitted, but no sugar. Around 10 a. m., take a glass of tomato juice.

For luncheon, a bowl of hot broth or a cold jellied soup, as your prefer. A mixed salad of fresh vegetables or fresh fruit with French dressing, a thin slice of toasted rye bread. Mid-afternoon have a fruit juice drink, lemonade, orangeade, grape juice, or pineapple juice. For dinner, a small bowl of broth, two fresh green vegetables, cooked, and a fruit salad with French dressing. Between dinner and bedtime, if you are hungry, take unsweetened pineapple juice.

Make yourself adhere rigidly to this diet for a week or ten days, and then begin adding meat or fish to your dinner meal.

If you stick to this diet you can't help but lose poundage and feel a thousand times better. No one feels the heat as does the overweight whose condition is due to overeating or eating of the heavy foodstuffs, all of which are eliminated from the above diet.

Hurry! If You Want Ticket to Cubs Game

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Where are those letters, boys and girls?

If you're coming to my party next week you'd better start working on your note to me, because Thursday is the deadline, you know!

I'm looking for 50 boys and 50 girls who'd like to go out to Cubs' park with me on Thursday, July 18, to see the game between the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia.

I have no way of knowing whether Johnnie Jones likes baseball better than Mary Brown, so you youngsters will have to tell me in your letters. I'm anxious to include the children who are the most enthusiastic Cub fans—who'll get a real thrill out of seeing their favorite players in action.

Tell me why you think you'd enjoy the party and which member of the Chicago team you like the best. You must each write your own letters, and have them delivered to me by Thursday morning. On that day I'll read all the mail, and select the lucky boys and girls who will be my guests next week. Letters must also include your name and address and your age.

If you forget any one of these three items your letter can't be a winner! Today's Tuesday, and your letter must be mailed by tomorrow, at the very latest, if it's to reach me in time—so ask mother for writing materials, an envelope, and a stamp—sit down in a quiet, cool corner, and start your note.

The address is Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Roosevelts Give Dinner for Australian Premier

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—The prime minister of Australia and Mrs. Josephus Aloysius Lyons arrived here today and are over-night guests in the White House. President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at dinner tonight for them. The company included the party traveling with the prime minister who are on their way back to Australia after attending the festivities of the king's jubilee in England. Mrs. Roosevelt had a company at tea this afternoon to meet Mrs. Lyons and the other ladies of her party.

are here to offer him congratulations in person, for Miss Breasted sailed on June 20 for Paris, where she will study art until late September, and Charles Breasted and his wife and baby son, David Cutcheon Breasted, are summering in Santa Barbara. Prof. Breasted and his bride, the former Mrs. Imogen H. Richmond, younger sister of Dr. Breasted's first wife, Mrs. Frances H. Breasted, who died a year ago, will sail in August for Italy, where Dr. Breasted will attend the international congress of orientalists in Rome in September.

Coolidge-Kelly Wedding July 20.

Winthrop Knowlton Coolidge and his parents, the Winthrop Coolidges of Kenwood avenue, will be making a trip to Baltimore in another ten days. On July 20 young Mr. Coolidge will take as his bride Miss Laetitia Bredow Kelly, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Atwood Kelly of Baltimore.

The service will be read at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Kelly, Liriodendron, at Bel Air, Md. A reception will follow the service and then Mr. Coolidge and his bride will leave on a wedding trip through the Adirondacks and into Canada. Upon their return they will live temporarily in Mr. Coolidge's parents' home since his parents are to be away most of the summer.

Mr. Coolidge is to have Donald M. Halsted of Montclair, N. J., for his best man. Miss Kelly will have for her only attendant her sister, Mrs. Douglas Warner of Baltimore.

Miss Mary Hewitt Jopling and Harry Halsted Harper Jr., whose engagement was announced last April, have chosen Sept. 24 as the date for their marriage. Since Miss Jopling is the daughter of Morgan White Jopling of New York City, the ceremony, of course, will be read in the east. Mr. Harper, whose parents are the Harry H. Harpers of Geneva, is living in New York.

Carpenters Going East for Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, who still are being fêted as a welcome home from China, are planning to leave Saturday for Pride's Crossing, Mass., where they will have the same house they occupied last summer. One of Mrs. Carpenter's daughters, Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson, who has a house in Lake Forest for the summer, will visit the Carpenters some time during the summer. Mrs. Carpenter's other daughter, Mrs. Robert S. Pirie, who is a Lake Forest "year-rounder," returned last night from a brief vacation with Mr. Pirie at the Island club in Wisconsin.

Mr. Carpenter's daughter, Mrs. Patrick C. Hill, and her little daughter, Rue Diana, arrived last Friday for a ten day stay in Chicago and are at an apartment hotel while they are here. The former Genevieve Carpenter and her Irish husband live in Fort Worth, Tex., and Mrs. Hill and Rue are on their way east to Charlotte, Vt., where they will spend the summer. Mr. Hill may join his family before they leave Chicago or he may wait and join them at Charlotte. Mrs. Hill is so busy seeing her many relatives here and taking Rue, who is almost 3, to see her grandfather and uncles and aunts and cousins, who all think she is about the most adorable mite in the world, with platinum blonde curls exactly like her mother's were [and still are] that there isn't any time for parties. It may be that Rue will have her tonsils out while she is here, in which case Mrs. Hill's departure for Vermont will be postponed a bit.

Rue's newest cousin is a second one—she has no first ones on the maternal side, for her mother was an only child—a baby born last Saturday to the former Rue Winterbotham, who is now Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw. The young man, who is receiving calls from his relatives at the Passavant hospital, is the second son of the Shaws.

Son Is Born to Frederick Haucks.

Just a few hours before Master Shaw was born the first child of the Frederick Haucks was born at the Chicago Lying-In hospital. His maternal grandparents are the Samuel T. Chases, for Mrs. Hauck is the former Janet Chase.

Another addition to Chicago society who will be a debutante in eighteen or nineteen years is Claiborne Watkins, the wee daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. P. Watkins of Lake Forest. She was born on Saturday, also, at the Michael Reese hospital. Her mother is the former Virginia Orr of Nashville, Tenn. The Watkinses have a son.

Mr. and Mrs. George Henry High left Sunday for Quebec, whence they will sail for a month in England with their son-in-law and daughter, Sir Charles and Lady Burney, whose summer address is Baynards Park, Cranleigh. Lady Burney is the former Gladys High.

The Arthur Meekers have arrived at their home, Constantia, in Montecito, Santa Barbara, Cal., where they will spend the summer.

Reception Today for John Downeses.

All of the entertaining there has been the last few weeks for Admiral and Mrs. John Downes and their daughter Caryle is testimony to their popularity. This afternoon Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Dana T. Merrill are having a reception and tea for them from 4:30 to 6 o'clock in the Officers' club at Fort Sheridan. More than 250 invitations have been issued.

Capt. and Mrs. Leroy Reinburg entertained at a buffet supper in their home at 2335 Commonwealth avenue Sunday night for Mrs. H. G. Hamlet of Washington, D. C., wife of Rear Admiral Hamlet, commander of the United States coast guard. Mrs. Hamlet later departed for Port Townsend, Wash., to visit her father, C. A. Hastings, 84 years old, retired captain of a sailing vessel. Capt. Reinburg is commander of the Chicago district of the coast guard.

Invitations have been issued for a luncheon the New Orient society is to have Saturday noon at the Tavern for Dr. Edward Hume, who arrives in Chicago Friday morning direct from the orient. Dr. Hume, a former vice president of the New Orient society, spends most of his time in the orient in the interest of Yale-in-China.

Following the luncheon Saturday he will make a brief address on political and economic conditions in the orient. Dr. Hume will be the house guest of his son, the Rev. Theodore Hume, pastor of the New England Congregational church. Dr. Hume is leaving for the east on Saturday afternoon. In October he will return to the orient.

Mrs. Philip T. Starck will open her beautiful home at Lake Geneva tomorrow for a sale under the auspices of the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins.

Cooking Editor Lists Supplies for Camp Meals

Suggests Possible Needs of Cabin Cuisine.

BY MARY MEADE.

Here's a letter that came to this cookbook laden desk recently from a young woman in Chicago:

"A group of girls is planning to rent a cottage for two weeks. We plan to do our own cooking. Can you tell us the amount of food we'd need to serve six during that time? What would you advise us to take—mostly canned goods? If you have any prepared menus for such outings we'd greatly appreciate them."

Knowing that there are many such groups, starting off on a cabin vacation, we felt that this letter deserved a whole day's attention rather than being crowded into the regular Saturday forum. And, although we haven't a prepared booklet on that subject, we have a few general suggestions, lingering from past experience with outings of that sort, that may prove helpful as a starting point for this group of vacationers and others.

In the first place, it's necessary to find out how dependable is the food supply source in the country you're visiting. Most places it's safe to depend upon a local dairy to furnish fresh milk, cream, butter, and eggs. If not, tins of milk will go along for beverages and cooking, and butter and eggs will have to be picked up at the last marketing place before you hit camp. Likewise at a number of camping sites there will be a local peddler of fresh home grown fruits and vegetables, so that an equivalent amount of canned foods can be checked off the standard list.

After checking up on that angle the next step is to get the party together (or appoint a commissary department) to plan halfway the meals for the whole period. Substitutions and rearrangements will be made, naturally, but a general plan helps tremendously in making a market list. Besides, the joys of anticipation being what they are, the experience of planning the meals in advance adds immeasurably to the fun of getting ready.

In a general way we've been sketching the market order these girls will need for their two weeks. If possible, to avoid the transportation problem, we'd suggest their buying these things as close to camp as possible. However, they could be purchased at home and if necessary shipped directly to their cabin in time to be there when the hungry party arrives.

Here's the canned food order we'd suggest:

15 No. 2½ cans fruit or fruit juice
18 No. 2 cans vegetables
6 No. 1 cans concentrated soup
12 1-pound cans meat or fish
1 quart jar jam
3 jars pickles and relishes

The fruit may be varied according to party preference and interspersed with tinned orange, grapefruit, tomato, and pineapple juice for variety. Among the vegetables may be peas, green beans, carrots, mushrooms, corn, tomatoes, spinach, baked beans, beets, asparagus—the whole list of them. The variety in canned soups likewise is interesting. Think of these for hungry campers: oxtail, pea, bean, vegetable, mock turtle, mushroom, consomme for chilling, or chicken broth with rice.

Among the meats are corned beef hash, ham, chicken, sausage, the devilled spreads, which may be varied with salmon, tuna, sardines, cod, shrimp, crab, and lobster. If fresh meat or fish will not be available, the amount quoted in the above list had best be increased to 16 or 18 pounds.

Besides these canned goods, the ordinary staples taken along will vary with the amount and type of cooking to be done. These should be checked against each individual party requirements: cheese, peanut butter, flour, salt, spices, tea, coffee, cocoa, sugar, macaroni and spaghetti, baking powder, prepared breakfast cereals; the prepared mixes for biscuits, gingerbread, devil's food cake, and the like; cooking fat, salad dressings or material for the same, and possibly dried egg powder.

Now a word about storing the camp supplies. Everything should be stacked as compactly and yet in as easily available position as possible. Canned foods should be protected from the weather in case of long vacations, for dampness may in time cause the cans to rust through and spoil. With the tentative menus tacked up beside the kitchen door, the division of duties fairly apportioned to prevent possible quibbles, and the cabin stocked with quantities of grand eatables which may be prepared in a hurry, one of the most important factors in a camping vacation is assured success.

Noisy Fun May Be Harmful to Small Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

At certain ages all the thrilling, noisy, funny, ridiculous, and "scary" rides and sights of a big summer amusement park have a positive fascination for children. And some of us have enough of the child and the carnival spirit left in us to enjoy these things after we grow up, and to eat the fresh popcorn and the sizzling "hot dog" on a roll in the hand with as much gusto as the children.

So you need imagination and sympathy to understand why some young children are made nervous and even terrified by all this racket and whirring, and by the often grotesque sights. I've seen children of 5 and 6 who couldn't be coaxed to go on a merry-go-round at a beach amusement park, and who shied away from the "barkers" and mysterious looking entrances to certain amusements.

If you love all these things and your young child doesn't don't force him—don't be impatient and think he is stubborn—and don't feel that he is abnormally nervous.

A mother writes, after describing various fears of her 2½ year old:

"There is one other phase I'm puzzled about, and that is when he is taken to a place for the first time such as Luna park. Instead of showing delight as I expected, he became moody and asked to be taken home."

Fears which the little boy or girl usually outgrows later, are frequent at this age, and while we do many things to eradicate them, we cannot always do so, and are often forced to make allowances for them. It is quite to be expected that a sensitive and small child like this one would find "fearsome" and unnatural all the sights and sounds that are especially planned to appeal by their differentness. Such children should not be taken to these places. Let them stay home, or plan for them to have the quieter pleasures of beach and water or park and greenery.

The bidding:

Pass	2 Ht.	Pass	3 Ht.
Pass	4 Ht.	Pass	Pass
Pass

[1] South might have responded with one no trump under the theory that if North bids two hearts he can raise to three without the fear that North should place him for more than he actually holds. But South did not expect a two heart bid from North. He expected a two spade bid, over one no trump and he had the wistful hope that after two diamonds, North might bid three in that suit.

This hand merely illustrates the fact that no system can be expected to cope with situations where both partners are compelled to stretch their holdings a bit. South must raise to three hearts—and there is no question but that North should bid four. After viewing the dummy, North did not criticize the bidding that got him to game. His mental comment was:

"There may be a play for the contract."

East opened a trump—a thoughtful, well advised lead, however it may have resulted. Taking with the ten, North played back a spade. East won, and returned another trump. Smiling sweetly at West, North asked whether he was ready to put up his king. When West discarded a club, North apologized profusely.

He cashed his ace of diamonds and queen of spades, discarding a club from the board. The ten of spades was the next play. The declarer hoped that East's repeated trump leads were to protect his off suit holdings. Unfortunately, it transpired that East was protecting his partner's spades. East discarded a club—no one appeared to want that suit—and North ruffed the spade on the board. The king of diamonds was cashed, on which North discarded a spade, and a club played back. West went in with the ace. Whereas the diamond would have been an eminently safe return, West chose to return another club. North took the finesse of the jack. At this point, the hands were:

Bland Soap for White Hair.

Mrs. L. D.: It is most unwise to use tar soap, green soap, or any strong soap mixtures on white hair. Use a bland soap for shampooing and be sure to rinse the hair well. To eliminate yellow streaks, add enough French bluing to the last rinse water to make the water a light blue. An occasional egg shampoo is recommended for white hair.

AMERICAN LEAGUE WINS ALL-STAR GAME, 4-1

THE GUMPS—DID MY FACE TURN RED?

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright, 1935, by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

NATIONALS ARE BEATEN BY FAST BALL PITCHING

Hitters Baffled by Dark Stadium.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., July 8.—Too much speed balling in a dark setting is the answer to the discomfiture experienced by great hitters today when the American league All-Stars handed a beating to the National league's best in the third of the All-Star games.

Cleveland's vast municipal stadium, a nightmare to hitters during the short time it was used for American league games a few seasons ago, again demonstrated that it is a joyful spot for pitchers.

Proof of this was furnished not alone by the fact that hitting was light, especially among the National leaguers, but that a total of 14 strikeouts was recorded. Strangely enough, nine of these were inflicted on the victors, most of whom had played in the stadium.

Gomez Baffles 'Em.

The two prize speed ballers of the day were Vernon [Lefty] Gomez, the Yankee ace, who during the present season has experienced more trouble than pleasure, and Hal Schumacher of the Giant staf.

Gomez was fast as a streak and in only a couple of instances did he have to ease up slightly to fight off a threatened loss of control. He didn't fan many, four to be exact, and oddly enough, the energetic Pepper Martin, a right handed hitter, was his victim. But his well controled speed, mixed with the usual hooks, kept the National leaguers from taking toe holds. Most of the time they were poking at his deliveries and hitting harmless grounders. It was a case of self-defense against third strikes.

Gomez, who set a high mark for All-Star games by going through six innings, at least vindicated the judgment of Mickey Cochrane, the manager, whom the experts joshed a bit because he had spurned pitchers with better season records. Gomez had been through fire before and experience was what Cochrane relied upon. He guessed right.

Speed Was the Thing.

Schumacher, in the four innings he worked after relieving Walker at the start of the third, was touched for four hits and a run, but he proved, however, that had he been in there at the start, the outcome might have been less decisive. He pitched two innings without a ball being knocked out of the infield. Even the lone hit in that time was a mere fluke to Pepper Martin by Al Simmons. Just before Simmons came through with this scratch hit, Schumacher had fanned Foxx and Johnson on blinding fast balls. Foxx looked at his third strike go past, but Johnson swung and missed his.

The worth of Schumacher's speed also was evident in the fifth even though he yielded three hits in this inning. He started off by striking out Cronin and he got Gomez out on a soft roller to short before trouble popped. Vosmik came through with a hit that expert fielding by Ott held to a single. Gehringer sneaked a ground hugging single past Herman, who was reaching down while on the run. A pass to Gehrig filled the bases, whereupon Schumacher put on his best exhibition, but was outlucked.

Schumacher Works on Foxx.

Unmindful of the fact that Foxx had already wrecked the Nationals with his homer, Schumacher shot two fast balls right through the heart of the plate. Foxx swung at the first and missed. The second was called. Then Schumacher tried to make the Athletics' home run expert go after bad balls, but he ignored two of them. The next burned right over the plate and Foxx hit it straight back at Schumacher, who reached down and got his hands around the ball. But the power behind it handcuffed him

ALL-AMERICANS' OFFENSE DEVISED TO THRILL FANS

BY NOBLE KIZER.

The members of the all-star football squad last fall afforded the coaches a series of surprises during the training period at Northwestern university. Most of these surprises fortunately were agreeable, especially the climax when these boys, after two weeks of training, held the Chicago Bears, champions of the National Professional league, to a scoreless tie.

My first surprise, when I greeted the boys on the practice field north of Dyche stadium, was their splendid physical condition. Naturally I didn't expect to find a group of overweight, broken down old men. These boys were only one year removed from the college gridiron. But neither had I counted on the enthusiasm with which the athletes from all sections of the nation had accepted THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's invitation to take part in the All-Star game.

Squad Physically Ready.

Many of these players had started preliminary drills as soon as they had been notified of their election to the team in the national poll. As a result they had the routine conditioning well under way. It also assured the coaches that the team would be physically ready for anything the Bears could offer.

There they were—thirty-five of the finest athletes the universities could muster. We had equipment, trainers, doctors, and ideal quarters. The next move belonged to the coaches.

What kind of attack should we strive to teach in the limited time? These boys had played different "systems" or modifications of them. Their individual instructions had varied. How could these be coördinated? As head coach I had to make the decision for the result, success or failure, would be largely chargeable to me.

Decides on Notre Dame Shift.

First I determined that each man would play his individual position as he had been taught. He would be given his assignment and then it was up to him to account for its completion by the block or tactics to which he was accustomed. To an extent this is a wise fundamental in dealing with experienced football players. Certainly it was wise in view of the limitation of two weeks training.

In the second place, I decided that the attack would be based on what is commonly known as the Notre Dame shift.

Why not? I played under that system of offense, understood it better than any other, and believed it the best balanced of all forms of football offense to furnish speed, deception, and power.

Some of my friends urged me to use something else. It isn't fair to the system, they said. But I believed that

SOME POMP WINS BELLWOOD PURSE IN CLOSE FINISH

BY FRENCH LANE.

Warren Wright's fleet racing mare, Some Pomp, moved nearer the sprint championship of the Arlington Park season yesterday when she galloped home in the Bellwood purse.

The race was at six furlongs and it engaged many of the most noted speedsters in the country. At the finish Some Pomp's nose was a bobbin' in front and Cloud D'Or, the Westrope family steed, owned by Mrs. Westrope, trained by her husband, and ridden by her son, the spectacular Jack, was second. In third place, but beaten a length by the two leaders, was the Kentucky sprinter, Glynson.

Races Six Furlongs in 1:11.

It was the second victory Some Pomp, of the nimble feet, has scored at Arlington. She made a runaway of the Inaugural handicap just a week earlier while racing in the mud. She scored her victory in the Bellwood over a lightning fast track and sizzled the six furlongs in 1:11 and thus gets credit for running the fastest race of the young Arlington Park season.

Ten paraded to the post in the Bellwood, and it was a helter-skelter betting affair from the time the wagering opened. Some Pomp had a horde of backers, but so did Wise Daughter, Biff, Cloud D'Or, and two or three others.

At post time Some Pomp's army of backers had made her the favorite, and the daughter of Pompey-Some More never caused them to worry to any great extent.

Wagner Pilots Winner.

Little Joe Wagner, America's leading jocky, shot her into a lead of a length and a half soon after Starter Dickerson gave the field the word to go. He kept her a length in front until the field was within a sixteenth of a mile of the finish line.

Some Pomp had run the quarter in :22 4-5 and the half in :46. That's flying on any race track and it was but natural that Some Pomp became a bit leg weary in the final strides, but she hung on long enough to shake off Cloud D'Or's late challenge.

In the betting Some Pomp paid $6.80 to win, $4.60 to place and $4.00 to show. Cloud D'Or paid $11.20 to place and $6.40 to show. Glynson, the extreme outsider in the race, paid $14.20 to show.

Some Pomp was bred by William R. Coe, who sold her as a yearling to Mr. Wright for $10,000. She is a sister to Osculator, one of the best horses ever to race in the Coe silks. Osculator finished third in the Arlington Futurity and later in his career beat Equipoise in the Havre de Grace handicap.

Not So Good at a Distance.

The Wright filly has not been able to extend her speed over as great distances as her brother did, but she has been an excellent winner in sprint events. She is true to the Pompey type, being short and blocky, with heavy body, and she is closely coupled.

CLEVELAND, O., July 8.—[Special.]—The third annual All-Star baseball game, played before the largest crowd of the series, lacked the thrills of the first two games. There was no home run by Babe Ruth to decide the game, although Jimmy Foxx's wallop into the left field stands accounted for two runs, the same as Ruth's dramatic drive in the 1933 game at Comiskey park. . . . There was no brilliant pitching achievement to equal that of Carl

DIZZY DEAN. JIMMY FOXX. AL SIMMONS. LEFTY GOMEZ.

Hubbell in 1934, yet no pitcher in the interleague contest has hurled better ball than Lefty Gomez did today. . . . It was simply too orthodox baseball to be exciting. . . . The American league was the better club from beginning to end, just as it was in 1933 and 1934. . . . It appears that the National league realizes it hasn't the stars to cope with the pick of the American league, for today it used four pitchers, three of whom had no right to be in the game. . . . They were not sufficiently rested. . . . Gomez and Harder, who went the distance for the American league, were in shape and stopped the famous sluggers of the rival organization wherever and whenever they pleased. . . .

You did not need to be a resident of Cleveland to recognize that this is a one league town. . . . The crowd was apathetic when the National league was at bat or contributed a sparkling fielding play, but roared tumultuously for the American leaguers, particularly Joe Vosmik and Mel Harder, members of the Cleveland club. . . . Dizzy Dean was the only National league player to get a hand. When he strode from the bullpen to relieve Paul Derringer in the eighth it seemed that the 69,812 rose from their seats to shout a welcome. . . .

Foxx's Homer in 1st Clinches Victory.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., July 8.—The pick of American league stars today met the best talent the National league could put forth in the third annual All-Star baseball game. The American league was victorious, 4 to 1, improving on its 4 to 2 triumph in the original spectacle at Chicago in 1933 and the 9 to 7 advantage it enjoyed in New York last July 10.

A crowd of 69,812 paid to view the great show under perfect, cool weather conditions. While the turnout was not up to forecasts, it surpassed the Chicago crowd by more than 20,000 and last year's assemblage by more than 21,000. The gross receipts were $93,692.80.

Foxx's Homer Decides Game.

The Americans won the game after two were out in the last half of the first inning, when Jimmy Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics, all time runner-up to Babe Ruth in the home run profession, knocked a homer with Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees on base. Gehrig had forced Charley Gehringer of the Detroit Tigers, who had been walked by Bill Walker, the National league's starting pitcher and an overnight selection on the All-Star cast.

Lefty Vernon Gomez, the Yankees' left handed ace, was the victors' starting pitcher, as he was in the inaugural game originated and sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and as he was in last year's game. Lefty was the winning pitcher in 1933 and today, but last year Mel Harder of the Cleveland Indians pitched great ball in the last five innings to grab the honor. Harder pitched the last three innings today and held the Nationals to the fourth of their four hits, a double by Jimmy Wilson of the Phillies with two out in the seventh.

Add Two More.

The lads from the National league escaped a shutout in the fourth inning when they were trailing, 3 to 0. Arky Vaughan of the Pirates doubled, Joe Medwick of the Cardinals walked, and Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, singled for the only National score.

The American leaguers made their third run in the second inning, also off Walker, on a triple by Rollie Hemsley of the Browns, who, like Walker, was an eleventh hour selection in the All-Star lineup, and a fly by Joe Cronin. The last run of the game was put across at the expense of Hal Schumacher of the Giants, the second National league pitcher, in the fifth, the entire enterprise being negotiated after two were out. Singles by Joe Vosmik of Cleveland and Gehringer, a walk to Gehrig, which filled the bases, and an infield scratch off Schumacher's ankles by Foxx did the business.

Three Chicagoans in Game.

Three Chicagoans got into the contest. Billy Herman of the Cubs played throughout at second base and Gabby Hartnett, also of the Cubs, caught the last two innings for the National leaguers. Herman failed to hit and Hartnett did not have a chance to bat. On the victory side was Al Simmons of the White Sox, who despite his slump in the American league, sustained his position as the leading hitter among the performers who have appeared in all three all-star games. Al had a single and a double today in four times at bat. He scratched the single off Schumacher and knocked a genuine double off Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals, who pitched the final inning for the National league. In the three all-star games Simmons has been at bat 13 times, has made three doubles and three singles, for an average of .461. In contrast with Al is Gehrig, who played in all three games without making a hit.

It was the first game of the series

AMERICAN STARS JUBILANT OVER THIRD VICTORY

Frisch Says He'll Get 'Em Next Year.

Cleveland, O., July 8.—[(AP)]—They were slapping backs in the American league dressing room after today's All-Star game, but over in the National league's shower room they were slapping back.

Only a little of the National players' chagrin over their third straight defeat in the All-Star encounter was offset by the fact their efforts helped place $93,692.80 in the fund which will be used to aid unfortunate baseball players.

Mickey Cochrane, whose Detroit Tigers lost the world series last year to St. Louis, was jubilant as his players, recruited from every club in the league, crowded around to shake his hand.

"We got back at 'em for you," was Jimmy Foxx's greeting. It was Jimmy's long home run in the first inning, with Lou Gehrig of the Yanks on base, which gave the American leaguers their victory.

Foxx Picks on Curve

"What was it you hit?" Mickey asked Foxx.

"A curve," was the reply. "They will try to hook that three and two ball, these National leaguers."

Frankie Frisch, manager of the Cardinals who led the Nationals into the All-Star game, was rather melancholy about it all, but placed the blame on his pitchers.

"Practically all have been working hard lately and three of the boys we had to rely on pitched nine innings yesterday. The result was they just didn't do their stuff. We had a couple of chances to win the game with a hit in the right place, but Gomez and Harder bore down, and we didn't get 'em."

The turning point of the game, according to Frisch's estimate, came almost before the contest was under way, when Foxx hit his home run.

That Was a Mistake.

Asked why he chose Walker of the Cardinals, over night entry on the Nationals, All-Star layout, as his starting pitcher, Frisch replied:

"I thought it was the best strategy at the moment. I'd start him again under the same circumstances. The only mistake he made was that home run ball he threw to Foxx. It was a hook, but it came in there too nice. This can't go on forever, and we'll be in there after 'em again next year."

Gomez and Harder, along with Foxx, were the heroes down in the Americans' room, their mates slapping them on the back for their sterling work.

But Dizzy Dean, shoved on the mound for the Nationals in the eighth and escaping being scored on by the skin of his teeth, wasn't so popular as he dressed after the game.

"Can't throw 'em through there like you used to, can you Diz?" asked Mel Ott, New York's scrappy outfielder.

But Diz came back with a typical Dean answer:

"I didn't have all my stuff working today—but I'll be throwing 'em past all you guys for the rest of the year."

O'MAHONEY PINS INDIAN IN FIRST TITLE DEFENSE

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Dan O'Mahoney was successful in his first defense of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship tonight. The 22 year old Irishman defeated Chief Little Wolf of Trinidad, Colo., in 28 minutes and 23 seconds at the Yankee stadium, while a crowd of 12,000 looked on.

While O'Mahoney's victory was not a surprise, the manner in which he disposed of his first challenger was. Instead of effecting the triumph with the Irish whip, the grip with which he has won most of his bouts, O'Mahoney pressed Little Wolf's shoulders to the mat with a body hold, after getting him into position with a flying scissors.

Until a few minutes before he was tossed, Little Wolf had a decided advantage over the young Irishman and punished O'Mahoney several times with crushing head locks. Once O'Mahoney applied the Irish whip, but it had so little effect on the challenger that he walked into the Irishman disdainfully. He became rough, and tossed the title holder about easily.

This treatment incensed O'Mahoney, who smashed the Indian to the floor three times with his right forearm. Little Wolf wobbled dizzily and O'Mahoney whirled him to the floor. There the champion clamped a body hold and forced the chief's shoulders to the mat.

Athletics Win Twilight Exhibition Game, 9 to 5

Hubbard Signs to Play with Green Bay Again

Green Bay, Wis., July 8.—[Special.]—Cal Hubbard, professional football tackle, has signed to play with the Green Bay Packers in the National Professional league again next fall after a year's absence from the game while he coached at Texas A. and M. college.

Hubbard, who weighs 265 pounds and stands six feet four inches in height, joined the Packers in 1929 after playing with the New York Giants. He remained with Green Bay through the 1933 season.

The giant lineman, who played undergraduate football at Geneva college, now is umpiring in the International league and will join the Packers Sept. 10.

Talking It Over

Al Simmons of the White Sox, who cracked out a double and a single in four times at bat, rolled his total to six hits in 13 attempts, thus becoming the leading three star man of the series. . . . Al's double was a wicked wallop close to the right field foul line off Dean in the eighth. . . . Two players once owned by the Cubs, Berger of the Braves and Hemsley of the Browns, were in the starting lineup, along with Billy Herman, whom Manager Frisch used at second for the entire game. . . . Gabby Hartnett relieved Wilson behind the plate in the seventh, but did not get a chance to bat. . . .

Lou Gehrig of the Yanks, playing at first base for the third time, again failed to make a hit. . . . One of the greatest batters in the game, he has failed to connect safely in the interleague series. . . . Things have been breaking fast for Rollie Hemsley of the Browns. . . . A week ago when his club was playing in Chicago he was stricken with an attack of appendicitis and for a few hours it appeared that an operation would be necessary. . . . Today he was in the starting lineup of the American league All-Stars. . . . Rollie says he still gets an occasional stitch in his side, but doesn't think he will have to go under the knife until after the season. . . . Mike Gonzales, a former Cub, conducted infield batting practice for the American league. . . . Municipal stadium, where the game was played, is the only park in the American league in which Babe Ruth has failed to knock a homer. . . . The Babe saw today's game from a front box near the American league dugout with Mrs. Ruth. . . . The distance from home plate to the left and right field walls is 320 feet. . . . The center field bleachers are 493 feet away.

The handsome souvenir program had an action picture of Billy Evans as an umpire on the cover. . . . Evans now is business manager of the Cleveland Indians. . . . One of the pages contained autographs of prominent players, but there was something phoney about them. Lon Warneke, for example, was signed "L. Dixie Warneke." . . . Lon never uses Dixie. . . . Van Mungo of Brooklyn, who had been picked as a National league pitcher, but was unable to play because of a bruise on the third finger of his pitching hand, chased fly balls in center field during batting practice. . . . So did Carl Hubbell of the Giants. . . .

The happiest fan in the stadium was a 12 year old Chicago girl, named Ruth Ward, who was taken to the American league bench before the game by a league official where she was photographed with Joe E. Brown, who came from Hollywood especially for the contest, and with Babe Ruth. . . . There will be domestic strife when her 11 year old brother hears about all this. . . . Babe Herman of Cincinnati, former Cub outfielder, paid his way into the game, which probably will stand as an interleague record. . . . Joe Medwick of the Cardinals protested vigorously when Umpire Red Ormsby ruled that he had swung at a third strike in the first inning. It looked for a while as if he intended to use his spikes on the arbiter. . . . National league pitchers struck out nine, while Gomez and Harder of the American league fanned only five, this being about the only department of play in which Mr. Frick's boys excelled.

Officials in charge of the Republican Crusaders' convention, now in session here, pulled a boner. . . . They were crowded out of the headlights by the All-Star game. . . . On this particular day in this particular city nobody cared who would run for President on the Republican ticket or whether the New Deal went to smash. . . . Bob Johnson of the Athletics, the American league's leading hitter, struck out three times in a row. . . . Among the 69,812 spectators were the entire casts of the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Browns. . . . The Cubs, who were in Pittsburgh yesterday, sent their players home from there. . . . Every state was represented in the throng, but John Larway of Vancouver, B. C., came the farthest. . . . He made the 3,300 mile trip by auto. . . . Fabian Kowalik of the Cubs was the National league's batting practice pitcher. . . .

Word reached this department's hotel that a fan whose name sounded like that of his old pal, Paul Gallico, had lined up at the bleacher window 17½ hours before the game, but it turned out to be Entiquio Gallo of Santi Spiritus, Cuba. . . . And was he mad when he found out that he could have come in 17 hours later and got a seat almost as good. . . . Cleveland fans don't like the bleachers. . . . The huge center field stands, barely visible from the press box, were only one-third filled. . . . Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, who was one of the three National league objectors when the writer proposed the All-Star game in 1933, said today it was the greatest boost baseball has had in years.

The sloppiest fielding of the day was turned in by Edward Burns and Francis Powers in the fourth inning when Bob Johnson's foul landed in the press box. . . . Ed Prell, a younger and more agile author, pocketed the ball. . . . Immediately after the game workmen began to lay out a ringside section on the field for a boxing show to be held in the evening. And so the end of another great day for baseball and another glorious day for the American league.

Ten Years Ago Today—Dazzy Vance's hitting upset the Cubs and Manager Maranville, 4 to 2. . . . Sid Terris and Ace Hudkins finished training for their ten round bout at East Chicago. . . . Fred T. Dawson, former Nebraska coach, was appointed football coach at Denver university. . . . Arabian won the feature race at Hawthorne. . . . Onwentsia's golf team won the Chicago district championship for the fifth time.

and it rolled over to third for a single, Vosmik scoring. Then he worked on Bob Johnson of the Athletics with his speed and fanned him.

It might be termed second guessing on Frankie Frisch, who bossed the National leaguers, but in starting Lefty Walker he apparently didn't make allowance for the advantage the local arena gives to pitchers with excessive speed.

Walker Lacked Speed.

Walker wasn't fast, at least not fast enough. Neither did he pitch cautiously. Either because he feared walking a few or because his control was too good, he aimed just about every pitch right into the middle of the plate without enough on any of them. The ball that Foxx smashed 375 feet into the left field seats was a 3 and 2 cripple.

There is some balm for the National league, granted that it feels badly about Walker's sudden fadeout, in the fact that his appearance was due to an emergency. If Van Lingle Mungo of the Brooklyn Dodgers, one of the original pitching nominees, hadn't been injured recently he probably would have started today. And when it comes to a matter of speed balling, Mungo rates second to none. Municipal stadium was the ideal place for him.

When Gomez finished after six innings, the Nationals had to look at curve balling and the sudden shift blinded them almost completely. Mel Harder, in case you don't know, throws about the wickedest curve ball in the American league. He allowed only one hit in three innings, which is the same number he gave up in a five inning finishing job last year at New York.

The one hit against him today wasn't exactly healthy. It was a short fly ball off Wilson's bat. It dropped close to the right field line and twisted into foul territory for a double. While Harder was pitching only one National leaguer was retired by an outfielder, which is good proof that his curve had them crossed up.

HARRIDGE TUNES IN ON GAME AND FORGETS ILLNESS

William Harridge, president of the American league, forgot all about his illness as he listened to a radio report of his league's victory over the National league all stars at Cleveland yesterday.

"I am delighted, naturally," Harridge said. "I want to extend my congratulations to Mickey Cochrane and his all stars for another splendid American league victory."

Harridge has been suffering with a kidney ailment, but greatly improved, expects to leave St. Francis hospital in Evanston in a few days.

Dizzy Dean Lets Manager Frisch Off with Warning

Cleveland, O., July 8.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, recent subject of Manager Frankie Frisch's wrath for not taking a bow at an exhibition ball game, spent the day chuckling about his "warning" to the St. Louis Cardinal manager.

Accused of rank Deanishness for allegedly letting down several thousand St. Paul fans, Dizzy reversed the charges on Frisch last night while they were on the way here for the all-star game.

As the train carrying the National league stars stopped at a small Indiana town, a group of youthful fans stormed in for autographs.

Dizzy, in his stocking feet, went to the platform of the coach, autographed cards and scraps of paper, and persuaded other players to do likewise. Frisch at the time was undressed and in his drawing room.

"Come on Frank," Dizzy pleaded in a modulated bellow. "These poor kids won't have no chance to see the all-star game, and they want to see you. Come on out and speak to them."

Frisch, however, was tired, and not dressed for company, and he asked to be excused.

"Okay, Frank," Dizzy announced. "I've given you a fair chance and you've fallen down. I gotta good notion to fine you."

Pressed for a statement, Frisch delivered the opinion that Dizzy was still in "one of his trances." Later Dizzy said he had changed his mind and would not suspend his manager.

"I'm letting him off with a warning this time," explained Dizzy.

PIRRONE BEATS RISKO; BATTAGLIA STOPS HALPER

Cleveland, O., July 8.—(AP)—Paul Pirrone of Cleveland became an outstanding contender for the middleweight championship tonight by defeating Babe Risko of Syracuse in a 10 round bout.

Erie, Pa., Fan Collapses at All-Star Game; Dies Later

Cleveland, O., July 8.—(AP)—Charles W. McLeod, of Erie, Pa., collapsed at the all-star game today and was taken to the St. Vincent Charity hospital, where he died. Physicians attributed his death to a heart attack. McLeod was attending the game with a group of friends from Erie.

All-American Attack Devised to Thrill Fans

the people who would attend the game in Soldiers' field wanted to see ground gained. A rugged defense is necessary, but the thrill comes when the ball is advanced. These all-star players certainly could master fundamental plays in two weeks. In that I found I was correct.

They Know Their Plays.

The college team last year had a repertoire of approximately six running plays and four forward passes. However, every man on the squad knew those plays. That was the difference between a team which outgained the Bears in yardage and the average lackadaisical exhibition of all-stars.

In dividing the coaches' work I chose to direct the linemen. Jimmy Crowley, one of the four horsemen, quite naturally took over the responsibility for the backfield. Mal Elward coached the ends while Dick Hanley was given the responsibility for setting up the defensive strategy. In this Dick was invaluable. He had seen the Bears play a score of games, knew the strength and weakness of the players, and the probable offensive play of the team. How well he performed his share of the coaching is attested by the defense which kept the Bears from scoring.

GIANTS DEFEAT NEWARK, 3 TO 2; TAKE SERIES

Chicago's American Giants headed east today, well up in the second half of the Negro National league race after whipping the Newark Dodgers, 3 to 2, at Cole's park, yesterday to give them three out of four in the series.

Willie Foster, Giants, southpaw, made his first league start in six weeks and, after yielding a run in the first two innings, hurled shutout ball. He allowed only five hits.

The Giants got six hits off Evans. Turkey Stearns' single in the third gave the Giants a 3 to 2 margin that was maintained to the end of the game. Scores:

Newark	110	000	000—2	5	0
Chicago	102	000	00*—3	6	2

AMERICAN STARS BEAT NATIONAL LEAGUERS, 4 TO 1

played in a one league city, and Cleveland being an American league station, the crowd for the most part was well pleased with the outcome.

All of the reserved seats were sold, the lone disappointment being in the unreserved bleachers, with a capacity of 12,000. Only 3,108 customers appeared in this section. This specific falling off was attributed to over optimistic statements which might have frightened away potential rushees.

Neither Frankie Frisch nor Mickey Cochrane, managers of the teams and playing managers in their respective leagues, made an appearance in today's lineups. Frisch, who was the outstanding National league performer in both of the earlier games, managed from the bench, while Cochrane, second American catcher in last year's game, spent most of his time in the bull pen, warming up pitchers and wig-wagging signals to the bench and playing field.

Pepper Starts with a Bang.

Martin hit the first pitch of the game for a Texas league single to short left. Cronin was the only fielder who made a play for the ball, but he was four or five feet from it when it plunked to earth. Vaughan lined to Johnson. Then, on Gomez's second pitch to Ott, Martin stole second. Pepper reached third while Cronin was throwing out Ott and was stranded there when Medwick fanned after a three and two count.

Vosmik got the first big hand when he came to bat to launch the American league offensive. His response was a tap to Herman. Bill came in fast and got the Clevelander with a nice underhand toss to Terry. Gehringer walked and was forced by Gehrig, Terry to Vaughan. Foxx ran the count to three balls and two strikes, letting the two strikes go by. Then he smacked a homer into about the tenth row of the lower deck of the left field stands. It was a 340 foot shot. Gehrig trotted home ahead of Jimmy. Herman went into short right for Johnson's pop up.

Terry opened the second inning with a line drive to Johnson. Berger popped to Gehrig in front of first base. Herman hammered a drive off Gomez's glove. Lefty recovered the ball and threw to Gehrig for the putout.

Al Misses One.

Simmons fanned on three pitches in the American half of the inning. The first two strikes were called and Al cuffed in vain at the third one. Hemsley, surprise starter in the game, rammed a line triple off the wall in left, a beautiful smash which gave Medwick a merry chase. Cronin flied to Berger and Hemsley had an easy trot home with the third American league run. Schumacher started warming up in the National league bull pen. Gomez fanned.

Wilson grounded out to Gehringer at the outset of the third inning. Mancuso batted for Walker and popped to Cronin in short left. Martin fanned.

Schumacher took over the pitching assignment in the last half of the third. Vosmik tapped to Schumacher, who leaped high in the air for the ball, then tossed to Terry. Herman made a nice stop of Gehringer's hot grounder and threw him out. Herman also tossed out Gehrig as Big Lou, chosen over Hank Greenberg, continued hitless in the All-Star series.

Vaughan opened the fourth inning with a double to left center. Ott popped to Hemsley near the pitcher's plate. Medwick again ran the count to three balls and two strikes, then walked. Terry singled sharply over second, Vaughan scoring and Medwick stopping at second. Berger was called out on strikes on the fourth pitch. Herman sent a high fly to Johnson.

Foxx couldn't get his bat off his shoulder in time to offer at a third strike in the last of the fourth. Johnson was chumped on a wide curve as he, too, became a strikeout victim. Simmons beat out a slow bouncer to Martin and reached second when Martin threw the ball over Terry's head for the only error of the game. Hemsley tapped in front of the plate and was tagged by Wilson.

There was a delay in the game while Umpire Ormsby, who had been officiating behind the plate, doffed his shin guards and Umpire Magerkurth donned his regalia to call balls and strikes. Ormsby went to third, Sears to second and Geisel to first.

One More for Foxx.

Cronin became the third American league's strikeout victim at the start of the latter half of the fifth. Vaughan threw out Gomez. Vosmik lined a single to right for the fourth American league hit. Gehringer singled to right, putting Vosmik on third. Vosmik fell on his face 25 feet from third, but recovered and dived headlong into the bag, although no play was made on him. Gehrig walked on five pitches, filling the bases. Foxx ran the count to two balls and two strikes, then caromed a single off Schumacher's ankles, Vosmik scoring. This gave Jimmy a record of having driven in three of his team's four runs. Johnson again fanned, leaving Gehringer, Gehrig, and Foxx on bases.

Vaughan walked on four pitches to start the sixth. The fourth pitch went to the screen, but Vaughan did not try to go beyond first. Ott lined to Simmons in deep right center. Medwick sent an easy fly to Vosmik. Gomez slowed down Terry's grounder and the ball bounced to second base, where Gehringer picked it up, with his foot on the base, to force Vaughan.

Harder Relieves Gomez.

Terry retired in favor of Collins, with a batting record of one hit and one run batted in in three times at bat. Simmons, first up, in the American league half fanned for the second time. Hemsley popped to Collins. Ott went into right center for Cronin's fly.

Harder, pitching hero of last year's game, went in to pitch the seventh, Gomez retiring with a record of having surrendered three hits and one run in six innings. He struck out four and walked two. Moore batted for Berger and flied to Simmons. Herman, trying to duck away from the plate, allowed his bat to collide with the ball and send it to Harder, who tossed him out. Wilson doubled near the right field line and Whitehead ran for him. P. Waner batted for Schumacher and grounded to Gehringer.

Schumacher retired with a record of allowing only one run and four hits in four innings. He fanned five and walked one. Derringer succeeded him as the National league pitcher and Hartnett was his catcher. Moore went to center field. Harder fanned to start the American league seventh and Herman threw out Vosmik. Gehringer doubled off Collins' glove, the ball going deep into right field. Moore went to the running track in far right center to pull down Gehrig's drive.

Whoops for Dizzy.

Dizzy Dean went to the bull pen as his team went to bat in the eighth and got a big whoop from the customers. Martin supplied the first out in this inning with a grounder to Cronin and Vaughan went out the same way. Ott fanned.

The most noise of the afternoon was made when Dean came in to pitch the eighth. Foxx walked after a three and two count and there was more hollering by the fans. Johnson, the American league's leading hitter, fanned for the third straight time. Simmons doubled to right for his second hit and the American leaguers' seventh. Hemsley tapped to Vaughan, who threw to Hartnett to head off Foxx at the plate as Simmons advanced to third. Foxx and Simmons both wound up on third where Hartnett tagged them both. Foxx had prior right to the base and Simmons was called out. Cronin popped to Vaughan.

STARS COMPETE IN METROPOLITAN TRACK TONIGHT

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—The Metropolitan A. A. U. will stage its all-star track and field meet on the New York university track tomorrow evening. Holders of ten national championships, six N. C. A. A. titles, five I. C.-4 A crowns and four Western conference championships were included today in the entry list for the meet.

Jesse Owens, world's record breaker, and Eulace Peacock, the Temple star who defeated him in last week's national meet, head the fastest sprint field ever gathered here. George Anderson and Foy Draper, both of the University of California, will race the two colored stars in 100 meters.

Owens and Peacock are also to head the running broad jump field. Owens was defeated last week at Lincoln, Neb., and is determined to avenge that setback, as well as the one in the sprint, tomorrow.

ELEANOR DUDLEY LEADS FIELD IN WESTERN GOLF

Cards 81; Miss Williams Posts 84 for 2d Place.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Eleanor Dudley, husky young star of the Ridge Country club, led the qualifiers in the championship flight of the sixteenth annual junior tournament of the Women's Western Golf association yesterday at the Westmoreland Country club with a card of 81, three over women's par for the Wilmette course.

Miss Dudley, who has been one of the ablest Chicago district scorers for the last two years, finished three strokes up on Ellamae Williams of River Forest, who ran off with the qualifying medal in last year's tournament at Park Ridge. Third among the eight championship qualifiers was Virginia Lindblad, the Joliet girl who made a good impression in the 1934 tourney.

In today's first round of match play in the championship flight, Miss Dudley will be matched against Alice Ann Anderson, the 1933 titleholder from Kenosha, while Miss Williams will meet Paula Parker of Milwaukee.

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Eleanor Dudley, Ridge [81], vs. Alice Ann Anderson, Kenosha [90].

Hilda Livengood, Flossmoor [90], vs. Betty Mackemer, Peoria [96].

FIRST FLIGHT.

Louise Johnson, Mohawk [99], vs. Betty Parkman, Aledo, Ill. [107].

A playoff between the Misses Mackemer and Briese was necessary to determine the last place in the championship flight, with the former winning on the first extra hole.

Par—Out	455	434	455—39
Par—In	454	445	535—39—78
Miss Dudley—Out	555	534	755—44
Miss Dudley—In	454	354	534—37—81
Miss Williams—Out	546	535	454—41
Miss Williams—In	464	455	555—43—84

Miss Dudley three putted the first green, dubbed an iron shot at the fourth, and was out of bounds at the seventh. Coming home, however, she scored a birdie at the thirteenth, hooked to a trap at the next green, but nicked par on both the 15th and 18th for a back nine of 37, two under par.

Miss Williams found difficulty with her putting, missing two footers at the first, third, sixth, and fourteenth holes, not to mention a meeting with the rough at the fourth and a bunker on the 17th.

Joyce Wethered, the English girl who is acknowledged to be the world's greatest woman golfer, will make her final Chicago district appearance at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at the Ravisloe Country club, pairing with Johnny Dawson of Glen Oak against Tommy Armour of Medinah and Jim Noonan of Lansing Airport. Admission will be $1.10. The club is within walking distance of the Homewood station of the Illinois Central electric lines.

The Cook county open golf tournament will begin today at the Garfield Park Golf club, Hamlin avenue and Monroe street, and continue through Friday.

Also on today's schedule are the regular meetings of the west and north side leagues, the former meeting at Riverside, while the south siders will gather at Midlothian. The west district pairings bring together Westward-Ho and Elmhurst, Glen Oak and Medinah, Riverside and Brookwood, and Hinsdale and Oak Park, while the south side schedule matches Flossmoor and South Shore, Olympia Fields and Calumet, Midlothian and Idlewild, and Ravisloe and Lincolnshire.

ARMOUR TO HELP LAWSON LITTLE CHANGE STYLE

LONDON, July 8.—(AP)—W. Lawson Little Jr., British and American amateur golf champion plans drastically to alter his game before competing in the United States amateur at Cleveland in September, he said today.

Immediately upon his return to the United States the Californian, disappointed with his showing in the recent British open, plans to place himself in the hands of Tommy Armour, veteran Chicago professional, in an effort to change his back swing to get his clubhead open at the top instead of closed, as at present.

"I realize I am taking a big chance at this stage of my career," said Little, "but I believe Armour can do it. I am willing to sacrifice distance off the tees to get accuracy."

Nash and Matteson Win State P. G. A. Tourney

Tom Nash, 13 year old golfer, and Fred Matteson, Ridge Country club pro, won the Illinois P. G. A. twosome event at Jackson park yesterday. Nash and Matteson had a card of 81—17—64. Horton Smith and Jim Casey were second with 79—14—65. Frank Walsh and Bob Sampson tied with Don Gardner and John Robertson for third place with 67s.

MOON MULLINS—REAR ENFORCEMENTS

Jankowski and Pote Lead Golf Field with 74

Seventeen players qualified at the Evergreen Golf club yesterday to play in the final eliminations Thursday to pick the team to represent Chicago in the National Public Parks tournament at Indianapolis, Ind., July 29 to Aug. 3. Several qualifiers, starting early in the evening, were forced to finish their rounds in the dark.

Harry Pote, Evergreen, and Carl Jankowski, Westgate Valley, carded 39—35—74 and 38—36—74, respectively, to lead the field. Hank Foley, Glendale, and Wally Dixon, Evergreen, posted 75 each to be next in line. Harold Mathisen, Chicago amateur champion, carded 39—37—76, and finished his round after darkness.

The third preliminary round will be decided today at Mid-City, where sixteen will earn places in Thursday's competition. Four players will represent Chicago at Indianapolis.

The qualifiers:

CHRISTY WINS; SHARKEY SAVED BY BELL IN TENTH

Jimmy Christy, Chicago lightweight, hammered out a one sided decision over Jackie Sharkey of Minneapolis last night in the Marigold Gardens' main 10 round bout for his 16th victory in 19 professional starts.

Christy was credited with winning every round, and the bell at the end of the tenth saved Sharkey from a possible knockout. A stiff left hook to the jaw dropped him. He arose at the count of four, but toppled over again without being hit as the bell rang.

Christy did most of the leading and in the 7th round slowed Sharkey down with a barrage of blows to head and body. The Minneapolis veteran fought a defensive fight, opening up only on rare occasions. Christy weighed 132 pounds, Sharkey 132¼. Othe results:

Gene Higgins, 148, and Bob La Monte, 153, both of Chicago, drew in the 6 round semi-final bout. Milt Aron, 142, Dubuque, Ia., beat Joe Richards, 139, Chicago, in 4 rounds, and Ben Irving, 124½, Omaha, Neb., colored boy, stopped Tony Michalels, 124, Chicago, in the second round of another 4. Al Pahl, 138, Minneapolis, and Bob Tinsley, 137½, Chicago, drew in 4 rounds.

Lazer-Patrick Bout Is Postponed to Thursday

Paterson, N. J., July 8.—(AP)—The ten round bout between Roy Lazer, Paterson, and Tom Patrick of California, heavyweights, was postponed from tonight to Thursday because of threatening weather.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

THE TWO HELENS.

MRS. HELEN WILLS MOODY, in the Wimbledon finals, again defeated her fellow townswoman of Berkeley, Cal., Miss Helen Hull Jacobs, in another chapter of what in tennis has become known as "The Warfare of the Helens." It was Mrs. Helen's eleventh triumph in twelve meetings, if our compilation has not omitted any.

Particularly gratifying to Mrs. Helen and heartbreaking to Miss Helen was this last match. It was their first meeting since the 1933 women's finals at Forest Hills, when Mrs. Helen walked off the courts in default with the match score 8-6, 3-6, 3-0 against her, refusing to give her rival satisfaction of a completed match victory.

Mrs. Helen's explanation at the time was that her injured back pained severely, her legs gave out, she felt dizzy, and feared she would fall on the court unless she quit. The incident has been a moot question of tennis etiquet ever since.

Mrs. Helen did not play last year, so Miss Helen became American champion for the third time in succession, after losing in the Wimbledon finals to Dorothy Round, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3. Mrs. Helen played abroad, but curtailed her play in this country, so did not defend her American title in 1932.

The current Wimbledon issue between the two Helens showed them almost on a parity. Once Miss Helen held advantage of 5-2 in the final set, later had match point. Eventually she succumbed to a courageous and powerful rival who thereby annexed her seventh Wimbledon title, generally regarded as the world championship because of so many international entrants.

It the two Helens now are on a parity, or near parity, The Wake wonders what will be the psychological effect of defeat on Miss Helen, who had higher expectation of triumph than at any previous time, even including 1933. Moreover, Mrs. Helen has been away from tennis nearly two years. Her comeback and recovery from physical ailment are remarkable, almost miraculous. Her confidence, seldom lacking in her cool, methodical game, should be enhanced.

Age hardly will become a marked factor in this long drawn out rivalry for a season or two more. Mrs. Moody will be 30 in September, Miss Jacobs 27 in August. Look at Bill Tilden, still playing great tennis at 42.

"A Hint to Gentlemen."

[In the old days there was a saloon under McVicker's theater conducted by J. McGuire. Helper H. P. J. sends an advertisment of the time, hereby appended.]

Gentlemen, I'll tell you in a short little rhyme—
Between every act you've a few minutes' time—
That 'neath this very same roof, but a very short beat,
There's a place wherein a better you can ne'er re-treat.

There's nothing there base, though in a basement it is;
You can drink nothing there that will show on your phiz.
The wines are the best old France can produce,
And the Bourbons and liquors are all the pure juice.

McGuire is your host, whom perhaps you have met;
He gives you his word that your throat you'll ne'er wet
With a liquor impure, drunk over his bar,
As many can testify, both near and far.

WALDORF PICKS OHIO ELEVEN AS BEST NEXT FALL

Lynn Waldorf, new football coach at Northwestern university, speaking before a Junior Association of Commerce luncheon yesterday, predicted that Ohio State would have the most powerful team in the Western conference this fall.

"Watch Ohio State first," he said. "Then watch Minnesota and the University of Illinois. These will be the outstanding teams this fall."

Speaking of his own team, Coach Waldrof revealed that it is to be a heavy, slow machine which will be good on defense but has yet to work out its offensive. He also disclosed that he had "changed the entire system of play."

Students, Waldorf asserted, are becoming more sensible about a defeat in athletic events, due to a tightening of scholastic standards, which has limited the time for athletics, and to higher eligibility requirements, which has cut down the time for practice.

"They realize that a team cannot become the perfect mechanism it would otherwise be with more practice, and they are more philosophic about defeat," he said.

Helen Jacobs Forgets; Looks to 'Next Time'

LONDON, July 8.—(AP)—Disappointed? Well, yes. Discouraged? Emphatically no!

That was Helen Hull Jacobs' frame of mind today as she returned from a week-end of rest in the country following her defeat by Helen Wills Moody in the Wimbledon all-England singles tennis touranment final last Saturday.

"After all," she told the Associated Press, "since Helen and I began playing each other I've come up from 125 points behind to within a point of winning. Maybe I'll win the next time."

It May Be at Forest Hills.

When and where "the next time" will take place is conjectural. It may occur in the U. S. tournament at Forest Hills late next month or not again for another year until the 1936 Wimbledon tournament.

There's nothing to a report in a London daily that she will not play at Wimbledon again.

"I might have felt like that when the match ended last Saturday. It would be foolish to say I was not disappointed after coming so close to winning, but I feel a whole lot better now and I know I'll be back at Wimbledon next year if it is at all possible."

Press Helps Her Forget.

The entire British continental press helped Miss Jacobs forget her defeat quickly. Their match was hailed as the greatest between women players.

"I could not remain discouraged long," she said, "after reading the beautiful things they said about us and getting so many nice messages from America. They seem to make it all worth while."

She's anxious for another contest with Mrs. Moody but definitly stated she would not consider a $25,000 proposition made for a match on the Pacific coast.

"A match like that would not mean anything to me and I'm sure Helen feels the same way about it," she said.

MIDGET DRIVERS RACE TONIGHT ON SOUTH SIDE

Leading midget automobile race drivers in Chicago will compete in the ten events which comprise tonight's program at Shewbridge field, 74th and Morgan streets. The card will include all the special races planned for the last three weeks and postponed by the rain.

Time trial to establish post positions will begin at 7 o'clock. The first and second place winners of the earlier events will meet in the feature race of 20 laps.

Coppola, Russell, Senator Pitchers, Out for Ten Days

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—Henry Coppola, rookie right handed pitcher, and Jack Russell, veteran relief hurler, will be lost to the Washington Senators for the next 10 days. Coppola underwent a tonsil operation yesterday, while Russell suffered a broken bone in his hand several days ago.

New York Boys' Clubs' Fighters Leave for Camp

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Nineteen Catholic Boys' clubs boxers, under the direction of Jack Britton, former welterweight champion of the world who now is boxing instructor for the C. B. C., left today for Camp Hayes for a two weeks' training period before boarding a train for Chicago, July 23, to meet the C. Y. O. champions at Wrigley field, July 31.

The squad, headed by Johnny Clinton and George Coyle, two of the best amateurs in the country, will go through daily workouts at Camp Hayes. Britton, with an eye on settling an old feud with Packy McFarland, coach of the Chicago team, whom he fought four times between 1913 and 1916 without gaining a decision, will send his charges through a strenuous conditioning schedule.

Britton will be assisted by two other old timers during the stay at Camp Hayes, which is situated in the heart of the Shawangunk mountains between Middletown and Port Jarvis.

The two other former ring warriors who are on the C. B. C. boxing staf are Jack McAuliffe and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Arthur Donovan, Frank Erne, and Tom Murphy also are expected to go to Camp Hayes within the next several days to work out with the boys.

Following are the boxers selected to train at Camp Hayes:

118 pounds—Patsy Erra, Jimmy Morro.

135 pounds—Franky Haynes, Tony Rumore.

160 pounds—William Hart, Mike Cattalonge.

Heavyweight—Bill Gould.

GIRLS PLAY DOUBLE-HEADER.

The Dennis A. Horans, Cook county champions, will play Julian T. Fitzgeralds and Narragan-NorClaire Drug Coeds will oppose Commercial Tire Supply Coeds in a Chicago Major Girls Softball league double-header tonight at Mills stadium.

Britain Names Team to Play for Ryder Cup

LONDON, July 8.—(AP)—A team comparatively inexperienced in international competition but captained by the veteran Charley Whitcombe, was selected today to represent Great Britain against the United States in the professional Ryder cup golf matches at Ridgewood, N. J., Sept. 28 and 29.

Eight players were named, with the probability that two more will be added to the roster before the contingent leaves for the United States next month.

Three Others Have Cup Experience.

Besides Whitcombe, who has played on all British teams since the biennial series was officially instituted in 1927, only three other members of the team have experienced previous cup competition.

They are Alfred Perry, winner of the 1935 open title with a record-equaling score; Alf Padgham, the runner-up, and Percy Alliss. Perry and Padgham were on the 1933 team, as was Alliss, who also played in 1929.

The newcomers are Richard Burton, 24 year old Jack Busson, Bill Cox, and Edward W. Jarman. Cox is an assistant professional.

Perry Likely to Meet Parks.

In view of his victory at Muirfield last month, Perry probably will be assigned the No. 1 spot on the team with the prospect that he will meet the American open champion, Sam Parks Jr., in the lead off singles match. Such a pairing would carry wide appeal in view of the fact that before their major triumphs both players were comparative unknowns.

The Ryder cup competition comprises four foursome matches and eight twosomes for a possible 12 points. The cup is in the possession of Great Britain.

STANLEY MEETS KID LEONARD IN 10 ROUND BOUT

Fight Heads Card Tonight at Western Stadium.

The old story of youth against age will be down for decision once more tonight when Gene Stanley, Detroit youngster, and Kid Leonard, veteran East Moline, Ill., fighter, meet in a ten round bout which tops the boxing show at Western stadium, Western and Devon avenues. The match, washed out by rain on three previous occasions, will be at 160 pounds. Inasmuch as neither fighter pays much attention to boxing—relying on slugging to achieve his aim of a knockout conquest—one of the best crowds ever to attend a card at Western stadium is expected. Preliminary matches:

Virgil Bemi vs. Scotty McLean [6], 144. Phil Pernice vs. Bill Reardon [4], 140. Cowboy Logan vs. Ray Raymond [4], 150. T. Moss Brawner vs. Otis Thomas [4], heavyweights.

Clarence Smith, successful young Woodlawn light heavyweight wrestler, yesterday was signed to oppose Nango Singh in the main event of the mat show tomorrow at Marigold Gardens. . . . Babe Kasaboski will oppose Ivan Rasputin, Paul Miller is matched with Al Williams, Walter Roxy will face Lou Talaber, and Duke Ruppenthal is paired with Pete Bartu in supporting encounters.

Joe Louis, 1934 Chicago Golden Gloves light heavyweight king, now a leading contender for James J. Braddock's heavyweight crown, will appear in a four round exhibition match at Toronto, Ont., July 22. He is expected to return immediately after that assignment and start training for his ten round battle against King Levinsky at Comiskey park Aug. 7. Offers to have Levinsky pitch his training camp at Marigold Gardens, Aurora, and Michigan City have been added to the one which came from Round Lake, Ill.

Barney Ross is due back today from Cleveland, O., where he attended the All-Star baseball game. Ross will open workouts this week, his first since he dethroned Jimmy McLarnin as welterweight titleholder May 28, and if his bruised hands stand up a series of matches will be closed, said Sam Pian, co-manager with Art Winch of Barney. Among the offers received for the champion's services are those from Jack Allen of Vancouver, B. C., who wants Barney to box Gordon Wallace; Tony Palazzola of San Francisco, Cal., against Ceferino Garcia; Lou Office of Dayton, O.; Playfair Brown of Toronto, Ont., and Lou Raymond of Pittsburgh, Pa.

OMAHA TO GET IN SUNDAY FOR CLASSIC STAKES

Jocky Wright Will Ride Derby Winner.

Omaha will linger around New York until the end of the week before moving to Arlington Park for his engagement in the Classic stakes, Trainer Jim Fitzsimmons wired yesterday. The winner of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont, and Dwyer stakes will arrive Sunday morning, according to the latest shipping plans. Jocky Wayne Wright, under contract to Joseph E. Widener, has been engaged to ride Omaha in the Classic.

Three crack apprentice riders joined the jocky colony at Arlington Park yesterday. They were M. L. Fallon, who came from Latonia, and Frank Grill and William Ray, who traveled here from Omaha.

Six likely starters in the Classic stakes are among the 10 entrants in the Brier Gate purse, which will feature today's Arlington program. They are Sun Portland, winner of the Illinois Derby; Count Arthur, second in the American Derby; Ald. Coughlin's Advantage and Official; Elmer Dale Shaffer's St. Bernard, and the Odessa farm's Eddie J. The race is over the mile Hertz course.

John Hertz, chairman of the Arlington Park Jocky club executive committee, left yesterday for New York. He will return in time for Thursday's racing.

Black Helen, Col. Edward R. Bradley's candidate for the Classic, worked the distance of a mile and a quarter yesterday morning in 2:10 1-5. She was under strong restraint all the way and the clockers regarded it as an impressive training move.

After Jockies L. Ruder checked in from Latonia and J. Beech arrived from the Omaha track, the Arlington park riding colony numbered 89, according to L. R. Boyle, in charge of the jocky quarters.

Joe Lewis of the night club crowd, was playing 'em from the ground up in the big ring. Bert Davis from the wheat pit passed around the winners of the first four races to a group of traders from the board of trade. R. B. Allen, they call him Moonlight Bobbie because he frequently works his horses in the dead of night, came in from Detroit with eight steeds. Wise Bessa, winner of the Latonia Oaks Saturday, reached the Arlington course yesterday.

Time, :23 3-5, :47 3-5, 1:13. Two dollar mutuels paid: Monroe, $8.60 straight, $4.20 place, $3.80 show; Enella, $3.00 place, $2.60 show; Magenta, $4.40 show. Winner trained by J. Webber. Went to post at 2:49½. At post 5½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same.

MONROE, rank at post where he was placed outside the stalls, was taken to inside after three-eighths, responded well to pressure after reaching last five-sixteenths and, racing to front on inside, won drawing clear. ENELLA followed the early pace under light restraint, raced wide in stretch and held on well, but could not withstand the winner. MAGENTA had good speed but weakened badly in stretch.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. [Daily double, 2d and 3d races, paid $23.80.]

Winner trained by R. McGarvey. Went to post at 3:23½. At post 1 minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

THE FIGHTER, much the best and having fine speed from the start, failed to get through next to rail soon after reaching stretch, was inclined to bear over after coming out in final eighth, but gained steadily and was up in closing strides. MISS PRUDENCE had keen speed, swerved repeatedly in stretch and faltered slightly in late stages. CLOSING TIME was under strong urging throughout, but held on well.

Winner trained by B. B. Williams. Went to post at 3:53. At post ¼ minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

SOME POMP, raced into an easy lead on the inside, swerved out on stretch turn and, continuing with determination while racing wide thereafter, held CLOUD D'OR, but appeared to have little left. CLOUD D'OR, a strong factor from the start, lost ground throughout and stood a hard drive gamely. GLYNSON, on inside much of the race, moved up fast soon after reaching stretch, but faltered in late stages.

Winner trained by J. J. Flanigan. Went to post at 5:22. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily; place driving.

LEE LAFFOON, slow to begin, worked her way up gradually, took command after seven-eighths and won with something left. MERRY GO ROUND, also slow to begin, saved ground when improving her position on the turn, came out in stretch and stood a drive gamely. ROYAL ROVER, on outside early, saved ground the final half mile, was under strong urging after five-eighths and weakened in last three-sixteenths.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

BUSY SPAIN, steadied along for three-quarters, stood severe pressure gamely and, weakening slightly after holding a short lead almost the entire stretch, just lasted. LINE RIDER, well rated and on inside throughout, held on stubbornly. BOLINTY, well up from the start, also held on with fine courage. LEGAL GAMBLE, probably best, bore over repeatedly the entire trip and finished fastest.

Jocky Jones Scores Triple at Empire City

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Jocky Robert Jones, who was so seriously injured at Saratoga a year ago that some thought he might not ride again, scored the first triple of the Empire City meeting today. He was winner with Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Speech and Gleeman, and then topped matters off with a victory on Miss Merriment in the feature race. Miss Merriment lead from start to finish of the Nyack purse and was timed in 1:08 1-5, only two-fifths of a second behind the track record. Jones was narrowly beaten aboard Mrs. Whitney's Hows Chances in the fifth.

Miss Merriment's performance was expected, and no secret was made of it by J. P. Smith who sent her to the post with confidence. She broke on top and led all the way to have a five lengths advantage at the end of the sixth furlong course. The track was fast, with the daughter of High Time flashing along at :23 for the first quarter and :46 3-5 for the half.

The race was notable for the return to competition of George D. Widener's Chicstraw, the son of Chicle and Last Straw, which was in fine form in the fall of 1933, and which was making a comeback with his first effort since October last year.

Some Pomp Scores Again at Arlington

candidates for the $40,000 Lassie stakes to be run Saturday, showed a fine performance in the third race.

She was matched with a band of speedy colts, but outran them for the first five furlongs of the five and a half furlong dash. She was conquered by The Fighter in the final strides and finished second, but her race was a big improvement over the one she turned in last week. If she continues to improve she will be a hard one to catch in the Lassie.

The Fighter, a son of Bull Dog-Bridgeen, was made the medium of one of the biggest plunges of the Arlington season. He ran a smashing race to come from behind in the stretch after Jocky Landolt had him in trouble earlier in the race.

Miss Prudence, which has come up to her Lassie stakes engagement in a nice way, is stylishly bred, being a daughter of the great horse Victorian. Her mother was the speedy mare Miss Jemima. Her showing in this race may send the Dixiana stable entry to the post in the Lassie as the favorite.

ENTRIES CLOSE IN 2 GROUPS TODAY FOR SWIM MEET

Community Recreation to Be in Tribune Event.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

This is the last day for entries to the sectional meets of THE TRIBUNE's 100 yard swimming races which will be held Saturday and Sunday at Sherman park and California park. All letters must be postmarked not later than midnight. Entries for the sectionals next week at Cermak pool and Whealan pool do not close until midnight, July 15.

Among the team entries received yesterday were those from the Community Recreation center, 4719 Madison street, and from the Whiting, Ind., Community Service. Both of these teams will compete at Sherman park Saturday afternoon.

Miss Holmes Again Enters.

Glennette Holmes, a winner in class C in 1933, is entered in class D for girls 17 and 18 years of age. Twenty-three swimmers will represent the Whiting club, which is known as "Sons and Daughters of Neptune." The list of competitors entered by Coach Joseph Brock follows:

Class A, 11 and 12 years of age: Andy Herochick, Halli Roberts, Bud Nyland, James Ritter, Clarence Balog.

Class C, 15 and 16 years of age: Marian Parsanko, Nick Powell, Cecil Wilson, Joe Martich, Dinny Chovan.

Misses Holmes, Vance May Meet.

Miss Holmes is entered in the same age class as Harriet Vance of Peoria, a champion last year in class B. In all probability both will be able to qualify for the finals, since four swimmers in each age class will be awarded gold qualifying medals and advance to the finals on July 28 at the Lincoln park lagoon. There, of course, the title will be decided.

Patsy Heekin and Bernadette Connelly of the Community Recreation center are prominent contenders entered at Sherman park by Coach Andy Kovac. Miss Heekin won the class A championship in 1933 and now is competing in class B. Miss Connelly also is a former champion. She is entered in class D, while her sister Peggy is competing in class A. Others on the team are Bernice McKeown and Lorraine Johnsen, class A; Mickey Russell and Erma Specht, class C. The Community Recreation center relay team, composed of Bernice McKeown, Lorraine Johnsen, Patsy Heekin, and Mickey Russell, has won the Cook county A. A. F. title for the last two years. Miss Heekin has held the 50 yard free style championship for two years, and this year won the senior girls' 100 yard free style race.

Contestants at the Sherman park sectional Saturday should report at the pool, 52d street and Racine avenue, at 1 o'clock to register with the clerks. The races will start at 2 o'clock. The same schedule will be followed on Sunday afternoon at California park, 3901 North California avenue.

MILLS TO MEET SQUARES.

The Mills and Logan Squares will renew their perennial rivalry Sunday when they meet in a double-headed at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue.

CALL CHURCHES' R. O. T. C. FIGHT A MINORITY ACTION

Many Religious Leaders Favor Bogan Plan.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Chicago Church federation's massmeeting of protest tonight against Supt. William J. Bogan's proposal to extend R. O. T. C. training in 11 more Chicago high schools will represent only minority religious groups, or at most about 30 per cent of the religious population of the city, according to church leaders last night.

This meeting, scheduled for the New England Congregational church, 869 North Dearborn street, was called by pacifist leaders of the federation under the chairmanship of the Rev. Theodore C. Hume, pastor of the New England church, in an effort to contradict the city school superintendent's statement that only minority groups of church people would protest his R. O. T. C. plan.

A CHICAGO TRIBUNE editorial also was condemned in the massmeeting call. This editorial stated that "the R. O. T. C. has been subjected to persistent attacks by those who wish to destroy American institutions."

Attorney Upholds Statement.

Supt. Bogan's opinion was affirmed by Attorney Charles O. Loucks, 10 South La Salle street, president of the lay members of the Rock River Methodist Episcopal conference. He said he doubted that the church federation's pacifist leanings would represent 20 per cent of Chicago's Methodist population. The Methodist church is the largest of the 19 denominations affiliated with the federation. According to Walter R. Mee, executive secretary of the federation, the 19 constituent churches in the federation have an aggregate of approximately 300,000 adult members in Chicago. Mr. Loucks expressed resentment against utterances of "entrenched minorities" which purport to speak for an entire church. He added that character and discipline are developed in R. O. T. C. units, although membership should be voluntary and free conscience respected.

The Rev. Richard R. St. John of the Catholic Church Extension society, 360 North Michigan avenue, last night said his church, with 800,000 members in the Chicago public school area, is "very much in favor of the R. O. T. C." The Catholic population of the diocese of Chicago, Father St. John said, is 1,159,390.

Lutherans Express Approval.

Similar approval of R. O. T. C. was voiced by Lutheran leaders who declare that church uncommitted to pacifist notions. The Rev. Adelbert R. Kretzmann of St. Luke's church stated there are about 120,000 members of that faith in Chicago.

As to Episcopal opinion, Archdeacon Frederick G. Deis pointed to numerous and famous military schools and institutes conducted under patronage of bishops of that church. Military training, Archdeacon Deis said, cannot be interpreted as militarism, and that thus far war is a "biological necessity." All fundamentalist and extreme conservative groups, conceded to be growing rapidly in Chicago, none of which are affiliated with the federation, "thoroughly believe in preparedness and do not look for a warless world until the reign of Christ begins," according to the Rev. Howard Fulton of the Belden Avenue Baptist church, 3111 Palmer Square.

BURIAL AT SEA BOWMAN GRAY'S DYING REQUEST

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 8.—[Special.]—In accordance with his dying wish, Bowman Gray, 61, chairman of the board of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, will be buried at sea tonight. His brother, James A. Gray, so announced here.

The information was received here by wireless from the S. S. Kungsholm on which Mr. Gray was cruising off the northwest coast of Norway when he died of a heart attack on Sunday.

Mr. Gray had been connected with the Reynolds company for more than 40 years, starting as a salesman. He had been chairman of the board since 1931 after having been vice president and president. His fortune is believed to be in excess of 12 millions.

Watchman Kills One Safe Burglar, Captures Another

John Dunn, 50 years old, 1212 South Homan avenue, who was shot early yesterday when a private watchman surprised him and a companion drilling into the safe of a grocery at 3635 Roosevelt road, died last night in the Bridewell hospital. Dunn's companion, Irving Cohen, 36 years old, 1300 South Union avenue, was captured by the watchman, Louis Woznick.

Chicagoan Goes on Trial for Slaying a Policeman

Morris, Ill., July 8.—(AP)—Louis Lutz of Chicago was brought to trial today for the murder of Clarence Roseland, a Morris policeman, during a grocery store robbery here Feb. 3. Three persons are under indictment on the charge. Miss Nancy Enochs, Chicago, was granted a separate trial several days ago. Alfred Blut, also of Chicago, today was granted a severance.

Veteran Employe of City Is Found Shot to Death

Pasquale De Barolo, 65 years old, an employe of the city street department for forty years, was found dead of a bullet wound in the heart yesterday in his room at 2119 Wentworth avenue. A revolver lay near the body and police believe he committed suicide.

F. W. Hardwick, 71, Dies; Officer in Masonic Lodge

Louisville, Ky., July 8.—(AP)—Fred W. Hardwick, 71, nationally known in Masonic circles, died at his office here today. A 33d degree mason, he was grand secretary of the Kentucky Grand Lodge of Masons. He was a native of England.

PULITZER ESTATE TOPS 5 MILLION, ACCOUNT SHOWS

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—An accounting filed by trustees in Surrogates' court today shows that the value of the residuary estate of Joseph Pulitzer, newspaper publisher, was $5,585,729.39 as of May 31, 1934. Of the total, real estate accounted for $3,355,000, the balance being in stocks, bonds, and mortgages.

The largest item among the assets is the Pulitzer building at 53-63 Park Row, with a value of $2,000,000. A parcel of real estate at 1-7 North William street is held at $775,000, one at 11 Park row has a value of $300,000, and the remaining parcel at 1-2 Park Row is held at $280,000.

The estate holds New York City bonds of various maturities, of par value totaling $314,000, and $100,000 par value New York Central and Hudson River railroad bonds.

P. A. Montgomery Estate Closed After 15 Years

Judge P. L. Persons of the Lake county court in Waukegan, yesterday closed the estate of Palmer A. Montgomery, Highland Park real estate man, who died Oct. 19, 1920. The judge approved an appraiser's report which set the present value of the estate at $39,495. A recent search of the records by Assistant Attorney General Charles Noll of Illinois, revealed that the estate, which had shrank from $160,000, had never been finally settled.

LIBRARY TO PUT $277,000 IN NEW BOOKS THIS YEAR

First Big Outlay Since '31 Is Authorized.

The Chicago public library will spend $277,000 for new books during the remainder of 1935, according to information presented last night at the annual meeting of the library board. This outlay, the first major expenditure for this purpose since May, 1931, is expected to provide 150,000 volumes.

The board of directors adopted a budget of $1,305,738 for 1935 and included a new book appropriation of $127,000. To this sum, according to Carl B. Rodin, chief librarian, will be added $150,000 of the $300,000 which the city is to receive from the state in the next two years. A law signed recently by Gov. Horner appropriates $600,000 to aid tax supported public libraries.

Frontal Attack on Deficiency.

"One year from now," Mr. Rodin declared last night, "we'll be all set and the Chicago public library shelves again will be well stocked with books and will be comparable to the shelves of 1931."

In the last four years, according to estimates, the failure to purchase new books or to replace worn out volumes has put the library 500,000 titles below its normal inventory. The directors authorized Mr. Rodin to buy at once $50,000 worth of material to be on the shelves by Sept. 1.

"Those purchases," the librarian asserted, "will consist of technical and reference works in preparation for the fall demands of students. Already orders have been placed for $20,000 worth of children's books for the branch libraries.

Pegged Levy Explains Action.

The $1,305,738 library budget for 1935 was made possible when a law recently passed at Springfield set the library pegged levy for 1935, 1936, and 1937 at $1,800,000 with the tax rate increased from six-tenths of a mill to three-quarters of a mill. The library board voted that the sale of 1935 tax anticipation warants be limited to 60 per cent of the levy.

Unanimously the board elected Joseph B. Fleming president of the board and reëlected Andrew J. Kolar vice president.

C. VAN SCHAACK'S $150,000 ESTATE IS LEFT TO FAMILY

The will of Cornelius Van Schaack leaving an estate estimated at $150,000 to his widow, Mrs. Sigrid Van Schaack, 614 Linden avenue, Wilmette, and four sons, was filed for probate yesterday with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin. Mr. Van Schaack, vice president of the Van Schaack Mutual corporation, wholesale druggists, died last July 2. He was 72 years old.

Contractor Collapsed and Dies While at Work

John Jacobson, 53 years old, 6255 Harper avenue, one of the partners of the Jacobson Brothers Contracting company, 19 South La Salle street, died yesterday shortly after he had collapsed while supervising the work of a crew of laborers near the Armour and Company plant in the stockyards. Because he bruised his head when he fell, an inquest will be held today at the People's hospital.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Sponsors of the "Voice of the People" broadcasts really have something in those new style sidewalk interviews conducted by Jerry Belcher and Parks Johnson in that Sunday evening spot on NBC lately vacated by Joe Penner. Trouble in the past with most microphone buttonholers has been in the interviewers themselves. Responses were usually slow because the questions were not of sufficient interest to the questioned person to bring a ready answer.

Belcher and Johnson seem to have a flair for popping questions which the man in the street is likely to answer promptly. Not always correctly—but entertainly for listeners, nevertheless. For example, a Vermonter was asked: "What was Woodrow Wilson's real first name?"

"It was Woodrow Wilson," the Green Mountain starter replied.

"It couldn't, by any chance have been Thomas?" he was asked.

"O, no," the Vermonter responded.

"Fine," the interviewer said, going on to another subject. Thus the man was not embarrassed—in fact probably did not realize that he had made an error.

The program has a lot of spontaneous humor. If these two lads can keep it sparkling it is likely to repeat the success of Maj. Bowes' amateur hour which, incidentally, is sponsored by the same interests.

Even while he is convalescing from a major operation at Illinois Central hospital the world is his oyster. Dr. W. S. Kelly, 7857 South Shore drive, using the telephone receiver with a private line linking him to amateur station W9AIO, belonging to his friend, Royal Higgins, 6729 Oglesby avenue, has been talking to friends all over the country and in Mexico. And he means to connect with acquaintances in England before he gets out of the place. His friend's transmitter, two miles away, is remotely controled by W9MDO, Dr. Kelly's station, from his own bed. Dr. Kelly is president of the South Town Amateur association, a group of 165 "hams" meeting regularly at the 124th Field artillery.

Eddy Duchin and his board of judges today will select two singers—a man and a woman, out of the 12 picked in the semi-finals last night to appear with him on his fire chief "national open" program at 8:30 tonight over WMAQ-NBC. Altogether 965 candidates were heard, more than in Washington, Detroit, Buffalo, and Philadelphia together.

Amos 'n' Andy left for New York Sunday to go to work on their portion of the movie, "The Big Broadcast of 1936." They'll do their nightly episodes from Radio City for a week or two. . . . Bess Flynn, who is Mother Moynihan in the W-G-N-MBS sketch, Painted Dreams, has written a new serial titled "We Are Four" to start on W-G-N under commercial sponsorship on Sept. 1. . . . Ruth Etting has postponed her retirement from radio, announced for late this month, until October.

Ralph Ginsburgh, director of the Palmer House ensemble, will start his first vacation in four years on July 18. He will be gone for three weeks. Harry Wool, well known violinist, will pinchplay in the ensemble for Ralph. The broadcasts over W-G-N will continue while Mr. Ginsburgh enjoys the mountain air at Estes Park, Colo.

Mrs. Ethel Sampson of Evanston will describe her unique "Historical Quilt" which she values at more than $10,000, in an interview over WLS at 11 a. m. today. The coverlet is made of neckties and portions of dresses from well known figures in public life. Mrs. Sampson maintains that she has neckties from President Roosevelt, Chief Justice Hughes, Admiral Byrd, and Hugh Johnson. Prominent women who contributed bits of dresses include Mrs. Roosevelt, Mary Pickford, Amelia Earhart and the late Jane Addams.

LOCAL WINNERS of THE TEXACO "RADIO OPEN" SING WITH EDDY DUCHIN

Maybe you know the man! Maybe you know the woman! Tonight, perhaps each will be headed for radio fame and fortune!

The Texaco "Radio Open" offers the opportunity to every singer—man or woman—(professional or non-professional) to be heard on the nation-wide Fire-Chief Program and to win a cash prize. There will be 16 qualifying broadcasts held in various sections of the country. That means that each week for 16 weeks, local singers will be selected. At the end of 16 weeks, the finalists (two men and two women singers) will travel to New York City—all expenses paid—to compete for the Grand Prizes of $1000—one for the men, one for the women. The "runners-up" will receive $500 each.

FUNERAL TODAY IN NEW YORK FOR JOHN H. ROEHMER

Funeral services will be held today in New York where John Henry Roehmer, former Chicago and Milwaukee attorney, died Sunday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Earl French. He was 68 years old, and had been in frail health for several years.

Born in Clarington, O., Mr. Roehmer was graduated from the Yale university law school in 1892. Shortly afterward he married the former Caroline Hamilton Pier of Milwaukee and began his law practice there.

He taught law at the University of Wisconsin and at Yale, and was instrumental in organizing Wisconsin's street railway commission. He also served on that state's railroad rate commission, and was general counsel for H. M. Byllesby & Co., Chicago utility managers.

LILLIAN UDELL, 70, BLIND OWNER OF BOOK SHOP, DIES

Mrs. Lillian Udell, blind operator of a book shop at 817 North Clark street for many years and known as the "godmother" of most of Chicago's "hobohemia" fifteen and twenty years ago, died Sunday in her home at 523 Belden avenue. She was 70 years old.

Mrs. Udell, the widow of a clergyman, was one of the founders of the Dill Pickle club, north side radical group, and started one of Chicago's first little theaters in Turner hall.

She is survived by two daughters, Geraldine, business manager of the magazine Poetry, and Phyllis, leader of a little theater group on the north side. Non-religious funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow.

PIONEER CHICAGO WOMAN ESCAPES PAUPER'S BURIAL

The body of Miss H. Adelle Kitteridge, who died Saturday in the County hospital, will be saved from potter's field, it was learned yesterday, when a Chicago undertaker volunteered to provide a funeral free and see that the body is interred in the family lot at Rosehill cemetery. Miss Kitteridge, who was 80 years old, came to Chicago in 1862 from Lockport, N. Y. All her family and friends have died and there was no one to provide a fitting funeral. A Chicago undertaker, W. W. Fern, 734 West 79th street, read of the case in THE TRIBUNE. He came to Chicago from the same part of New York state some years ago, and while he was not acquainted with Miss Kitteridge, he agreed to oversee her burial.

Chicago Tourists Donate to Jubilee of London Bishop

LONDON, July 8.—(AP)—A party of Chicago tourists was among the hundreds who visited St. Paul's cathedral with gifts of money on the occasion of the recent priesthood jubilee of Dr. Winnington Ingram, bishop of London. The bishop sat in the cathedral for 12 hours, accepting gifts from persons from many parts of the world. More than $90,000 was subscribed. The money will be used to obtain sites for churches and church halls and to provide stipends for clergymen in London suburbs.

RFC APPROVES 119 MILLIONS IN JUNE LOANS

Cotton Financing Takes Bulk of Total.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—Advances to the Commodity Credit corporation, for the regular June financing of loans on cotton totaling $97,157,508, accounted for the bulk of the RFC's $119,399,446 authorizations and commitments last month, the corporation report showed today.

Repayments during the month totaled $55,908,906. The next longest category of loans was for banks and trust companies, which received $11,045,814. Railroads, mortgage loan companies and building and loan associations got only scattering amounts and insurance companies nothing. Loans to industrial and commercial businesses amounted to $4,235,211.

Since organization of the RFC through June 30, authorizations and commitments totaled $9,817,436,294, of which $735,253,685 represented disbursements to other governmental agencies and $1,299,984,757 was for relief.

Relief Cost 300 Millions.

Relief disbursements included $299,984,999 advanced directly to the states, $499,999,758 to the state upon certification of the FERA, and 500,000,000 to the FERA. Of the total disbursements, $5,319,254,994 was expended for activities of the corporation other than advances to governmental agencies and for relief, and of this sum $2,853,280,297, or 54 per cent had been repaid.

Among the disbursements and repayments to June 30 were the following:

Recipients.	Disbursements.	Repayments.
Banks and trust companies	$1,879,018,868	$1,398,615,059
Railroads	486,831,172	72,486,709
Mortgage loan companies	300,721,356	155,170,738
Building and loan associations	115,522,011	105,713,879
Insurance companies	89,519,495	70,288,261

Billion in Stocks and Notes.

Authorizations totaling $1,211,699,350 were made for the purchase of preferred stock, capital notes and debentures of 6,872 banks and trust companies, and 1,081 loans for $28,151,755 were authorized to be secured by preferred stock.

For aid to industry the RFC had authorized 1,046 loans aggregating $62,288,828 of this, $10,344,254 was canceled and $31,695,792 remained available. The corporation had also authorized purchases of participations aggregating $8,299,868 of 181 businesses, of which $1,143,985 was withdrawn or canceled and $4,871,034 remained available.

CATTLE AND HOGS DECLINE AS RUN GAINS SHARPLY

Last week's price improvement on practically all classes of slaughter stock attracted liberal receipts of cattle and hogs to the Chicago yards yesterday. Sheep receipts of 10,000 head were light, but the combined total of 41,000 head of cattle, hogs, and sheep was the largest for Monday since June 17. This compared with a total of 39,887 for the first day of last week and 32,152 two weeks ago.

Buyers used numbers as a leverage to force prices lower on the rank and file of the fed steer crop, and the bulk were weak to 25 cents off. Quality was not as good as usual and a liberal share of the steer offerings were short feds. The top of $12.35 was paid for two loads of 1,241 to 1,250 pound steers.

Hog prices opened weak to 10 cents lower, but buying orders were increased, which resulted in a steady to strong market on the bulk of the day's hog receipts, while some of the heavier butchers weighing 250 pounds and upward showed gains of 5 to 10 cents on the late rounds. The top of $12.10, including the tax of $2.25, was 5 cents under last Friday. The average of $11.25 was unchanged.

Lambs advanced 25 to 40 cents. The top was highest since June 10 at $9.65.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The following figures on hog prices include $2.25 per hundredweight collected by the federal government as processing tax. There is no processing tax on cattle or sheep. The price quotations given below are for 100 lbs of live animal:

NOVEMBER BUTTER DROPS; EGGS AND CHEESE ADVANCE

Accumulations of supplies of butter in cold storage throughout the country continues, with the movement of ten leading cities last week being around 50 per cent in excess of the corresponding period last year. It was reported there were 60 cars or 1,150,000 pounds of butter on track at Chicago, an unusually heavy total according to trade comment. Futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange eased yesterday as a result of the bearish statistics, with November closing ¼ cent lower at 24¼ cents per pound.

Egg futures were slightly easier early, but rallied later on a relatively small into storage movement and October closed ⅛ cent higher at 25⅝ cents per dozen. November cheese gained ⅛ cent per pound. Sales of butter aggregated 36 cars, eggs 126 cars and cheese 2 cars. Prices follow:

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, July 8.—The movement of wool in Boston during the past week continued at abotu a steady rate, compared with the previous three weeks, despite the holiday influences that often tend to slacken trade. Prices in most lines were mostly steady to very firm, the ranges in some cases tending slightly stronger.

A moderately active trade in fleece wools comprised sales of fine Ohio Delaine at 30@31c in the grease, strictly combing 56s ⅜ blood Ohio and similar fleeces at 31@32c in the grease and strictly combing 48s, 50s ¼ blood from similar lines at 30@31c. Country graded medium bright fleeces with combing and clothing ⅜ blood and ¼ blood packed together offered in the middle west at 29@30c in the grease, delivered east, were reported to be slower than during the previous week.

A fair call was received on 64s and finer territory wools. The bulk of the sales were on average French combing at 68@70c scoured basis and short French combing at 65@67c. Some bulk clothing wool sold at 63@66c scoured basis, while good to choice French combing moved in limited quantities at 70@72c.

96 STOCKS HIT NEW HIGHS AS LIST ADVANCES

Several Groups Vie for Leadership.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 8.—After moving along in dull fashion for the larger part of the session, the stock market finished with a burst of speed today, the ticker tape at one time falling a few minutes behind operations on the floor. Steels, mail orders, farm implements and high priced industrial issues were in the van on gains ranging from major fractions to more than three points. Ninety-six issues reached new high marks for the year.

Outside interest in the market was not large, but considerable new constructive attention was given to the list. The public, according to observers, was still using caution in placing new commitments, being governed principally by developments in Washington. With the administration having changed its mind about rushing its "soak the rich" tax program through congress without hearings, it is felt the market will now have an opportunity to look into the future. Secretary Morgenthau's remarks on the subject today were held to be far more reassuring than was the President's message a week ago.

Last Hour Trade Active.

For a while today the speculative fraternity appeared inclined to pay more attention to the heat than to the movements in stocks. The market was firm at the start, turned dull and then picked up rapidly in the last hour as the same caliber of demand evidenced in closing sessions last week again made its appearance. Total transactions for the session amounted to 1,309,550 shares.

Markets were encouraged by the recovery in motor sales last month, as shown by General Motors, and by the rebound in the steel industry's operating rate following the holiday decline.

United States Steel resumed its old leadership, gaining more than a point on a large turnover. Steel preferred moved to a new high with a gain of almost 2 points and Acme entered new high territory with an advance of 4⅛ points. Bethlehem, common and preferred, Gulf States, and Youngstown scored substantial advances.

Power Shares Rally.

The power and light shares were irregularly lower until near the close, when they rallied with the rest of the market.

A report was in circulation in the financial district that former grain traders were switching into stocks. This was put forth as an explanation for the sustained interest in the farm implements and mail orders. Both Case and International Harvester were strong spots, the former rising 1¾ points and the latter duplicating the achievement to reach a new high. Deere was also more than a point to the good at the close. Sears Roebuck, Chicago Mail Order, and Montgomery Ward put in a profitable day, being helped along by the rally in wheat.

Further declines in Southern Railway securities held back the carriers section. Norfolk and Western was an exception to the trend, as it moved up almost 3 points for a new high.

STREET PUZZLED BY SOUTHERN RY. SECURITY ACTION

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Recent heavy selling of the securities of the securities of the Southern Railway is somewhat a mystery to the financial community. In spite of the reassuring statement a few days ago from Fairfax Harrison, president of the road, the selling has continued and most of the securities have established new low levels for the year.

Reports were current today that a large part of the selling had been done by an estate for tax purposes, but this could not be confirmed. The fact that the RFC is tightening up on its loans to railroads and a belief that the Southern will have difficulty in meeting charges in the near future unless there is a considerable pickup in its earnings also are reported as factors.

Court Quashes Suits Against Insull Lenders

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Twelve suits and cross-bills growing out of the loan of approximately $17,000,000 to Insull Utility Investments, Inc., in 1931 by five New York banks and the General Electric company were all dismissed with costs to the plaintifs by Judge Julian W. Mack today in the federal court.

The suits, a repercussion of the crash of the Insull interests in Chicago, were started when Celia Kelly, a debenture holder of Insull Utility Investments, now bankrupt, filed an action in equity to recover securities posted as collateral with the New York banks and the General Electric company to secure virtual emergency loans to the Insull corporation.

Contend Loans Illegally Made.

The action arose on behalf of 23,000 investors who put $60,000,000 into debentures of the bankrupt company. They contended that the loans were made illegally because of a clause in the debentures which forbade Samuel Insull from pledging more than half of the portfolio into which they had invested their money.

The lenders named in the suit and the amounts advanced were Central Hanover Bank and Trust company, $5,000,000; Guaranty Trust company, $5,000,000; Irving Trust company, $5,000,000; Commercial National Bank and Trust company, $1,500,000; Bankers' Trust company, $500,000, and General Electric company, $500,000.

As collateral for the loans Insull put up his stock control of Peoples Gas Light and Coke, Commonwealth Edison, and Public Service of Northern Illinois—valued at approximately $30,000,000 in 1931 when pledged. This was the amount which the security holders sought to recover, though the stocks have depreciated in value.

Banks Defend Loan Action.

The defendants argued that the balance sheet was set up with "unusual practices," which made it difficult, if not impossible, to determine when the 50 per cent limitation was reached. It further was set forth that the restrictive clause, even if it had been known to the banks, contained an exception permitting loans for current cash requirements.

An identical suit is pending against five Chicago banks—Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, First National, Central Republic Bank and Trust company, Harris Trust and Savings, and Northern Trust company. These institutions, together with those in the New York action, have been charged with emptying the portfolio of the investment company and obtaining the stocks of the Insull operating companies, which they still hold.

25,000 RETAIL STORES TO SPEND $144,000,000 FOR MODERNIZATION

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—More than 25,000 retail stores throughout the United States will spend a total of $144,000,000 for modernization purposes in 1935, the National Retail Dry Goods association estimated today. The estimate was based on a survey of nearly 400 stores throughout the country, whose annual sales volumes range from less than $50,000 to more than $15,000,000.

Stores reporting in the study expected an average individual expenditure per store of $37,938 in 1935, compared to the 1934 average of $25,484.

Durable goods industries were expected to benefit substantially through purchase of new equipment and supplies. Purchases ranged from air conditioning machinery and lighting fixtures to escalators and new type flooring.

The average expenditure for small stores with less than $75,000 annual volume was listed at $2,384. This average, the report said, was $384 higher than the amount of financing offered under the better housing program.

The $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 volume group showed the highest percentage of stores planning changes and improvements to their plants. Only one volume group, stores with annual sales between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000, showed a decrease in average expenditure as compared with 1934.

UTILITY STOCKS RALLY SHARPLY ON BOARD HERE

Utility shares recovered from their "sales tax fright" of Saturday to stage sharp comebacks yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Trading was brisk, touching 50,000 shares, about twice the average daily volume the last few weeks, and prices generally were strong.

Commonwealth Edison, which dropped 5½ points on Illinois commerce commission ruling that utilities must absorb the 3 per cent sales tax, bounded back 3⅛ to close at 80⅞. Public Service regained ½ point of its 2¾ loss Saturday and closed at 36. Its preferred shares were strong. It was generally believed that some way will be worked out by which the companies will be able to avert assuming the added tax burden. Company officials were silent, waiting detailed plans of the commission.

Central and Southwest Utilities had a 5,700 share turnover, closing up ⅛ to ⅝. Houdaille B volume totaled 4,750 shares, the stock rising ½ to 16⅜. Crane, Butler Brothers, Bendix, and Borg-Warner were others that were active and strong.

Assert PWA Halts Sanitary District Plan

Presentation of a plan by the sanitary district of Chicago for the refinancing of its indebtedness of approximately $142,000,000 is being delayed, it was said in La Salle street yesterday, by the Public Works administration at Washington, which holds $42,000,000 of the district's bonds. As the largest single holder of the district's obligations the assent of the PWA to the plan is essential before it is presented to the public.

Representatives of the PWA were in Chicago recently looking over the financial and physical position of the sanitary district with a view to determining whether assent should be given to the plan. It is reported that although the PWA agents were cool toward the program when they first came to Chicago, they left the city favorably impressed.

Details of Plan Reported.

According to reports in La Salle street, the plan being considered by the sanitary district provides: Past due interest is to be paid with noninterest bearing certificates, callable at any time. These certificates would be secured by all past due taxes levied for the benefit of the sanitary district. The statement issued by the sanitary district for the first quarter of this year placed unpaid interest at $820,160.

All past due principal amount of bonds would be provided for through the issuance of ten year 4 per cent bonds. The first quarter statement gave the bonds in default as $14,935,940.

Bonds maturing in the future would be cared for through a new issue of twenty year bonds, bearing various coupons, for which they would be exchanged. The bonds would be dated July 1, 1935, and would mature July 1, 1955. It is provided the bonds will be callable any time following the first January maturity date of the present bonds.

Plan to Extend Maturity.

For example, a person holding a sanitary district bond maturing in 1938 would be offered a new bond bearing the present rate of interest which would be callable after Jan. 1, 1939. It was stated that the PWA insisted the sanitary district's bonds be made callable at 102½, while the board felt they should be callable at par.

According to the reports the refinancing plan provides that the banks handling it would be allowed one-fourth of 1 per cent to cover their expenses in connection with the deal, one-fourth of 1 per cent for acting as depositary, and one-half of 1 per cent for all bonds they turned in, with the exception of those held by the PWA.

FARM MACHINE DEMAND NEARS NORMAL VOLUME

Industry Is Working at Top Speed.

Farm implement manufacturers are working at top speed to supply the heaviest demand for machinery in five years, representatives of the Farm Equipment institute revealed yesterday.

The industry has approached to within 5 or 10 per cent of its employment average for the years of 1928, 1929, and 1930—regarded as normal. Employment was estimated at 45 to 50 per cent greater than it was a year ago when big gains were registered over the preceding dull years.

60 to 70 Per Cent of Average.

Sales now are estimated to be running between 60 and 70 per cent of the average in the years of 1925-'28—a slightly more prosperous era in the farm equipment business and also used as "normal." Last year sales were running only approximately 45 per cent of the 1925-'28 level.

Hay making and grain harvesting machinery are reported in particularly good demand.

Strikingly better crop prospects over a great portion of the farming areas, replacement of drouth conditions by ample to excessive moisture and better prices for farm products are listed as factors contributing to the upturn in the implement industry.

"Farmers found in many cases that old, worn out machinery would not handle the heavy straw crop resulting from spring rains," said a representative of the institute.

General Conditions Better.

"That gave the machinery end a spurt, but general conditions have been edging around to normal gradually for some time. Last year the industry gained 75 per cent from 1933. Currently the gain over last year is about the same per cent. We would have to go further—to 115 per cent over 1934 to make 1935 fully normal as to production."

Collections by implement concerns were reported as "fine."

"The horse situation is becoming serious," continued an institute representative, "and undoubtedly is a factor. There are not enough horses in the United States at present to supply a team for every farm. Consequently, with feed costs high, many farmers are buying tractors."

Banks Siphon Off Depositors' Savings Into Federal Spending

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's program of selling "baby bonds" in small pieces to investors of modest means has proved to be a dud, despite a carefully laid scheme of publicity and propaganda, which reached its high point when the President himself bought some of them in front of a battery of news cameras.

The public gave these bonds the cold shoulder and only a few millions of them were sold. Instead of buying "baby bonds," American citizens have continued to put their money in banks, as shown by the rising trend of savings deposits.

Despite this increased public patronage in the face of treasury competition, the bankers are not particularly pleased. Many of them, surveying the political situation in Washington, are disturbed by the lack of public response to treasury offerings.

Secretary Morgenthau has just announced that another 500 million dollars is to be borrowed to defray the cost of political spending in excess of government revenues, and it is a foregone conclusion that most of this money will be borrowed from the banks. No other class of investors has been greatly attracted to government bonds for more than a year.

For a long time shrewd observers of the financial and political situation have viewed with alarm the growing concentration of public debt in the banks of the nation. They have felt that the voting public would be much more keenly conscious of the dangers of political extravagance if the rank and file of investors generally were lending the money, as is the case in normal times.

But the public spurns such bonds, leaving the lending to banks, and the banks have little choice in the matter. With the government forcing money rates down to abnormally low levels and ordinary commercial and industrial borrowers declining to employ bank funds, the banks, in sheer desperation, are forced to buy government paper to get some return on their idle funds.

Important, but not generally recognized, is the fact that despite the ordinary citizen's unwillingness to lend his money to the government the bank is doing it for him. The investor, shying at government bonds, puts his money in the bank, and then the bank lends the same money to the government. He has the same stake in federal credit, but he doesn't realize that fact.

John T. Flynn, the widely publicized baiter of big business, in an article published in an eastern newspaper views with alarm the piling up of large amounts of idle funds in the banks, predicting that this pressure on the banks to find employment for this money will make them careless in their eagerness to make loans, and that the government will contribute to their carelessness by pressing them to lend more liberally, relaxing the strictness of examinations.

This may be true, but it is nothing compared with the carelessness that this program of "easy money" is engendering in political spenders, who believe that they have the banks at their mercy and that Secretary Morgenthau can dip into bank deposits and get any amount that they should decide to spend.

In the year ended June 30 the federal deficit was 3 billion 500 million dollars, or more than ten times the amount which the treasury estimates would be produced in a year by President Roosevelt's "share the wealth" tax program.

TREASURY SUES BOSTONIANS AS GOLD HOARDERS

Boston, Mass., July 8.—(AP)—The treasury department today brought an action against Edward Spiegel, a lawyer, and Gerald T. Driscoll, both of Boston, alleging illegal hoarding of gold. Double penalty of $20,000 was sought against Driscoll and $4,000 against the lawyer. The writs were made returnable Sept. 10.

Spiegel said he was upheld by the United States District court when a previous action of similar nature was brought against him in 1933, and that he would take the case to the United States Supreme court if necessary.

STEEL OUTPUT UP 2½ POINTS TO 35.3 PER CENT

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Steel production for the week beginning today is scheduled at 35.3 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute reports. This compares with 32.8 per cent last week, an increase of 2½ points, or 7.6 per cent.

The rate a month ago was 39 per cent of capacity, but for the corresponding week of last year was only 27½ per cent, which represented an increase of 4½ points, or 19½ per cent. The recovery a year ago followed a drop of 21.7 points, or 48½ per cent, in the first week of July.

Steel ingot production during June by companies making up 97.91 per cent of United States mills amounted to 2,230,893 gross tons,

ARMOUR (DEL.) OFFERING 48 MILLION ISSUE

Big U. S. Loan Sold; New York Finances.

One of the largest corporation refunding operations of the year was announced last night by Armour & Co.'s bankers. The group today will offer publicly a new issue of $48,000,000 first mortgage twenty year 4 per cent refunding bonds priced at 98¼. The registration statement covering the issue became effective at midnight.

Simultaneously, the company issued a call for redemption of its outstanding $42,218,000 first mortgage 5½ per cent bonds, series A. These bonds were issued in 1923 and would have matured in 1943. They will be redeemed at 105 at any time until Sept. 7, with accrued interest paid to redemption date.

Use Funds for Redemption.

Part of the proceeds from the new bond issue, which will be dated Aug. 1, 1935, and will mature Aug. 1, 1955, will be used in redeeming the old issue. The balance of the net proceeds will be used for other corporate purposes. Interest on the old bonds will cease to accrue after Sept. 7.

The bankers are receiving in underwriting discounts or commissions $1,440,000, leaving the company $45,720,000 as the net proceeds of the issue. The underwriters proposed to offer part of the bonds to a selling group at the public offering price of 98¼, less a discount of 1¼ points. The selling group will terminate on Aug. 9, or earlier at the discretion of the manager of the group.

Underwriters Divide Issue.

U. S. NOTES OVERSUBSCRIBED

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—With subscriptions totaling more than three times the $500,000,000 asked, Secretary Morgenthau today closed the books on the offering of 1⅝ per cent treasury notes made this week. The money was needed to replenish the general fund for heavy expenditures made in the redemption of consols, called for redemption on July 1, and to supplement ordinary revenue in meeting emergency expenditures.

There have been reports that the treasury will hereafter attempt to keep its general fund at a satisfactory level by the frequent issues of bonds to the highest bidders, or by note issues, in relatively small amounts. While Secretary Morgenthau would not confirm this as a policy today, he said recent sales of 3 per cent bonds in lots of $100,000,000 to the highest bidders had proven successful, with satisfactory premiums obtained.

Hope for Business Pickup.

The treasury is counting heavily on a sharp pickup in revenues and retrenchment in expenditures, as the recovery movement advances and believes, it is understood, that a stage in recovery has been reached where the available general fund balance may be kept somewhat lower than has been the custom.

At present, however, with about $75,000,000 in Panama Canal bonds to be retired on Aug. 1, as well as the steady drain resulting from retirement of the consols as they are turned in, additional financing will probably be necessary soon.

New York Finances Cheaply.

Albany, N. Y., July 8.—[Special.]—State Controler Tremaine announced today he has again broken his own financing record for New York state today by disposing of an issue of $175,000,000 short-term state notes at a net interest rate of 35-100 of 1 per cent. The lowest rate ever obtained previously by Tremaine was ⅜ of 1 per cent. Today's issue will run for ten months, dated July 9, 1935, and maturing May 9, 1936. Interest will be paid at maturity only.

Subscription books were technically open only one hour and the controler announced that the demand exceeded the supply "several times over." The notes, issued only in denominations of $100,000, were allotted to some seventy banks, bond houses and other financial institutions.

The proceeds of the issue will be used for current government needs. Revenues already levied for the fiscal year just begun are pledged by the state constitution for redemption in cash at maturity.

GRAINS RECOVER PORTION OF LAST WEEK'S DECLINE

Wheat, Corn and Rye Gain More than Cent.

Grain prices recovered a portion of the drastic decline incurred last week during yesterday's session of the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat, corn and rye rallied more than a cent a bushel, while oats edged forward fractionally. Volume was well under that of preceding sessions, however, and the market was listless at times.

A sharp rise in the Liverpool wheat market, where prices advanced as much as ˆ cents, coupled with additional reports of black rust infestation in South Dakota, furnished the basis for the upturn. This was augmented by outstanding strength in Minneapolis and Kansas City, where a tight situation exists in the July deliveries. In addition, hedging pressure was much lighter than had been expected in view of favorable weather over the belt and the improvement was attained without material effort.

Best Prices Not Held.

Best prices of the day were not held to the close; in fact, most of the early advance was lost in later trading, only to be recovered just before the session's finish.

Liverpool's rally was attributed to a technical readjustment following the sharp price break last week and was inspired partially by small stocks of wheat aboard ship en route to England. Apprehension over Canada's future marketing policies abated to some extent, although nervousness will continue until definite information is made public.

Closing prices of principal September futures in Chicago follow:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Week ago.
Wheat	$ .80⅞	$ .79¼	$ .87⅝
Corn	.75	.74⅝	.75¾
Oats	.31½	.31	.34⅝
Rye	.43¼	.41⅞	.48⅞

Weather Aids Harvesting.

Weather during the last two days was favorable for winter wheat harvesting and spring wheat growth. Despite this, fears of black rust damage continue, inasmuch as twice in the last thirty years spring wheat has deteriorated after July 10 when prospects were as promising as the current outlook.

Sentiment was a little more friendly to the market, for speculators are loath to assume too pessimistic a view until it is certain the spring wheat crop will not suffer serious reverses. This crop is expected to be large, which will necessitate a return to an export basis, bringing lower prices, unless governmental support should be injected.

Visible Wheat Supplies Increase.

For the first time in several months visible supplies of wheat moved higher last week, the first reflection of the movement of new crop wheat marketward. This movement, however, is about two weeks behind schedule and daily receipts are well below those of last year. Cars received in southwestern markets yesterday totaled 963, against 2,444 last year.

Old crop deliveries of corn showed strength in reflection of a strong cash market, where No. 2 yellow corn is bringing a premium of six cents over futures. The December delivery, however, lost ground on backspreading, which consisted of sales of corn against purchases of wheat.

SUPREME COURT APPEAL TAKEN ON CHAIN STORE TAX

Washington, D. C., July 8.—(AP)—The C. F. Smith company and a number of other Michigan corporations filed in the Supreme court today an appeal to test the validity of Michigan's chain store tax.

They sought to have Harry S. Toy, state attorney general, and Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state, prohibited from collecting the tax imposed in 1933. The tax has been sustained by the Michigan Supreme court.

Those bringing the appeal contended the tax violates the fourteenth amendment to the constitution by depriving them of liberty and property without due process of law. They further declared it paced a burden on interstate commerce and insisted the tax was arbitrary, confiscatory, and unreasonable, was not uniform, and attempted to create an unlawful classification.

The Supreme court has sustained chain store taxes levied by Indiana and a number of other states.

JOHN MacMAHON.

John MacMahon, immigrant boy who started his business career running a freight elevator, yesterday was elected chairman of Reid, Murdoch & Co., pioneer Chicago wholesale grocery house, succeeding the late J. J. Dau.

H. W. Armstrong, president of the company, in announcing MacMahon's election, recalled that the new chairman left his home in Ireland to seek his fortune here. Shortly after his arrival in Chicago, Simon Reid, founder of the grocery house, gave the youthful MacMahon a job running a freight elevator.

Starting on this task in 1882, MacMahon in the four years that followed worked at various warehouse jobs until, in 1886, the growing business added a provision department, of which he was made the head.

From that time on MacMahon's responsibilities increased. He was given charge of other departments, including a coffee section. He has become a national authority on coffee, being one of the few in the business to have visited every country in which it is grown.

In 1903 MacMahon was appointed secretary of the company, in 1916 he was made a director, and in 1920 he became a vice president. In January, 1934, he was elected first vice president.

BANKS SELL U. S. BONDS; TREASURY DEPOSITS LOWER

Federal Finance Chief Cause of Changes.

Heavy sales of government bonds by member banks of the federal reserve system outside New York and Chicago, and a sharp decline in government deposits with banks are shown in the weekly report on the member banks' position, issued last night.

Gross deposits for the nation as a whole slumped 316 million dollars during the week ended last Wednesday. This decline was brought about largely by the federal treasury drawing down 302 millions in cash to aid in redeeming $600,000,000 of government securities.

New York Deposits Drop.

Gross deposits in New York fell 242 millions and the war loan account receded 160 millions. Chicago reported declines of 31 and 11 millions, respectively, while banks in the other 89 cities covered by the report sustained shrinkages of 43 and 126 millions, respectively.

Banks Sell U. S. Bonds.

PROVISION MARKET FIRM; JULY BELLIES AT NEW HIGH

Scattered investment and commission house buying gave the provision market a firm undertone yesterday. Offerings were not large. Trade comment continues bullish with a belief that stocks of lard will show a further decline during the first half of the current month owing to the relatively light production. The close was at the top with net gains of 7½ to 15 cents on lard and 22½ to 27½ cents on bellies. July bellies sold at a new high for the season. Cash lard closed at $13.67, or a premium of 5 cents over the July, while loose was quoted at $13.70, leaf $14, and bellies at $17.15 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

8 FORECLOSURE SUITS BEGUN BY HOLC IN ILLINOIS

Total Is Small Compared with Loans Made.

BY AL CHASE.

Only eight families in Illinois out of a total of 568 throughout the country have felt the flick of the foreclosure whip wielded by the HOLC, according to Charles Collins, acting regional director for Illinois and Wisconsin. In the latter state, Collins said yesterday, two foreclosure suits have started. So far approximately 54,000 HOLC loans have been negotiated in Illinois and 28,000 in Wisconsin, he said.

Collins intimated that although there have been few suits in the two states, more were expected. He said that only those who have frankly intimated that they didn't intend to make payments or who have boasted of their defaults are being haled into court at present.

Leases Restaurant Space.

With the signing of a five year lease yesterday by Al Quodbach for the entire second floor of the building at the northeast corner of 64th street and Cottage Grove avenue, one of Woodlawn's bright spots will come to life Aug. 1 under the name of the New Granada. It has been closed since the first of the year. The new lessee will spend a reported $50,000 in remodeling, redecorating, and air conditioning the property. George S. Lurie of the George S. Lurie company was the only broker.

Originally known as the Cinderella café and night club, opening ten years ago, it later became known as the Music Box. Still later, a new management rechristened it Old Mexico.

Fee Bought for $150,000.

The land under the Cinderella café, 100x125, originally was owned by William Hale Thompson, who leased it to Frank Loeffler for ninety-nine years in 1925. Loeffler later bought the fee for $150,000 and erected the present building at a reported cost of $225,000. Before it was completed he sold it without profit, according to Lurie, to Zoltan Dicker, who is lessor in yesterday's transaction.

The second story dance hall lease calls for a guaranteed minimum rental of $6,000 annually, plus 8 per cent over $6,250 gross receipts, according to Lurie.

In satisfaction of a mortgage, the Metropolitan Life Insurance company yesterday took title through a master's deed to the four story fireproof sixty apartment building at 7427 South Shore drive, from William E. Gehring and others. The indicated price was $407,814.

EUROPE DRAFTS STABILITY PLAN TO OMIT DOLLAR

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9 [Tuesday].—The possibility of an alliance between the sterling and gold bloc currencies which may exclude the dollar was foreshadowed in this morning's Daily Herald. At the moment when renewed attempts to obtain the government's support for a world currency stabilization agreement failed, international bankers privately have taken a step in formulating a joint policy which virtually aims at achieving stabilization without a government agreement.

Under this policy Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, would be pledged to use the publicly owned $1,875,000,000 British exchange equalization fund to support almost any international currency weakness.

That, the Herald asserts, is the only conclusion to be drawn from the terms of the agreement which, it reveals, was reached by central bankers in a private meeting at the international bank at Basel during the week-end.

The agreement is that the governors of all central banks represented will join in common action in the future as soon as the first sign appears of an attack on the currencies of any country concerned. In addition to the Bank of England those represented on the board of the international bank include the central banks of France, Belgium, Switzerland, Holland, Germany, and Italy. The federal reserve system of the United States is not directly concerned.

GENERAL MOTORS SETS HIGHEST RECORD FOR JUNE SALES SINCE '29

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Sales of General Motors cars and trucks in June to customers in the United States, which rose to 137,782 units, were the largest for any June since 1929, when 154,437 units were sold, the company reported today. The June total compares with 109,051 in May, 143,909 in April, 126,691 in March and with 112,847 in June, 1934.

Sales to dealers in the United States also were larger than during any June since 1929, amounting to 150,863 units, compared with 105,159 in May and 118,789 in June, 1934.

Total sales to dealers in the United States and Canada, plus overseas shipments, brought the total sales up to 181,188 units, against 134,597 in May and 146,881 in June, 1934. This also was the best record since June, 1929.

For the first six months of the year, sales to consumers in the United States were 648,835 units, against 494,972 in the like 1934 period, an increase of 153,863 units, or 31.1 per cent.

Sales to dealers in the United States during the six months were 710,224 units, compared with 592,367, an increase of 117,857 units, or 20.1 per cent. Total sales to dealers in the United States and Canada, plus overseas shipments, were 888,560 units against 753,276.

ITALY'S MONEY DROPS IN VALUE ON WAR THREAT

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—The foreign exchange situation was significant if not spectacular today as Italian lire dropped 2½ points and the pound sterling hit a new high for the year as a growing war scare—the Italian adventure—began seeping into the foreign exchange market.

The high of $4.97 in the pound sterling, up a full cent over Saturday's close, was definitly attributed to the Italo-Ethiopian situation by foreign exchange dealers. Uneasiness over the war threats brought offerings of the lira in New York at 8.25½ cents.

Silver, which broke sharply Saturday on oriental selling, but was supported by the United States treasury buying in London, was again lower today in the English market, the price being reduced ¼ penny to 30 7-16 pence a fine ounce, equivalent to 67.98 cents. In New York the price of foreign mined metal for commercial use dropped ½ cent to 68¼ cents an ounce, the lowest level since April 22.

Chinese currencies again broke on the decline in silver prices, Hongkong dollars being 75 points, or ¾ cent lower at 54 cents, and Shanghai dollars off 10 points at 39.40 cents.

The franc opened at 6.62½ cents, off ½ point from Saturday, but improved through the afternoon to close at 6.63½ cents, up ½ point. The rise in the franc again reduced the dollar below parity with the franc, the dollar being worth 99.98 cents today, compared with $1.0005 on Saturday. Based upon the old parity of the franc the dollar's value was 59.05 cents, against 59.09 cents on Saturday.

Bar gold in London today declined 3 pence to 140 shillings 9 pence a fine ounce, equivalent to $34.89.

DEBITS TO BANK DEPOSITS GAIN IN MIDDLE WEST

Debits to individual deposit accounts in the Seventh federal reserve district during the week ended July 3, amounted to $1,280,611,000, an increase of 36.8 per cent over the $935,969,000 reported for the preceding week, the Chicago Federal Reserve bank announced yesterday in a report based upon figures from 41 leading clearing house cities in the district.

Forty cities in the district reported a total of $1,279,091,000, compared with $887,900,000 in the corresponding week of last year, a gain of 44.1 per cent. Among the four leading cities all except Milwaukee showed substantial gains over a year ago, including the July 4 holiday a year ago. Totals for these cities were: Chicago $798,127,000, against $532,954,000; Detroit $208,237,000, against $137,963,000; Milwaukee $64,239,000, against $77,375,000; and Indianapolis $50,464,000, against $24,508,000.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today at 3.29c per lb for spots and 3.35c for futures. No sales were reported, but the tone was easier, and it was believed that shipment sugars were available below the last paid price of 3.35c. Futures were heavy, showing extreme losses of 7 points to 12 points, with the new crop deliveries showing the maximum declines.

Stop orders were uncovered on the break, but after their execution there was a partial rally on covering and rebuying by early sellers with the market closing several points up from the lowest, but 9 points lower in the No. 1. Sales were 18,700 tons in the No. 3 and 300 tons in the No. 1.

Raw sugar prices in cents per pound:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
September	2.32	2.32	2.27	2.30	2.34
December	2.30	2.30	2.23	2.26	2.32
March	2.08	2.08	2.00	2.02	2.11
May	2.09	2.09	2.04	2.06	2.16

Refined was unchanged, but the tone was unsettled by the break in futures. Prices were listed at 5.25c per lb by refiners, with second hands available at 5.00c.

[Note—The above raw sugar prices exclude processing tax of ½c per lb. Refined sugar prices include the tax.]

AAA WILL BOOST FARM BOUNTY TO RESTRICT WHEAT

1935 Total Is Expected to Exceed 115 Millions.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—Coöperating wheat producers will receive about $14,000,000 more under the 1935 AAA program than in 1934, getting at least 33 cents per bushel benefit payments as compared with 29 cents under the 1934 contracts, Administrator Davis announced today.

Payments are expected to total more than $115,000,000 under the rate of minimum 1935 adjustment returns established by Secretary Wallace today.

No change will be made for the present in the 30 cents per bushel processing tax, the higher payments being made possible by accumulated reserves from the tax on wheat produced by farmers not under allotment contracts. Likewise, there will be no deficit in the wheat budget.

Pay in Two Installments.

The 1935 payments will be made in two installments, the first of 20 cents being payable when the compliance contracts are approved here, and the final payments, of at least 13 cents, when local administrative costs have been determined. The second payment might be increased above 13 cents if the difference between the average farm price and the wheat parity is more than 33 cents.

Increased benefit payments for 1935 will have no connection with the new wheat contracts being prepared for 1936-1939, inclusive. The allotment of each producer is 54 per cent of his average production in the base period of the curtailment program.

Western States' Allotments.

Amounts expected to be allotted to various western states, as compiled by the AAA, are as follows:

California, $1,457,000; Colorado, $2,552,000; Idaho, $4,023,000; Illinois, $3,074000; Indiana $2,276,000; Iowa, $574,000; Kansas, $28,154,000; Kentucky, $308,000; Michigan, $1,004,000; Minnesota, $2,224,000; Missouri, $1,931,000; Montana, $7,494,000; Nebraska, $7,154,000; North Dakota, $17,053,000; Ohio, $1,999,000; Oklahoma, $7,938,000; Oregon, $3,082,000; South Dakota, $5,995,000; Texas, $6,250,000; Washington, $6,644,000; Wisconsin, $48,000.

WALGREEN JUNE SALES LARGEST IN FOUR YEARS

Sales of the Walgreen company in June were the largest for that month since 1931, it was announced yesterday. The total was $4,667,303, compared with $4,457,291 a year ago, an increase of $210,012 or 4.7 per cent. In June, 1931, the total was $4,800,930.

In May the company had sales of $4,356,431, which were 6.5 per cent above a year ago. For the first six months of the year trade volume reached $28,297,780, compared with $26,026,549 in the corresponding period of last year, a gain of $2,271,231 or 8.7 per cent.

The Spiegel, May, Stern Company, Inc., reported yesterday that its sales for June totaled $2,356,849, compared with $1,437,007 for June, 1934, an increase of 64.01 per cent. The company said this was the largest June business in its history. It was also the twenty-ninth consecutive month in which sales showed an increase over the same month of the preceding year. Sales for the first six months of this year totaled $14,993,373, compared with $11,034,192 for the same period in 1934, an increase of 35.88 per cent.

REORGANIZATION OF UNION LEAGUE CLUB APPROVED

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday issued an order giving tentative approval to the proposed reorganization of the Union League club of Chicago under section 77B of the bankruptcy law. The court approved claims filed and set July 15 for the hearing of objections, if any, and for final confirmation of the plan.

Minor creditors are to be paid in full and adjustments made with the two principal creditors, the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee, which has a promissory note for $2,350,000 backed by a first mortgage, and holders of $1,457,500 in gold notes backed by a second mortgage.

Rail Equipment Makers Take New Hope in Flow of Orders

New York, July 8.—[Special.]—Several actual orders in recent weeks and numerous inquiries for Rolling stock, which are expected soon to develop into orders, have injected new life into the railroad equipment industry for the first time in more than two years.

The plight of the industry, which suffered perhaps more than any other field in the last five years, is nearing an end, in the opinion of analysts who have prepared used freight car figures and ancient locomotive data to stress the need of railroads for replacements. The rattle and bang of old freight trains singing their requiem across the nation is sweet music to the ears of the railroad equipment makers.

Cheaper to Replace Cars.

Rail equipment men declare it is generally cheaper to replace than to repair cars more than twenty years old, and nearly half of America's freight cars were shiny new shortly after the world war ended. But the engines pulling these freight cars also are old. Nearly 70 per cent of them are more than fifteen years old.

It is pointed out in the trade that if the roads bought an average of 100,000 cars a year for the next several years they would be adding only a conservative number of needed cars to the supply on hand. An increase in car loadings to 700,000 a week from the present level of some 600,000 cars would, in the opinion of analysts, produce a shortage and create an immediate demand for new building.

Road Orders 500 Box Cars.

The largest single piece of freight car business pending is a 500 box car order of the Norfolk and Southern railroad, and the Chesapeake and Ohio recently ordered 5,125 cars of various kinds. That order, however, was nearly four times greater than all other freight car orders from all other roads this year.

On the locomotive side of the question, a recent survey disclosed there were 1,046 strictly modern engines in service as of Oct. 1, 1933, which is only about 2 per cent of the total owned by the carriers. But there are now, it is estimated, some 4,500 engines that could be called into service on short notice out of a reserve stock numbering 14,562.

3 CLOSED BANKS REPAY $303,805 TO DEPOSITORS

Three closed banks, one national and two state, yesterday were making further repayments to depositors. Disbursements aggregated $303,805.

The Jefferson Park National, for which R. C. Sullivan is receiver, began handing out $168,000 to 10,000 depositors. This amounts to 20 per cent of deposit liability at closing and raises total repayments to 40 per cent.

The Boulevard State Savings paid out $74,966, or 10 per cent. Money was obtained through a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The bank now has returned 20 per cent in addition to wiping out $166,919 preferred claims and $205,998 in old bills.

The Forest Park Trust and Savings sent out checks for $60,809, or 5 per cent, lifting restitution so far to 15 per cent. Money was obtained in ordinary liquidation of assets. Also wiped out are $117,682 preferred claims and $147,553 in bills. William L. O'Connell is receiver for both of the state banks.

COTTON ACREAGE SHOWS INCREASE OVER YEAR AGO

Washington, D. C., July 8.—[Special.]—A total of 29,166,000 acres of cotton, or 4.6 per cent in excess of 1934, have been planted for this year's crop, according to estimates by the department of agriculture. Last year's planted area was 27,883,000 acres, of which 27,515,000 acres were picked.

The total area under cultivation this year is the smallest since 1905 with the exception of last year.

SEEK RFC LOAN TO PAY OFF DEBT OF ROSENBAUM

Court O. K.'s Application for $2,300,000 Advance

Directors of Chicago Elevator Properties, Inc., were authorized yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Holly to make application for a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan not to exceed $2,300,000 with which to pay off the indebtedness of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation which is undergoing reorganization under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy law.

Orville J. Taylor, counsel for E. F. Rosebaum, who with other members of the family control the corporation and its elevator properties, told the court there was a fair chance to obtain the loans.

Palmer to Negotiate Loan.

A. Mitchell Palmer, former United States attorney general, has been retained by the Rosenbaums to negotiate the RFC loan. The court order provides that the expense of negotiating the advance be borne by the Rosenbaums, not the Rosenbaum Grain corporation nor the elevator properties.

The court is also to be informed at 2 o'clock this afternoon as to the progress of negotiations as well as progress made in conferences under way between attorneys for the trustees and various bidders for the Rosenbaum properties.

RFC Refuses Information.

At the local offices of the RFC officials were silent about the loan, explaining that applications were never discussed until completed. However, it was learned that application was made shortly after the firm went into receivership, but the matter is still pending.

Home Insurance Company Declares 5 Cents Extra

The Home Insurance company yesterday declared an extra disbursement of 5 cents a share and the regular quarterly of 25 cents, both payable on August 1.

THE growth of this bank is a solid growth, rooted in conservative principles, and vitalized by a forthright determination to be useful and valuable to its customers, large and small, old and new.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 8.—Somewhat lower price levels prevailed in the bond market today, with weakness pronounced in the secondary railroad group. The unsettling factor there was a further sharp break in Southern Railway issues, although the decline was checked during the afternoon and substantial rallies ensued.

In the Southern group the 4s dropped six points to 28 before the rally took hold, the recovery sending prices back to 32. The other more active issues had corresponding drops, the 6½s breaking to 35⅛ and then recovering about four points. The 5s touched a low of 77 before turning up for two points or more.

Other Rail Issues Lower.

Other railroad issues ending 1 to 2 lower included Baltimore and Ohio 6s, Delaware and Hudson 4s, "Katy" 5s, New Haven 6s, and West Shore 4s.

Utility bonds were fractionally lower, and industrials were in scant demand. One of the recent issues, however, that of American Rolling Mills, jumped ahead more than a point. Leading industrials and utilities ending unchanged or within minor fractions of Saturday's finals included Bethlehem Steel 5s, International Paper 5s, U. S. Rubber 5s, American Waterworks 6s, Laclede Gas 5½s, and Tennessee Electric Power 6s.

Federal Bonds Are Firm.

Government bonds were generally firm in quiet trading, there being little noticeable effect of the $500,000,000 treasury offering of 1⅜ per cent short term notes. In the open market bidding for the new notes reached a premium. Several of the outstanding long term issues made new 1935 highs during the day. Most of the treasuries ended 2-32ds to 4-32ds higher and indirect obligations did about as well.

Italian bonds dropped to a new low, featuring an otherwise inconspicuous activity in the foreign list. French government issues also were lower.

Transfers aggregated $10,690,000, par value, compared with $10,180,000 last Friday.

South Shore Towers.

Investors' Guide: We would appreciate information pertaining to the reorganization and other information on the status of South Shore Towers first mortgage bonds.—P. J. F.

Answer: Not having had much information concerning this property we wrote to the protective committee for issues sold by Fidelity Bond and Mortgage company asking for complete data. The following represents the extent of the information furnished us in a letter signed by J. S. McClellan, secretary of the committee:

"The South Shore Towers property is now under jurisdiction of the federal court at Danville, Ill., a petition in bankruptcy having been filed under a new section of the bankruptcy act. The committee filed with the court its suggested plan of reorganization, but the court has not as yet acted upon same."

Inquiries concerning other issues under the control of this committee bring responses not even as amplified as that on South Shore Towers.

The committee's apparent refusal to furnish information concerning the properties under its control makes it impossible to furnish any intelligent opinion concerning its reorganization ability.

C. L. Holman is chairman of the committee, and Lynton T. Block and Warren Browne are the other members.

Three Links Temple Bldg.

Investors' Guide: I shall greatly appreciate any information you can give me about Three Links building on Western avenue. I think the number on Western avenue is 4800.—T. E.

Answer: Three Links temple, 4740 North Western avenue, Chicago, is a six story brick building containing club rooms, stores, shops, offices, a 69 room hotel, lodge halls, banquet hall and kitchen. There are outstanding $335,000 of first mortgage bonds.

Foreclosure proceedings under the first mortgage were instituted on Aug. 4, 1931, and Chester R. Davis was appointed receiver. He is operating the property.

From Aug. 11, 1931, to Nov. 30, 1933, total income was $65,770 and operating expenses were $42,061. Other disbursements, including $1,950 to the receiver and $16,204 general taxes, were $21,992, leaving a cash balance of $1,717. By May 1, 1935, cash balance was $4,048.

On May 5, 1935, unpaid 1929, 1930, 1932, and 1933 taxes totaled $5,738. Taxes due and unpaid on Dec. 31, 1933, totaled $9,306.

The committee has acquired title and all junior interests to the property. Net income is currently being applied toward payment of back taxes.

STANDARD OIL (IND.) WORKERS BUY MORE STOCK

Shares Worth $6,500,000 to Be Distributed.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced yesterday that trustees of the company will soon distribute 255,096 shares of stock, worth about $6,500,000 on the market, to employés of the company as a result of the fourth stock purchasing plan that ended on June 30.

The distribution will bring to a total of 1,634,870 the number of shares which have been issued to employés since the partcipating plans first began operating on April 1, 1921. While many of these shares have since pased out of the employes' hands, it is estimated that 729,500 shares, or approximately 45 per cent, are still held by the employés, who thus own about 5 per cent of the 12,200,000 shares outstanding.

Stock Widely Distributed.

The company's stock is widely distributed among 92,000 stockholders with no individual stockholder owning as much as 4 per cent, the company stated.

The distribution to be made shortly represents savings made by 10,316 participants in the stock purchase plan over a period of three years. The stock has been purchased at an average over the whole period of $24.80 a share [the stock closed yesterday at 25½], toward which the employés contributed two-thirds and the company one-third.

At the annual meeting of stockholders this year a fifth participating plan was authorized, effective July 1, and the campany stated a large number of employés has already enrolled.

Plan Encourages Thrift.

The management and stockholders have become convinced of the merits of the stock purchasing plan as a means of stimulating thrift, stability of interest, and concern for successful operation of the company among the great majority of steady employés, according to a statement by Edward G. Seubert, president of the company.

Records of the company show that the employés who have participated in all plans have a material gain in the principal of their investment, without counting dividends, despite the deflation of stock market values which has taken place in the last few years, it was stated. The company is paying dividends on the stock at the rate of $1 annually.

COTTON CROP REPORT HAS LITTLE EFFECT ON PRICES

Cotton was little affected yesterday by the department of agriculture report showing a total of 29,166,000 acres had been planted for this year's crop, an increase of 4.2 per cent over 1934. The report was about in line with trade expectations.

Favorable weather over the western belt and lower Liverpool cables led to fair selling of futures early which carried prices off around 10 points, but a rally came later in sympathy with the firmness in stocks and grain. Chicago closed 6 points lower to 3 points higher while other markets were 1 to 3 points lower. Europe and the far east were buyers of cotton on scale orders during the early decline. Spot cotton closed unchanged to 5 points lower with New Orleans and New York, 12.30 cents; Houston, 12.05 and Galveston, 12.10 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

Moler Privately Trained Beauty Culture Students

DO NOT

Work on each other for practice, nor depend upon uncertain public.

They do not waste a minute or make a false move.

They are not herded in droves with hit or miss instructions.

BUT DO

Have a Private teacher—individual booths, and live models, paid by us, to work upon.

They earn twice the cost of learning in time saved, living expense and in every way economize.

This profession by joining the Beauty Culture department of the Barbers union comes under the new labor law that guarantees prices and wages.

Sidestep the old job complex by seeing MOLER at once. Open every day and evening.
